TURKEY APPEALS TO WHOLE WORLD; DENOUNCES ITALY

SPECIAL PLEA TO ENGLISH

Invaders Set Up Military Government in Tripoli; Powers Ask for Protection.

OTTOMAN WARSHIP IS SUNK

CONSTANTINOPLE, Oct. 6.—At a meeting today in the mosque of St. Sophia, a telegram of protest against Italy's declaration of war on Turkey was formulated and sent to all the parliaments of the world, peace and arbitration societies, universities, socialist organizations and The Hague Peace tribunal.

The telegram says the occupation of Tripoli is unjustified and that Italy is unworthy of a place among the great powers. It asks whether western civilization has considered the effect upon the eastern mind of Italy's brigandage.

The meeting also sent the following message to King George of England:

"How can a power like England, ruling between eighty and ninety millions of Moslems, regard with complaisant silence the declaration of war against the Ottoman nation and the blockade of Tripoli? Is such policy in harmony with the present and future interests of England?

Italians Rule Tripoli.

ROME, Oct. 6.—An official statement issued today says that the Italians have occupied the town of Tripoli. Rear Admiral Borea d'Olmo has been appointed governor of Tripoli. Further detachments of sailors with guns and mitrailleuses were landed today and the military occupation completed without incident.

The German consul general informed Vice Admiral Faravelli that no foreigners had been injured during the bombardment at Tripoli. Neither had any damage been done to their residences. Six Turkish soldiers and six Jews were killed and five soldiers and one Jew wounded.

Rear Admiral Borea d'Olmo is a distinguished naval officer and son of the master of ceremonies at his majesty's court.

Arab Chiefs Pledge Obedience.

After Italian seamen had been landed and occupied Fort Sultania the chiefs of the Arab tribes adjacent to Tripoli went aboard the Italian flagship and gave their submission. They begged the Italians not to resume the bombardment.

The German consul, as the senior member of the consular corps, also visited the flagship and asked Vice Admiral Faravelli to assume responsibility for the preservation of public order and the protection of foreign residents in Tripoli, which had been abandoned by the Turkish troops.

The cruiser San Marco, which has arrived at Agosta, reports that during the bombardment of Tripoli eight Turkish torpedo boats attempted with "incredible audacity" to attack the Italian battleships. The battleships fired two shells and sank two of the torpedo boats and the others fled. None of the Italian warships was damaged.

Recalls Vessels from Albania.

The intention of the Italian government to avoid further incidents on the Albanian coast was frustrated either because Capt. Biscaretti, in command of a section of the torpedo boat flotilla, had not received the instructions on this point, or, being provoked by the Turks, assumed responsibility for his action.

To avoid repetition of such an occurrence, the admiralty office has recalled all ships cruising along the Albanian coast.

It is understood that Rear Admiral Aubrey is maneuvering in the Aegean sea intending to place warships so that he can capture without destroying the whole Turkish fleet if it emerges from its hiding place.

Tells of Naval Engagement.

An official statement issued this afternoon says:

"Fire was treacherously opened from San Giovanni di Medua, on the Albanian coast, upon an Italian vessel flying a white flag. The Italian destroyer Artigilieri, which was patroling in the vicinity, replied with its guns in order to protect the Italian vessel. The destroyer was slightly damaged and its commander was wounded in the foot. The damage to the enemy is unknown.

A wireless message from some portion of the Red sea says the Italian warship Aretusa attacked and seriously damaged the fortifications of Hodeida, a seaport of Arabia. It also sank a Turkish gunboat. A score of the crew of the latter were killed. Many others plunged into the sea and were rescued by boats from the Aretusa.

Prepare for Army's Start.

The most elaborate preparations are being made for the embarkation of the army which is destined for service in Tripoli and Cyrenaica, but the government is keeping the work as quiet as possible and news of the movement of troops is difficult to obtain. A cannon shot fired yesterday at Messina, Reggio di Calabria and Scilla announced that civil law had come to an end for the time being and now every port in southern Italy and Sicily is under military rule. The lights in the harbor are extinguished at night and gunboats patrol the coasts.

A squadron of torpedo boats has left Naples to clear the way for the transports carrying the troops. The first of the troop ship division, of which there will be four, will leave Naples under command of Gen. Caneva on Oct. 10. Each division will comprise 15,000 men and will include two brigades of infantry, three squadrons of cavalry, and a regiment of artillery.

The pope blessed the Sixty-second regiment today as it passed the vatican on its way to

Lad Hustles Baggage, Coats, and Cab—Gets Fee—Says "It's De High Cost of Living."

Pity the poor bell boy in a downtown hotel! The cost of living is higher and they assert the same cause has led the erstwhile generous traveler to cut down the size of his tips. The climax to the bell hop's tale of woe was reached yesterday.

Arthur Beckett, a bell boy at the Congress hotel, stood gazing into the palm of his hand. It was a smudge of dirt he saw. It was four nice, bright 1 cent pieces. He had just received them as a tip.

"It's de limit," he muttered. "I makes two trips to de top floor for his baggage, two trips to de check room, gets him magazines and newspapers, and carries his baggage to a cab—and he hands me four pennies!"

SHOT FROM TAXI; ASSAILANT FLEES

MAN IN CAR DAYTON RED?

George Bryant, said by the police to be a thief with a record, was shot and probably fatally wounded last night at West Twelfth and South Leavitt streets by a unidentified man. The shooting took place shortly after 10 o'clock and was witnessed by a half dozen persons.

The man who shot Bryant had been riding with his victim in a taxicab. The vehicle had drawn up at the curb near the side entrance to "Eddie" Shannon's saloon.

Bryant alighted and started away. His companion got out of the automobile an instant later and called to him. As Bryant turned bystanders saw a flash of flame from the muzzle of a revolver that had been whipped out by the second man. There were four reports in rapid succession. Bryant rolled to the curb and fell in the street. Then, unassisted, he scrambled to his feet and ran into the alley in the rear of the saloon.

Pistol at Head, Chauffeur Speeds.

The assailant climbed back into the car. He pointed his revolver at the chauffeur and said:

The driver hesitated, opened his mouth closed it, and threw the car "into the high." The machine disappeared in the darkness, going north on Leavitt street.

The police were called. They found Edward Shannon bending over the injured man, who was saying: "Call my brother. Tell Fred about this."

"Who did it?" they asked Bryant. He shut his mouth and moved his head from side to side.

"Dayton Red did it," said Shannon. Bryant shot a warning look at Shannon, but was unheeded.

Shannon Tells of Shooting.

"I stepped out of the saloon," Shannon continued, "when I heard a shot. At the curb was a taxi with shining black body. I looked back toward the alley and saw three flashes of flame in quick succession. I ran down there and saw a stranger holding this man up by the collar. He had a revolver pressed to his side.

"I heard this fellow gasp, 'Well, Red, you got me.' The man called 'Red' looked at him a minute, then let him drop. He walked away. As his revolver menaced me, I didn't try to stop him."

The police put Bryant in an ambulance. As it raced toward the county hospital they again questioned him about the attack.

"If I live I'll get him," said Bryant. "But I won't snitch, even if I die."

The victim was taken to the operating room. It was found he was too badly injured to make the probing for bullets possible. His wounds were dressed. At midnight he lost consciousness.

Hunt for "Dayton Red."

Of the four bullets fired three had found their target. Two pierced Bryant's abdomen. The third lodged in his left arm. The physicians held out small hope for recovery.

There are three theories of the motive for the attack. One is that the two thieves fell out over the division of loot. Both men are suspected of implication in the recent taxicab robberies. A pair of crooks have made it a practice to hire an automobile, drive out to a lonely spot, and rob the chauffeur.

A second theory is that the two men quarreled over a woman to whom they are both said to have been paying attention. The third is that one slugger was out to get another.

William W., or "Dayton Red," Walsh has been known as a burglar, slugger, and thief for fifteen years. His picture is in the rogues' gallery. He has often been mistaken for a crook called "Red Creighton," but the police say Creighton is dead.

SCANDAL IN BERLIN FOLLOWS EXPOSE BY COUNT IN TRIAL

Nobleman Accused of Fraud, Tells of Machinations for Titled Match.

SHOWS UP GIRL'S MOTHER

DISCLOSURES SHOCK SOCIETY

[BY CABLE TO THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE.]

BERLIN, Oct. 6.—Berlin is ringing with the scandal of the trial of Count Gisbert Wolff Metternich, accused of fraud, forgery, and of being a card sharper.

Against the effort to brand him as a social blackleg and schemer Metternich has ruthlessly torn aside curtains of respectability and disclosed a condition of affairs in the society of the German capital which the German press finds startling and reprehensible to the last degree.

The dashing, debonair Metternich, with his claim to a distant connection with the royal house of Hapsburg of Austria, explains his actions of incurring vast debts on an income of $7 a month by flatly declaring that he had every reason to expect that he would contract marriage with an heiress. He names two fair young women of vast fortunes.

Openly he has named Dolly Wertheim, the young and beautiful daughter of Wolff Wertheim, Berlin's richest storekeeper, as having been betrothed to him.

Names Wealthy Spanish Woman.

The other heiress he "had on his string" he asserts to have been a Spanish millionairess, who makes her home in New York City. So far Metternich has withheld her name. She is referred to in the court papers and evidence as "Donna Mercedes."

Metternich's assertion that he was once the accepted suitor of Dolly Wertheim has called forth the bitterest denunciation from the girl's mother, Frau Wertheim. Most contemptuously she has said that the only manner in which the count ever got into the Wertheim household was as a sort of lackey, fetching and carrying for herself and daughter.

Metternich has turned on the frau even more fiercely than she on him, accusing her of being the most outrageous of social climbers, and saying that in the hope of securing this end she was willing to sacrifice her daughter's purity. He quotes the wealthy frau as saying to her daughter:

"I would rather you would become the mistress of a prince than the wife of a nobody."

Letters from Dolly to friends have been brought out in court, and the expert, Prof. Eulenberg, testified on the witness stand:

Father's Mistress Called "Aunt."

In one of these letters Dolly relates that when she was only 6 years old her mother showed her a photograph of one of her father's mistresses and said to her, "Dolly, that's your aunt."

Dolly's mother is quoted as saying that her daughter should not marry until she was 22, but that her mother did not have the least objection to her having extra matrimonial relations between 18 and 22, "but she must not have the same friend for more than two weeks running."

"I was so wholly accepted as Dolly's future husband," Metternich says, "that her mother permitted me access to Dolly's boudoir, and there Dolly and I have often sat on a big divan until 2 and 3 o'clock in the morning. We kissed and cuddled for hours, just as two lovers would."

"Would that be strange if Fraulein Dolly was of an immoral character?" he was asked.

"Perhaps not," replied Metternich, "but under the actual circumstances, my being admitted there with her mother's knowledge, could I suppose I was regarded as anything except the future son-in-law of the family?"

Frau Bitter Toward Daughter.

Metternich has proved that Frau Wertheim, because Dolly did not fall wholly into the idea of sacrificing herself to promote her mother's social ambitions, felt bitter toward the girl. Once, it was shown, the wife of the wealthy storekeeper had publicly excoriated her daughter as being an utterly immoral person, using language that the German newspapers found impossible to print.

"You shan't marry a commoner," the mother, it was testified, once told her daughter, "unless it's a Vanderbilt or a Rothschild," and again she is said to have publicly declared of the Duke of the Abruzzi: "It looks as if he was just about ready to fall into Dolly's arms."

Metternich says her disgusting quarrels with her daughter and the parvenu character of the house became so notorious that the colonels of regiments in Berlin issued strict orders to their subordinate officers to eschew the Wertheim house, its dinners, and its entertainment.

Doughnuts at Gala Dinner!

Frau Wertheim has asserted that during all the time that Metternich says he was her daughter's accepted suitor, Lieutenant von Wetter was really the man that she expected would marry her daughter. The lieutenant, a handsome young officer, was called to the stand and admitted that at one time he was a candidate for Dolly's hand.

"I soon gave up my attentions to her," he testified, "when I learned that in order to marry Dolly I should be obliged to quit my regiment."

The storekeeper's social climbing wife called to the witness stand guests at her New Year's eve dinner, when she asserted that she had sent the count for fresh doughnuts to the Hotel Esplanade, thus to prove that he was regarded merely as a lackey in her household.

FARWELL PRAYER AIMED AT WILSON

"MAY HE SEE HIS ERROR."

This Is Tenor of Plea to Be Made by Federated Organizations and Churches Throughout Chicago.

FARWELL'S PRAYER FOR SECRETARY WILSON

Let us also pray for Secretary Wilson. Let us pray that he will perceive that there can be no real good come of this brewers' convention. Let us pray that the light will descend upon him and he will see that he has been mislead; that these brewers have duped him into lending the high dignity of his office to the promotion of their schemes and nets for the unwary.

If at any time between Oct. 12 and 22 James Wilson, secretary of agriculture to the United States, notes within him a spiritual unrest, a travail of new and holy emotions, he may put the blame on Arthur Burrage Farwell. For during that time, if all plans turn out correctly, every church member in Chicago will be repeating a prayer for "Tama Jim's" spiritual regeneration, and Mr. Farwell is the author of the prayer.

The prayer will be made this morning as a supplement to one made last night. The first prayer breathes a hope that the brewers' convention at the Coliseum, of which Mr. Wilson is honorary president, will be a failure.

The one which more directly affects Mr. Wilson is a plea that he may see the error of his action and withdraw his name from the brewers' convention.

The other prayer with which Mr. Farwell and his total abstinence phalanx will attempt to rout the brewers was issued last night.

Plea Sent to the Churches.

The notice, which was sent to all the federated organizations, follows:

It has been suggested to me that during the sessions of the International Brewers' congress to be held in this city Oct. 12-22, inclusive, it would be appropriate that the Christian and law-abiding and moral people of this city should unite in prayer to Almighty God, that this brewers' congress, instead of helping the brewery business shall help to call the attention of the people all over the city and nation to the terrible effects of intoxicating liquor as a beverage.

Personally I have been interested in a contest in this city for over forty-two years and know the methods of many of the brewers. I know that in the churches, Sunday schools, and prayer meetings it would be wise to implore assistance and direction from Almighty God that out of this congress may come a stronger sentiment for total abstinence and a more determined effort than ever to do what we can to help the children, the young men, the young women, and all people to be total abstainers; to combine against this power which makes for degradation of the ballot and of men and women, and I therefore write a letter like this to many denominations and organizations, suggesting to them the wisdom of this course.

I beg to remain, Yours very truly,
ARTHUR BURRAGE FARWELL, President.

Appeals to Many Organizations.

The plea will find its way tomorrow to every pastor who is a member of the A. M. E. Ministers' council of Chicago and vicinity, Chicago Baptist Ministers' confetence, Chicago Methodist brotherhood, Chicago Swedish Lutheran Ministers' association, Congregational Ministers' union of Chicago and vicinity, Disciples of Christ, Knights of Father Mathew, Methodist Preachers' meeting, Norwegian Lutheran synod, Presbyterian Ministers' association, and Protestant Episcopal church.

Other organizations invited to participate are the Anti-Saloon league of Illinois, the Catholic Total Abstinence union of Illinois, the Chicago Christian Endeavor union, and the Young People's Civic league.

"The law abiding Christian people of Chicago ought to see this 'beer show' as it really is," said Farwell. "The brewers are trying to convince the public they are trying to stamp out low dives with which their names have been connected.

Gets Answer from Knox.

"The 'beer show' is intended to be a great advertisement for the brewing interests. Secretary of Agriculture Wilson will be an attraction. It is terrible that one so close to our president will countenance and even be present at such an exhibition. In answer to a protest Mr. Knox wrote us that the brewers constitute a recognized industry. Secretary Wilson sent us a form letter—showing that he must have replied to many similar protests—telling us that the brewing business is legitimate and that its consumption of crops made necessary his attendance."

ROLLING PIN LANDS HUSBAND.

He Wandered Home Toward Morning and Wife Scores with Domestic Weapon.

When Charles Newson, 4835 Dearborn street, appeared yesterday in Municipal Judge Sabath's court, he was a living demonstration of the things which can be accomplished by an energetic wife, even when she hasn't had the benefit of boxing lessons. Newson's head was done up in many bandages.

"What happened?" inquired Judge Sabath.

"I'm not sure," answered Newson, "but I have my suspidions. I'd been out late and it was a little after 1 o'clock when I got home. I stuck my head inside the door, and something hit me."

"It was a rolling pin," explained a policeman. "He didn't come to until we got him to the hospital. His wife said she'd be down this morning and prefer a charge of non-support.

Newson was discharged.

BLACK RIVER FALLS HALF DESTROYED BY DAM OVERFLOW

Houses and Big Business Blocks Crumple Up and Disappear in Flood.

ONLY TWO BELIEVED DEAD

PROPERTY LOSS MANY MILLIONS

Black River Falls, Wis., Oct. 6.—[Special.]—Half the business section of this city and a portion of the residence section was destroyed this afternoon when the swollen waters of Black river overflowed the dam of the La Crosse Water and Power company at Hatfield in a deluge that did damage estimated at between $2,000,000 and $3,000,000.

Recent heavy rains were responsible for the break in the embankments of the dam when the overflow occurred. Hatfield is only a few miles above Black River Falls, and when the dam went out there was time for merely a brief warning to residents of this city, so that almost none of the movable stock in stores and warehouses was salvaged.

While the flood was not of the sudden, overwhelming sort that obliterated the village of Austin, Pa., at least two lives are thought to have been lost when farmhouses just below the dam were swept away. The 2,000 residents of this city, however, are scattered about different parts of town and a census may disclose that others have perished.

Many Villages in Flood Path.

The swollen river is sweeping remorselessly on toward the dozen or more villages below Black River Falls, including Roaring Creek, Irving, North Bend, Holmen, Lytles, Midway, and Onalaska. Warnings have been sent to the residents of these places that the flood is due to strike them shortly after midnight, and all are working to save what household goods and store stock they can.

At midnight between twenty-five and thirty business houses, comprising all the stores on both sides of two streets, had been destroyed, together with an equal number of houses. At that hour the waters were still rising rapidly and the destruction of the stores on the other two business streets was predicted before morning.

The buildings have been not merely flooded, but destroyed. The water, flowing with resistless current and in tremendous volume, undermined one big building after another. They collapsed and crumpled to pieces, the debris being largely carried away. The Freeman hotel, a substantial three story structure, was the first to go, and one building after another followed.

No Chance to Avert Loss.

No precautions could be taken to stop the wrecking of the town, the residents finding it a difficult problem to secure safety for themselves and their families and more valuable possessions. None of the stocks in the stores was saved and little of the heavier furniture in the houses, the people, although they knew of the overflowing of the Hatfield dam, showing little fear of its effects until the waters burst upon them.

The city is tonight in darkness, the electric light plant being one of the first agencies to be put out of commission.

The disaster followed rains which lasted almost a week. The dams withstood the pressure, but in each case the river washed around the side, taking out a big section of the river bank and coming down upon the country below in almost as great volume as if the dams had been swept away.

The property of the water power company is believed to be not greatly damaged, the breaks on the side relieving the pressure, and tonight it is said that the main dam, which is a concrete structure 100 feet thick at the base and 50 feet at the top, would probably stand all the force which might be directed against it.

Telephone Man a Hero.

Effort was made to send warning to farmers, but the telephone wires were the first to go down and the fate of many settlers, who knew nothing of the flood until it struck their immediate localities, is the cause of some apprehension.

Harry Gettman, foreman of the Wisconsin Telephone company at Tomah, is the "Jack Binns" of the flood. Perched on the top of a sixty foot pole, with a telephone instrument "cut in," with only darkness about him and whirling waters shaking the pole, he sent news tonight to La Crosse and warnings to all points he could reach.

Gettman worked in the flood district all day without food, drink, or rest. Wherever he could reach a country exchange or a farmer's telephone, he shouted a warning. At 8 this evening, after having been on the pole much of the time since 2 o'clock, Gettman was obliged to descend when its unsteadiness gave him warning that it was soon to fall.

Eyewitness Describes Flood.

La Crosse, Wis., Oct. 6.—"Black River Falls is doomed; the town will be wiped off the map," was the comment of W. W. Holcomb, manager of the Standard Oil company here, who returned tonight from the threatened city.

"When I left there at 4 o'clock this afternoon the main portion of the place was under water and the flood was racing down Water street at the rate of apparently twenty miles an hour. Earth disappeared before it as if it were only snow.

"It would seem past belief, but I saw a big stone building on a hill 100 feet from the water, crumble like an eggshell and disappear completely with the hill that supported it. The water had undermined the hill and carried everything away. There

"Shortly afterward a knoll sixty feet long north of it was undermined and then the poorhouse, a great white building three or four stories high, went with it. First a porch dropped off, and then the building suddenly tumbled into a million pieces.

"I saw many buildings disappear before the onrush of the waters, but the demolition of the poorhouse and the other big stone structure, standing away from the water and on hills, impressed me with the tremendous force of the flood.

"When I left there was water on the site of these two buildings deep enough to float a giant steamship.

"When the waters appeared the fire bell called every one to the streets. It was sounded to get the people out to assist the residents on the flats in removing their goods.

"The Hatfield dam is in good condition. At the west end there is a concrete wall and the water started the earth bank there pouring over that corner.

"The creamery was one of the first buildings to go. A big cement warehouse was carried down against the wagon bridge and several attempts were made to dynamite it so that it would not destroy the bridge. These efforts later proved unnecessary, as the warehouse released a span of the bridge, and with three other buildings floated down stream.

Made Way Over Damaged Bridge.

"Warehouses on the east side of Water street were swept away clean. The Jones dry goods store on the corner went all to pieces. Then the building adjoining disappeared.

"Next to go was the Freeman House, the pioneer hostelry of the town.

"In order to get out of the town I had to go around over a railroad bridge, one approach to which had been washed out. There was nothing left in the town to eat and I was mighty glad to get to the junction to catch a train for home.

"I heard of no loss of life, the inhabitants having sufficient time to get out of danger. They simply kept backing away from the water and when I left they were standing on the hills watching the work of destruction going on, unable to do a thing to stay its progress."

Winona Light Cut Off.

Winona, Minn., Oct. 6.—Winona light and power has been furnished by a local steam plant since 5 o'clock this morning, when word came from the Hatfield power plant that power from there would be discontinued on account of flood condition. Communication was had this afternoon with a lineman who climbed a pole near Black River falls. According to what he said the water at Black River falls is the highest ever known there. Three wagon bridges have gone out and it is expected the Northwestern railway bridge will be swept away also.

Local officials conversant with conditions at Hatfield express the belief that merely the earthwork has given away at the Hatfield dam and power plant; that the concrete construction was too solid to be moved. No direct communication has been had with the power plant since early this morning, when the word was sent to start the steam power plant here

Chippewa Falls Has Flood.

Chippewa Falls, Wis., Oct. 6.—Two dams went out in this city today and one at Bloomer and the country is flooded in every direction. The Chippewa river has raised eight feet in the last ten hours and is overflowing its banks. Water is running in the streets as a result of an eighteen hour downpour of rain.

The river is still rising, as the streams in the upper country are all flooded. Two thousand feet of the main track of the Minneapolis, St. Paul and Sault Ste. Marie railway, eight miles west of this city, have been washed out and there is also a bad washout near Colfax. Landslides in cuts in the vicinity of Albertville have covered the tracks with debris.

Trains from the Twin Cities cannot get through, and trains from the south for the Twin Cities have gone to Ladysmith and west over the Canadian Soo tracks.

Two bridges near Stanley and one at Owen went out in the flood.

This is the heaviest deluge experienced along the Chippewa river since June, 1904. The big flouring mill dam on Duncan creek, at Bloomer, went out this morning and the Star mill's dam, here on the same stream, has also broken. The dam of the C. Gotzian & Co. shoe factory, on Duncan creek, this city, washed out today.

Wausau Dam Overflowed.

Wausau, Wis., Nov. 6.—Shortly before noon the pressure of the big volume of water held back by the guardlock in this city, forced out the east gate and released a great volume of water.

Following the heavy rains of last night, the Wisconsin river, which already was at a high stage but had receded yesterday, rose to a height of seven feet above normal today. It is still rising and is causing much apprehension in the city and vicinity. In the city the water has inundated the railroad tracks and extends up to the Northern Milling company's flour mill, a hundred feet from the river bank.

At Fenwood, a village several miles from here, the rains have delayed trains on the Northwestern road and in Schofield, three miles south of here, considerable alarm prevails.

St. Paul Trains Delayed.

St. Paul, Minn., Oct. 6.—More than three inches of rain has fallen in the last twenty-four hours in St. Paul and vicinity, and reports of washouts on railroads are coming from various points.

In St. Paul the tremendous downpour last night caused a money loss estimated at several thousands of dollars.

The total precipitation during the last two weeks has been 7.13 inches.

With the exception of the transcontinental lines, all railroads report being badly crippled by washouts.

Considerable damage was done in southern Minnesota and northern Iowa. Chicago lines had difficulty in getting through last night and today.

The Chicago, St. Paul, Minneapolis and Ohio track was washed out between Mendota and Nichols.

Damage was done to about fifty feet of track, while west of Le Suer thirty feet of track was carried away. Trains were held up six hours until the damage was repaired. High water was reported along the line between St. James and Mankato, Minn.

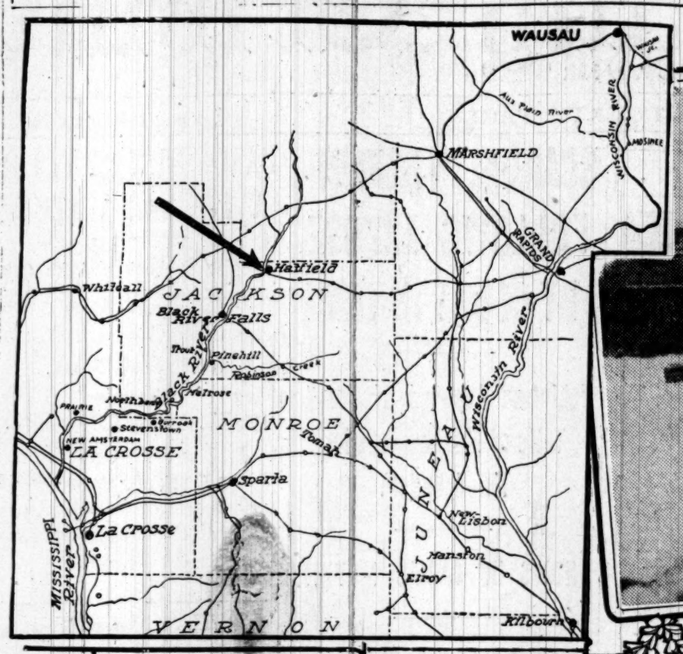

MILL MANAGER KEEPS SILENT.

Austin, Pa., Oct. 6.—Frederick Hamlin, superintendent of the Bayless Pulp and Paper company, which owned the dam which broke last Saturday at the expense of many lives and the practical destruction of Austin village, refused to testify, upon the advice of counsel, at the coroner's inquest this afternoon.

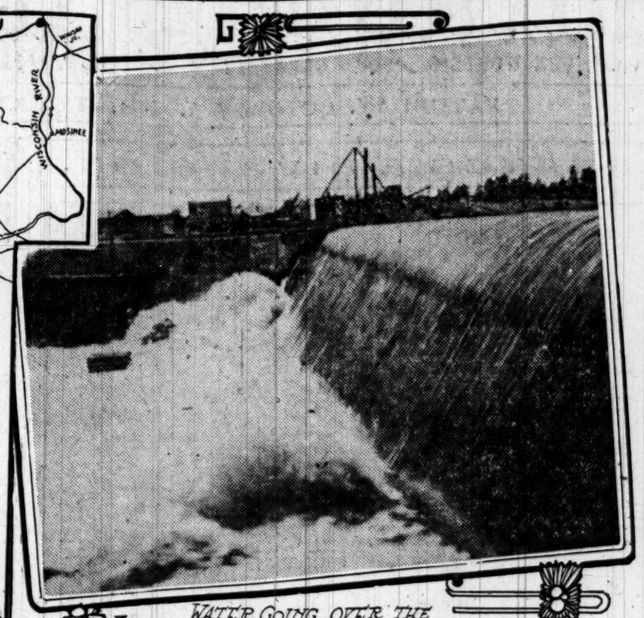

The inquest was based on the deaths of Mrs. Jacob Hess, aged 43, and Herbert Reese, aged 6, whose bodies were among those found in the ruins. The county medical inspector and others testified that the deaths were the result of the breaking of the dam. Several witnesses told of the buckling and breaking of the dam in three places and described the large fissures through which the water escaped.

With the inquest started and further proceedings removed from Austin to Coudersport, the situation has settled down to the routine of removing the debris, burying bodies, receiving and distributing supplies and rehabilitating Austin.

TURKEY APPEALS TO WHOLE WORLD

the railway station. When the troops neared the vatican, a high window opened and a white clad figure was seen with hand uplifted. There was silence for a moment as the crowds realized what was taking place and then the cheering was renewed. When the regiment had passed the pope retired from the window.

Gives Advice to Troops.

Gen. Spingardi, the minister of war, in an address today at Naples to the troops who were about to start for Tripoli, said the naval occupation of that country was Italy's first step. The army must now show that its organization and efficiency equaled that of the navy and that it would bear comparison with the military forces of the world's greatest powers. The minister bade the troops an affectionate farewell and wished them good luck.

There were enthusiastic scenes today as troops departed from Genoa and other cities for Spezzia, from which place two hospital ships have already sailed.

The governor of Eritrea, the Italian colony in Africa bordering on the Red sea, has called out the native reservists. He has mobilized 20,000 men.

The report is confirmed here that a part of the Turkish fleet is not in the Dardanelles, but in the Aegean sea. Its objective point is not known.

The pope today received a message by wireless from Mgr. Rosetti, the apostolic delegate at Tripoli, and sent by permission of the commander, saying:

"For the first time since the Knights of St. John were defeated by the Turks and lost Tripoli in 1551, the cross of Christianity has been raised over this land. This time next to the cross is the flag of Savoy."

The apostolic delegate adds that the bombardment and occupation were conducted with the utmost regard for humanity. During the bombardment he, with the Fanciscan monks and nuns, remained in Tripoli to nurse the wounded, and they prayed to the Almighty to grant victory to the arms of faith and civilization.

The message ends by imploring the apostolic benediction on Tripoli and its new rulers.

Turkish Warship Sunk.

MASSOWA, Eritrea, Africa, Oct. 6.—The fort at Hodeidah, a seaport of Arabia, fired many shots at the Italian mining cruiser Aretusa which was cruising in the Red sea to protest Italian commerce. The shots were without effect. The Aretusa replied with its guns.

Provoked because it had been fired upon, the cruiser later attacked a Turkish gunboat and sank it.

Turkey, having taken the offensive in the Red sea, where Italy had intended to remain on the defensive, the Aretusa and the dispatch boat Staffetta and repair ship Volcano, all of which are armed, and the smaller war craft available, have been ordered to chase the few old gunboats that Turkey has in the Red sea and to attack the ports of Yemen if necessary.

Denies Warning to Powers.

[BY CABLE TO THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE.]

LONDON, Oct. 6.—A news agency dispatch from Rome says the Italians are greatly distressed at the attitude of the British press and all the European governments in regard to the war between Italy and Turkey. They maintain that all foreigners were advised many weeks in advance of Italy's plans, and all the governments acquiesced. It was thought wise to keep the news from the press as long as possible in order to prevent an outbreak in the Balkans.

The Pall Mall Gazette denies by authority the statement in the above dispatch that Great Britain knew of the approaching outbreak of hostilities. It is expected that scarcity of provisions and lack of ammunition will force the Turkish army in Tripoli to surrender, or else they will starve.

It is considered unlikely, however, that the Turks will yield without one general action to save their face. The Italian army is equally anxious to prove its powers in the field and wipe out the stain of Adowa.

SHOCK FROM A TELEPHONE KILLS TWO CLEVELAND MEN.

Two Others Escape Through Brave Work of Man Who Later Is Victim of Current.

Cleveland, O., Oct. 6.—[Special.]—Joseph Slovecek and Joseph Shipka were killed by electrocution tonight when the wires of the Cuyahoga telephone being used by the former became crossed with power wires during an electrical storm.

Slovecek died a hero after rescuing S. Klinger and Louis Sadlock, who ran to the rescue of Shipka and were themselves caught in the grip of the current. Klinger and Sadlock were painfully burned, but were released from the hold of the current by Slovecek in time to escape fatal injuries.

Shipka was caught in the storm while en route home, and stepped into Klinger's place of business to telephone that he would be delayed for dinner.

Assaulted by Saloonkeeper.

COL. J. C. ROBERTS, ORATOR, DIES AS WARD OF COUNTY.

Was Political Speaker and Editor—Stumped for Tilden and William J. Bryan.

Col. J. C. Roberts, who fought for the confederacy and a widely known speaker in free silver campaigns, is dead at the county hospital. He was without relatives in Chicago, but is said to have come in Grand Rapids, Mich.

Col. Roberts was born seventy-three years ago in Georgia, and at the outbreak of the rebellion he helped form the Thirteenth Georgia infantry, of which he became colonel. After the war he resumed his law studies and began practice in Texas.

He was a political speaker in the Blaine-Cleveland campaign, speaking for Tilden in Maine, and in 1896 he was editor of the Bi-Metallist, also making many speeches for William Jennings Bryan.

He practiced law in Grand Rapids, Mich., but for several years had lived in Chicago.

Through financial reverses and infirmities, he had been in straitened circumstances.

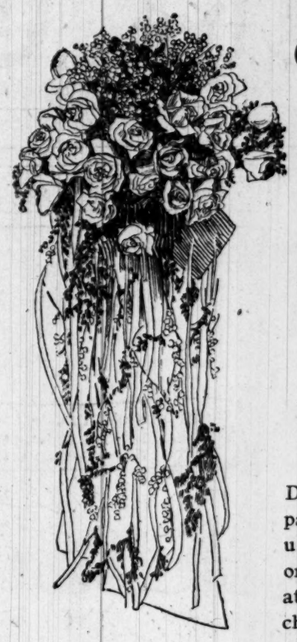

He had been living at 2938 West Madison street. Several days ago he was taken ill with pneumonia.

OBITUARY.

WEBSTER GIVES LINK IN TRAGEDY

After Talk with Slayer Police Find Traces of Wife's Burned Clothes.

ARTIST'S MODEL VICTIM?

Authorities Investigate Hospital Death After Finding Her Card in Doctor's Possession.

In a guarded interview with Sheriff Delaney and Assistant County Attorney Emerson of Ogle county Dr. Harry Elgin Webster is believed to have revealed the last secret which stood between him and conviction for the murder of Bessie Kent Webster—the spot where he had disposed of his victim's clothing.

Shortly after leaving Webster's cell at Oregon on Thursday night the sheriff and prosecutor drove to the home of the prisoner's parents in Dixon. In the ashes of a stove in a barn at the rear of the house they found the flame blued remnants of several hairpins, some corset stays, and a garter buckle.

This discovery, with others made yesterday, completes the state's pieced out panorama of the physician's movements from the moment he arrived in Dixon. The trail over which he led his victim has been supplemented by evidence that he intended to kill her Friday night and hired a buggy for that purpose.

Either through a failure in courage or some unforeseen incident he returned later in the evening with his wife still alive. That night he drank heavily, and in the morning resumed the road which was to end in his wife's death and his own confession to her murder.

Recall Death of Artist Model.

There is something surgically precise in the murderer's movements—a cold blooded clearness of action which Prosecutor Emerson says would have been sufficient in itself to identify the slayer as a trained physician. The total lack of the human element in Dr. Webster's character, so far as shown by circumstances, has strengthened the prosecuting officials in their belief that he knows something more than has been told of the death in the Policlinic hospital last August of Rita Schuchbach, an artist's model.

Suffering from the effects of an illegal operation, she was taken Aug. 28 from the Tremont hotel, 211 North Clark street, to the hospital. She died a few hours later. The name of the physician who performed the original operation never was known.

Her name—or the name she used professionally—was found on a card in the physician's pocket. It was Rita Laroy. When asked to explain these facts yesterday, he said he remembered the woman only as being an especially young and beautiful patient.

Eighth Woman in Case.

"It's absurd," he expostulated, "to say that I killed her. I hardly remember her. She was brought to the hospital in a dying condition and I may have scribbled her name on a card as a sort of memoranda to be transferred later to the hospital records. I often did that."

The discovery of the card, though, was sufficient to cause Sheriff Delaney and Prosecutor Emerson to shift their investigations back to Chicago. They visited the Policlinic hospital; then some of Webster's friends. They are investigating, among other things, the physician's relations with Miss Helen Hensly, another young woman whose name was found on a card in the prisoner's pocket. She is a designer and lives with her father at 3319 Calumet avenue. She was a patient at one time in the hospital. Dr. Webster said he remembered her only slightly. She makes the eighth woman whose name has been drawn into the case by the search made of Dr. Webster's trunk and other personal effects.

Iowa Wife Gets Divorce.

Mrs. Zoe Varney Webster, the only one of the eight whose name the physician ever utters with respect or feeling, severed her last bond to him yesterday by securing an absolute divorce at Cedar Rapids, Ia., her home. The trial lasted only a few minutes. The waiver signed by Dr. Webster in his cell was presented to the court, and the divorce, after a few minor questions from the presiding judge, W. L. Treichler, was granted. The disillusioned bride answered the questions in a faltering whisper. She was plainly on the verge of collapse, and Judge Treichler made the examination as brief as possible.

Believe He Has Told All About Murder.

Surrounded by the officials of the prosecution, his last bit of vanity swept away by the refusal of Zoe Varney to protect him at the sacrifice of herself, the prisoner sits in his cell, awaiting that which he has apparently now come to believe inevitable. He refused again yesterday to see his attorney, Francis J. Calahan, or to collaborate with him in the preparation of a defense.

The state officials, on the other hand, find him ready and willing to talk. It is believed he has told the whole story of Bessie Kent's murder to them, for when questioned on any moot point by outsiders he always says:

"Boys, I have told it all to the officials, and it will be made public at the proper time."

Trace Movements to Day of Tragedy.

From his statements and their own researches, the authorities have evolved a summary of the murderer's movements from his arrival in Dixon. They are convinced Bessie Kent Webster imagined she was on her way to the home of Webster's parents to receive the recognition as his wife for which she had waited so long, and that he played on this belief to get her into the buggy. Friday night the couple hired a horse and buggy from George Clark, a liveryman. The woman was laughing and seemed happy. They returned a few hours later. They left the rig at the barn and went to the Dixon inn.

During the night they were heard quarreling. At 11:45 a. m. Saturday Webster hired a rig from Reed & Burright. Bessie Kent was smiling as the two stepped into the buggy. She went to her death instead of to his parents' home.

PRESSES CUPID'S SUIT TOO HARD

Clothes Presser Uses Pressing Board on Girl's Head and It Costs Him $5.

Albert Yancey, 19 years old, a clothes presser, pressed his suit for the love of Miss Clarice Moore, 3306 Vernon avenue, with too much realism. He went about it with a pressing board, just as if the suit had been real instead of metaphorical. Miss Moore, who received a black eye, had him arrested. He was arraigned yesterday before Judge Newcomer.

"I hit her all right," Yancey admitted. "She had been going with another fellow. But I still love her."

"Well," said Judge Newcomer, "I'm afraid you didn't make much progress in her affections. I'll fine you $5."

TWO BRIDES DANCE 24 HOURS

Gypsies Celebrate Wedding of Head Man's Daughter.

BREAK "GOOD LUCK" BOWL.

Quaint Ceremonies Mark Marriage; Bride Gives Many Costly Presents.

There is feasting today in the autumn camp of the Zudak gypsies on the banks of the canal near Summit, for last Thursday night Luba Mitchell, the 18 year old daughter of Lews Mitchell, the tribal head man, was married to John Emmil, the best horse trader in the tribe. It is even said by many that when Lews Mitchell dies, John Emmil will succeed as head man; and this, too, despite the fact that John is now only 21 years old.

Beside John and Luba when they listened to the reading of the Bey Haterer, the gypsies' creed, were Nina Bimbo, 18 years old, who is a cousin of Luba, and Frank Miguel, 18 years old, who is a nephew of John Emmil. Above their heads, too, was broken the Taarabar Taar, or good luck bowl, and until its pieces shall, of themselves, come together again, Nina and Frank, as well as their relatives, are man and wife, according to the age-old laws of the Egyptians, the Hungarian gypsies, and the 10,000 scattered members of the Zudak tribe. It fell in nine pieces, which is considered a sign of extraordinary good fortune. In praise of this propitious event, the caravan orchestra, composed of five men, burst into music and the wedding dance was on.

Weird Dance Follows Ceremony.

The two newly married couples were whirled by their friends into a dance which lasted intermittently for twenty-four hours. Around the broad wagon circled strip of prairie, where the 125 members of the Bimbo family are camped, the gypsies danced until they could hardly stand. Night became morning; day grew into twilight; a drizzle set in and turned into a half-rain; but the gypsies danced on. It was not until late last night that the newly married ones were allowed to retire to their wedding tents.

This morning the feasting will begin again and will last until night. Then it will end and the brides and bridegrooms will be treated from the moment as old married couples. The couples will be expected to settle down as though they had been married many years. This is the way of the gypsies.

Wedding Shows Tribe's Riches.

It was a grand celebration, a rejoicing such as the Bimbo caravan has not seen since Lews Mitchell took unto himself his third wife. Frank Miguel and Nina Bimbo had been betrothed for a year, but they had waited for the decision of their cousins to make it a double wedding.

Wednesday was the big day of preparation. The entire caravan mobbed the street cars to Summit, buying meat, flour, beer, and other provisions in extravagant quantities. The wedding preparations altogether cost about a thousand dollars, for the Bimbo caravan is one of the riches and does not need to do these things modestly. It is said that the silk scarves and handkerchiefs which Luba gave the wedding guests cost her father more than $600. Each woman who gave the bride a present was provided with one of the handkerchiefs, and each man with a scarf and a red rose.

Bey Haterer Ancient Creed.

The Bey Haterer, from which Lews Mitchell read the ceremony, is said to be 2,000 years old. It is never opened by any one except the head man into whose hands it descends, and only he, according to tradition, is gifted with the power to translate its mysterious script.

It sounded mysterious enough, as the head man, dressed in white, pajama-like robes, read its first to his daughter and son-in-law; then to the other couple.

"What does it mean?" Luba was asked.

"O," she made reply, "it meant he wish us good luck, plenty of money, fine horses, an' "—she blushed—"lots of children."

NORTH SHORE FIGHTS SALOON

LEGAL QUESTION ARISES.

Authorities Hold Site Is Outside Prohibition Territory.

Sheridan Park is in a combative mood because it is proposed to transform the little white station of the Chicago, Milwaukee and St. Paul road, recently the scene of church festivals, into a saloon and café.

Rumors of a plan to open a bar where it would attract Wilson avenue crowds have been current for several weeks, and the persons and organizations which fought the alleged immorality of the bathing beaches and cafés north of Lawrence avenue heard them.

Loopholes Found in Laws.

Yesterday it was disclosed that promoters inquired as to whether the railroad station site was under any prohibition or local option ordinance. The question whether a saloon could be opened at that place had been put to City Collector Edward Cohen. He in turn had presented it to Corporation Counsel Sexton, who had the matter investigated by Assistant Corporation Counsel Hornstein.

Sexton decided that the ordinances do not prohibit the proposed dramshop. The opinion also asserted that a wholesale liquor store could be opened in the Buena Park local option district, because the ordinance creating it only prohibited dramshops.

Residents Prepared to Contest.

This "dry" territory extends from the lake shore to the western boundary of the St. Paul's right of way and the station site is just beyond that line. Beyond it is unimproved territory, which Hornstein said did not come within the meaning of "residential" as used in the ordinances. Neither is there any church or school within a radius that would prevent the establishment of a groggery.

Ald. Charles M. Thomson declared that a roar would be heard if actual steps are taken to open a saloon.

DEATH SHOWS 265 FORGERIES

Late B. C. Slaney, Church Treasurer, Head of System, It Is Said.

FRAUDS COVER FIVE YEARS.

Respected at Time of His Demise; Suit Filed.

Death has exposed forgeries to the amount of $16,000, it is alleged, made by B. C. Slaney, treasurer of St. Margaret's church, while he was employed in the office of the United States Desk and Office Fitting company, 23 East Jackson boulevard. It is declared he perpetrated 265 separate forgeries.

Slaney died in October, 1909. Yesterday a suit for the recovery of $10,287.70 was brought in Judge Rooney's court by the desk company against the National Bank of the Republic. Officials of the desk company say that fully $6,000 has been lost.

Slaney was a nephew of William Lumley, manager of the desk company. He entered the employ of the firm in 1901. At the time his relationship to the manager, his high standing as a church member, and his unquestioned business reputation caused him to be treated with unlimited confidence.

Began in 1904, It Is Said.

His forgeries, it is charged in the suit, began in January, 1904, and continued until the month of his death. Few of them were for large amounts, the most, it is said, being made in the form of small office requisitions.

The desk company charges the bank with carelessness in permitting the forgeries to slip through. The bank makes a counter charge of like character, saying that it was the fault of the desk firm that the forgeries were not discovered shortly after they began.

Dies Honored by All.

Slaney's home was in Windsor Park. He died without a blemish to his reputation as a churchman and honest worker, and the alleged forgeries themselves were concealed as long as possible. The accused man left a widow and two children. Both are still in Chicago.

GAMBLING RIFE; VICE TRUST BOLD

POOLROOMS FLOURISHING.

Investigators Learn Places Have Protection of Politicians; More Charges Due Today.

Hints that the city civil service commission has in its hands graft evidence against a number of high police officers of the city and the combined declaration of the mayor and his commissioners that the city wide investigation of police protected vice will be prosecuted to a finish, has not feazed the big vice syndicate of the city.

Practically every loop gaming place where race betting has been practiced was open yesterday afternoon and the dives in the vice districts indicated that no brakes have been put on since the big inquiry started. Even the downtown stands told the story of the wide open town to any one who bought a newspaper. Racing tips were on sale there and the boys who sold them told customers where they could place their money on the "ponies."

Gambler Explains Lack of Alarm.

An old time gambler furnished the answer to the inquiry as to why the vice syndicate goes on unalarmed.

"You can't scare these old timers with a police investigation," he said. "They've never seen one which was on the square and it will be the surprise of their lives if this one proves to be."

Indications that the gambler's survey of the conditions is correct are seen on every hand. It was learned yesterday that during the week a number of outside games which were shut down for a time following the inception of the inquiry have been reopened. It is known that in several instances at least the protectors of the reopened places are politicians, powerful in their bailiwicks, from whom the police take orders with more alacrity than from the chief.

One big game on the north side which shut down suddenly a few days ago was closed, it has been learned, not by the police but by a powerful politician who got word that the operator was paying protection money to a political rival.

Investigators Make Wide Search.

It is known that a score of the investigators of the civil service commission has been making daily visits to downtown poolrooms, to the worst of levee dives, and to outside gaming rooms during the last week. The prevailing wide open conditions have enabled the investigators to get a line at first hand on everything that is doing. While William W. Wheelock, special counsel for the commission, has not yet given a hint as to the reason for the elaborate scheme of investigating every illegal dive, it was rumored yesterday that this information may form the basis of inefficiency charges against every commanding officer in the districts where such places are found.

The commission today probably will prefer charges against twenty or more sergeants and patrolmen who were on duty at Comiskey park on Labor day where gambling was freely carried on in the streets. It was said by persons in close touch with the commission that Sergt. James O'Neill of the Stanton avenue station and Patrolmen Daniel Creedon, Frank A. Johnson, John H. Riddell, and Edward McDonald would be among those who will have to stand trial on charges of neglect of duty and inefficiency.

After Police "Blind Squad."

Herbert Friedman, attorney for the commission, made a careful canvass of the evidence given in the trials of Lieut. Walsh and Patrolman McClellan and listed the names of every patrolman and sergeant whose station or duties placed them in the vicinity of the open gambling.

Chief McWeeny in the evening named a successor to Lieut. Walsh, discharged, by promoting Sergt. William F. Russell to a lieutenant's rank. He is stationed at the Harrison street station.

Mayor Harrison yesterday issued a new music order affecting the west side, where his orders prohibiting vaudeville in saloons have been openly violated every night since they were issued. The new order is sweeping in character and prohibits all music in saloons in the district between the river and Center avenue, and Lake and Van Buren streets.

"TOWEL LAW" NEEDS CHANGES

MEASURE NOT SPECIFIC?

Find Business Falls Off; Provisions to Be Clearly Defined.

Threats of a court test of the roller towel ordinance may result in the revamping of that city law and its reenactment by the city council in more specific language.

The reduction of the profits of laundries by the elimination of the "common" towel from all public washrooms has led to a search for a means of invalidating the law and it has been found that the ordinance, one of the first of its kind prepared, was drawn in terms too general to be safe from criticism in the courts.

Instead of letting the city wait until a test has been made, thereby risking an invalidation of the law and making certain a temporary injunction preventing its enforcement, it is proposed to remedy its faults at once. Ald. Willis O. Nance, who presented it, has consented to a remodeling for this purpose.

It was reported that the laundry interests intended to contest the law on the ground that it should specify in exact terms the several classes of washrooms in which roller towels could not be used.

GIRL AT PLAY KILLED BY TRUCK.

Jennie Brodisky, 5 Years Old, Beyond Aid of Doctor Who Witnesses Tragedy—Driver Held.

A little girl's sidewalk game that overlapped onto the pavement at West Twelfth and South Sangamon streets yesterday cost the life of Jennie Brodisky, 5 years old. The child was struck and instantly killed by a heavy truck near 917 West Twelfth street. Dr. W. Wightman, 1314 South Troy street, saw the accident, but the girl was beyond aid. The driver of the wagon, Archibald Simpson, 3001 La Salle street, an employé of the Corbidge Express and Van company, was held by the police.

TAFT DENOUNCES CRITICS OF COURT

President, in Idaho, Deeply Indignant at Those Who Attack Tribunals.

FIRM IN TRUST STAND.

Prosecutions to Go On; Business Must Reform Itself, He Says.

Pocatello, Idaho, Oct. 6.—President Taft today bitterly assailed the critics of the United States Supreme court and asserted anew his views as to the relations of government to business.

"I love judges and I love courts," said the president. "They are my ideals on earth that typify what we shall meet afterward in heaven under a just God. And when a court is doing its duty, when it is trying to interpret the law as it ought to be, to have it condemned and attacked and its motive questioned for mere political purposes without any solid ground for attack, goes to my heart and I resent it with deep indignation."

Mr. Taft said he had failed to receive an answer to his challenge to W. J. Bryan and other publicists to cite a single case of combination in restraint of trade which ought to be condemned and which would not be condemned under the Supreme court's interpretation of the anti-trust law in the Standard Oil and tobacco trust cases.

"What distinguishes this country from any other one," said the president, "is the Supreme court we have in Washington, that often has stood between us and errors that might have been committed that would have been greatly injurious to this country, and to turn upon that court and to question its motives and to attack it seems to me to lay the ax at the root of the tree of our civilization."

"Two Great Decisions."

Mr. Taft referred to the Supreme court's disposal of the Standard Oil and Tobacco cases as "two great decisions."

"They were two of the greatest trusts that existed," he said, "and in the working out of the decree the court had to make a remedy. The Standard Oil company presented all the phases of illegality and criminality necessary to establish a monopoly at a time when they did not feel the necessity for concealing their methods or their motives. The tobacco trust represented an organization made in anticipation of the operation of the law, helped out by the advice of cunning lawyers in order to avoid its operation. But against them both the decree of the Supreme court has been pronounced."

Mr. Taft said it was unfortunate the country had gotten into a condition that required a remedy like this. A remedy of any evil, he added, was bound to produce for a time not business disaster, but a difficult situation that might make business slow. But after the solution had been worked out he saw no reason why the country should not go on to greater and greater prosperity.

"To one in my place," said the president, "there is no discretion with reference to the trial of cases brought to the attention of the executive as violations of the law.

Prosecutions Must Go On.

"The prosecutions must go on. It is not for the executive to say he can withhold criminal prosecutions, or any kind of prosecutions, just to help business. Business must reform itself, and these executive duties must be performed under the oath of office that I took and under the oath that those under me took.

"But when that part of the business community that thought the anti-trust statute did not mean anything, understands it is to be enforced, then we may reach a solution that will enable the business community to settle down on a proper and legitimate basis. I hope the time is near at hand when we must get together for prosperity. We must eliminate, so far as we can, this desire to attack wealth earned by thrift and gathered together by foresight, attention and industry, because that is to set up a feeling that bodes no good for the result."

Plans on Public Domain Problem.

Boise, Idaho, Oct. 6.—Former Gov. Brady today promised President Taft to bring thirteen western governors to Washington next winter to help him thrash out the question of the disposition of the public domain.

Mr. Taft spent the day in Idaho, waking up at Pocatello to make his first address and closing the day's work here tonight with a speech to several thousand persons.

Five Trusts Under Fire.

Washington, D. C., Oct. 6.—[Special.]—Attorney General Wickersham is in New York, but it was said by high authority that there are at least five combinations now under investigation and that the department might proceed against any of them within the next few weeks. Among the combines agents of the department are investigating are the rubber, sugar, and coffee trusts. Department officials say the president's speech today was no surprise to them.

UTAH HOLDS TAFT IN FAVOR

LIKE THE WOOL BILL VETO.

Mormon Church Leaders Praise Work of President.

[BY A STAFF CORRESPONDENT.]

Salt Lake Utah, Oct. 6.—[Special.]—Public approbation of President Taft and of the record he has made as chief magistrate of the republic comes pretty close to being unanimous in Utah.

The president put in sixteen hours here yesterday, meeting all classes of the people and addressing him on every conceivable public question, from administrative economy to world peace. That he was immensely popular here before he came is no more evident than that he left behind him a considerable addition to the body of his supporters.

The varied mass of testimony assembled today by THE TRIBUNE correspondent indicates that, almost without exception, the Taft policies meet with the approval of the vast majority of the voters.

Wool Bill Veto Favored.

The president's tariff policies meet with the approval of the thousands of wool growers in Utah and the financial interests dependent on that industry. The state's representatives at Washington were against any reduction of the wool duty, and Mr. Taft's veto of the wool bill during the last session of congress is applauded not only by the sheep growers but by the city business men.

The interest in maintaining a high tariff is exceptionally strong throughout the membership of the Mormon church, which controls a large part of the beet sugar production of the world. To protect the duty on sugar from being pared down is the special care of Senator Smoot, one of the leading officers of the church. He was Senator Aldrich's principal collaborator in the preparation of the present tariff law.

"The day has passed," said Mr. Smoot, "for opponents to charge the president with a lack of backbone, a lack of political independence, or a lack of broad constructive statesmanship."

Women a Factor.

In Utah the women must not be forgotten, for here they vote for president as they do in Wyoming and Colorado. The women seem to be as favorably disposed toward Mr. Taft in this as in their sister states. The indications are that the president has even more suffragist supporters in this state, for the fact is that of the numerous women with whom THE TRIBUNE correspondent talked today, not a single one expressed opposition to the president.

Among the crowds today were to be seen hoary patriarchs who helped to bring forth the Mormon oasis in the desert and who have grown old in the service of the church. The correspondent talked with several of these old men, all of whom were religiously fervent in expressing their regard for the president.

Old Mormon Lauds Taft.

"I am 80 years old and have been paying tithes for fifty-nine years," said M. C. Murdock, a bronze faced man with white hair and beard. "My mother drove a wagon out here from New York in 1847. I was baptized at Nauvoo, Ill. I helped build a mud wall around Salt Lake City and I surveyed the town. I have fought the Indians, but I love peace. I never have been in a court of law. Twice in disputes I chose a judge, the other chose a judge, and those two another. Then the three arbitrated.

"That's why I like President Taft's talk about peace. Let the nations of the earth each concede a little and put an end to war. Mr. Taft will always have the prayers of the church to help him in this great work."

"If you had been in the tabernacle this morning and heard what President Smith said you would have soon seen how popular Mr. Taft is here," said an electrical engineer who adheres to the Mormon faith. "President Smith indorsed everything that Mr. Taft said and he was merely expressing what we all think about the president."

PLAN TO PACK WATERWAY MEET

Lorimer Rally at Joliet Decides to Send Band and 300 Delegates to Chicago Convention.

A Lorimer waterway rally was held in Joliet last evening, and, according to dispatches from there, the Lorimer Lincoln leaguers' scheme to pack the national deep waterway convention in Chicago next week was promoted.

It was planned to send at least 300 Joliet Lorimerites as delegates, together with a brass band. Senator Lorimer and Lyman E. Cooley addressed the Joliet gathering, which was arranged by Thomas H. Riley, chairman of the Joliet deep waterway committee, and one of the legislators who voted for Mr. Lorimer for United States senator.

Legislator Riley was one of the Democrats who explained his Lorimer vote by saying the deep waterway views of Mr. Lorimer so closely paralleled his own that he felt bound to cast his vote for the "blond boss."

QUEER JUMBLE IN STEPHENSON CASE

Ministers of the Gospel Aided Campaign, as Did the Dispensers of Liquor.

WITNESS REMAINS HAZY.

Answers "I Don't Know" to Many Questions About Vast Expenditures.

[BY A STAFF CORRESPONDENT.]

Milwaukee, Wis., Oct. 6.—[Special.]—The committee investigating the election of Isaac Stephenson to the United States senate ran into a queer mixture of testimony today.

Rodney Sackett, executive clerk of the United States senate, who was the office manager of the Stephenson campaign, was the principal witness. He told how he sent ministers of the gospel out to evangelize the state for "Uncle Ike," and on the next train sent out scouts to distribute drinks, cigars, and meals "where they would do the most good."

Sackett said it had been a Wisconsin custom of years to supply bottles of whisky and kegs of beer to various localities just before elections and primaries.

The preachers who labored in the Stephenson vineyard numbered eleven, according to the official expense account. Sackett brought the name of only one gentleman of the cloth into his testimony today. That was the Rev. W. L. Dettman, who is credited with $200 "to enthuse the German Lutherans" for the senator.

There was no intimation that any minister distributed refreshments. The recorded estimate of the amount spent for liquors and cigars is $30,000. Former Gov. George W. Peck, author of "Peck's Bad Boy," listened to the proceedings and smiled interestedly at Senator Stephenson.

Bluntly Demand Proofs.

The investigators bluntly indicated they wanted to know whether the senator was guilty of vote buying. Chairman Heyburn read into the record a charge that L. H. Stevens of Grant county "left a trail wherever he went" in the spending of $728.92 supplied by the Stephenson headquarters. On another occasion the chairman asked Mr. Sackett:

"Do you know whether J. W. Wells of Portage, one of your organizers, spent the $400 given him to buy votes or hire teams?"

Of course, Sackett did not know. Wells will be called to see if he knows. In fact, a number of persons who received money from headquarters which they are alleged to have spent in certain counties have been summoned. By this means it is expected to trace the money to the ultimate recipients.

"What did Dettman do for his pay?" asked the chairman.

"He was organizing, distributing buttons, posters, and printed matter," replied Sackett.

"A former witness said that Dettman was to enthuse the German Lutherans," said the chairman. "What does that mean?"

Explains Presents and Drinks.

The committee head switched to another subject. "The Wisconsin law makes it an offense to give anything of value to a voter preliminary to an election," he said. "The essence of the offense is the giving regardless of the purpose or motive. Do you consider that the giving of a bottle of whisky is a violation of the law?"

"I do," said Sackett.

"Do you think it illegal to buy a voter a drink at the bar?"

"No," responded the witness.

"What is the difference?" asked Senator Pomerene.

"If the liquor was consumed it would be all right, but if the receiver carried it away with him it would be a gift," explained the witness.

"You mean it is illegal to give a bottle of beer to a man who carries it away in his pocket, but if he drinks it on the spot the act is lawful?" remarked Senator Pomerene.

The witness made no reply and Chairman Heyburn remarked: "Don't you know that this act is against the anti-treating law?"

Sackett did not, and all three of the committeemen smiled at the professed ignorance of their executive clerk.

"Do you know whether the electorate of Wisconsin were sober the day after the election?" asked Senator Sutherland.

Sackett didn't know. In fact, on nearly all interesting points, all that Sackett knew was enough to answer. "I don't know."

Votes Cost $3 Apiece.

He did remember, however, that before the campaign started it was estimated that 20,000 voters in the state were friends of Stephenson. The investigators intimated by their questions then that the senator spent $107,000 for the remaining 30,000 votes which he received. By this method of figuring the senator's votes cost him approximately $3 apiece.

It was brought out that $250 was given Levi H. Bancroft, now attorney general of the state, and a like amount to C. C. Wellenshard, candidate for the legislature. Bancroft was also a candidate for the assembly. Both were elected and Bancroft was later made speaker.

"What was the purpose of giving money to candidates for the legislature who later would vote on the election of a senator?" asked the chairman.

"They were to organize their counties for Senator Stephenson," said Sackett. "They were not to use a cent for their own campaigns."

"Were they instructed to say to each voter talked with that they were making an appeal solely for Senator Stephenson?"

"They were told distinctly that the money was to be used exclusively for the cause of the senator."

Sore Throat Wisdom

If every mother could realize the danger that lurks behind every case of sore throat, she wouldn't rest until she had effected a cure every time a child has it.

Your family physician will verify the statement that it is a positive fact that every child with sore throat is in immediate danger of contracting Croup, Quinsy, Tonsilitis or Diphtheria, and is not removed from that danger until the throat is cured. Think of it!

Liniments or outward application of medicines do not and cannot cure the ailment, though they may offer temporary relief. Neither can you cure sore throat with a cough syrup or a cold cure.

To cure, you must get at the seat of the disease, removing the cause. Nothing does that so quickly, safely and surely as TONSILINE. A single dose of TONSILINE taken upon the first appearance of sore throat may save long weeks of sickness, great expense, worry, even death. TONSILINE is the stitch in time.

Use a little sore throat wisdom and buy a bottle of TONSILINE today. You may need it tomorrow.

TONSILINE is the standard sore throat remedy—best known and most effective and most used. Look for the long necked fellow on the bottle when you go to the drug store to get it. 25 cents and 50 cents. Hospital Size $1.00. All Druggists.

DEFER ACTION ON COALITION SLATE

[BY A STAFF CORRESPONDENT.]

Springfield, Ill., Oct. 6.—[Special.]—Not a candidate for governor in the Republican primaries is past first base, according to the best available information following the breaking up of the state fair political game tonight.

Reiteration of the report of last night that a coalition between the responsible ends of the state and federal crowds will be accomplished within three weeks, completes the news of getaway day of the politicians.

The arrangements thus far made do not include the elimination of any candidates now in the running for any office, senatorial or gubernatorial—except known and admitted Lorimer entries—nor has any agreement been reached, tentatively or otherwise, which picks a candidate for governor or names an aspirant for the United States senate.

There has been repeated talk today about an arrangement which would make Gov. Deneen the candidate for United States senator and Col. Frank L. Smith of Dwight the agreed man for governor. This has been the first result of the compromise talk.

All Col. Smith Has to Do.

All Col. Smith has to do, according to the talk, is to obtain the declination of Senator Cullom to attempt to succeed himself, cause the Lorimer end of the legislature to get into line for Gov. Deneen for the senatorship, and otherwise simplify an amalgamation of the factions in Illinois Republican politics, which have existed in substantially their same form since the 1896 Cullom-McKinley presidential delegate contest.

But, according to the well advised, compromise contingencies have not reached the point of individual candidacies and no slate will be made until there is a candidate discussion all through the state following the biggest political week which Illinois has known in many years.

When and where the proposed joint conference will be held is not yet determined, but it is likely to be in Springfield, possibly within two weeks.

All of the candidates for governor were on the ground, while one of the biggest crowds ever on the state fair property was surging through the exhibits. None of them had anything to temper or to withdraw as to his own intentions, and, so far as individual booms are concerned, every one is just as intact as on the day it was sprung.

Two Strings to Their Bows.

John J. Brown of Vandalia came as a belated entry this morning. It has been the gossip from down Vandalia way that Mr. Brown expected to enter the race either for the governorship or for secretary of state. Mr. Brown did not say one way or the other today, but was excessively busy in greeting the politicians from all over the state.

Andrew Russel of Jacksonville, former state treasurer, also sprung into prominence when compromise talk was getting into the air. He has been mentioned as a candidate for the nomination for treasurer, but it was freely circulated by Morgan county friends of Mr. Russel that he is likely to go after the governorship.

Magill Out for Congress.

Lawrence M. Magill, state's attorney of Rock Island county, announced his candidacy for congress to succeed Congressman James McKinney in the Fourteenth district. It is the first formal announcement of an aspirant for the Republican nomination since Congressman McKinney's declaration that he will not attempt to succeed himself in Washington. The withdrawal of Congressman McKinney marks the first break in the old Republican delegation from Illinois. Mr. Magill represented the Rock Island district in the Illinois legislature for two terms.

Senator Lorimer and his intimate circle of advisers started for Joliet this afternoon and most of the downstate leaders packed their bags tonight.

Many of the state administration people are still on the ground and developments from the Deneen end of the proceedings are yet in prospect.

TWO SEEK BENCH AS INDEPENDENTS

Despite Call by Bar. C. E. Zollars and Cairoli Gigliotti Are Only New Entries.

LIST TO CLOSE TONIGHT.

Democrats Plan Big Speaking Tour; Mayor Denies Collection of Campaign Fund.

With the entries closing at midnight tonight it appears that there will be only two independent judicial candidates in the field, in spite of the call issued by the Bar association.

So far as has been learned, Charles E. Zollars, 4462 Clifton avenue, and Cairoli Gigliotti, 1520 East Fifty-sixth place, will be the only men to file petitions with the county clerk today. They both requested yesterday that the usual Saturday noon closing rule be amended for their benefit. Each has the requisite number of signatures, it was asserted.

Both are Democrats. Zollars, a resident of the Twenty-fifth ward, being placed in the Dunne faction column, and Gigliotti of the Seventh ward, not charged against any organization.

Candidates' Views Differ.

Judicial nominees of the two parties hold different views as to the question of the order of the names on the official ballot. There will be an effort to get a Supreme court decision as to whether the nominees for Superior court places named at the April primary are to be listed together with the candidates chosen at the judicial convention two weeks ago, or whether they shall be listed on the ballot in separate groups.

As to Campaign Funds.

The first of a series of luncheons for consultation between the regular Democratic nominees for the bench was held at the Union restaurant at noon and arrangements for starting a speaking tour of the entire city and county before the election of Nov. 7 were taken up.

Rumors that campaign contributions were being sought for the Democratic ticket in an "unethical" way crystallized when Mayor Harrison received an unsigned letter stating that the writer had been approached by two men who used the mayor's name.

"I wish to announce that I know nothing of any such campaign fund and that the use of my name was entirely without warrant," said the mayor. "I believe the men were impostors and that no fund is being collected."

Paul Matthews, chief investigator for the board of election commissioners, gave up his position and was succeeded by James J. Gubbins, an attorney employed in the board rooms. After handing in his resignation Matthews sent to the board a letter withdrawing it, but the commissioners declared his retirement permanent.

Woman Suffrage and Prohibition Linked by W. C. T. U. Head.

ASK STATEWIDE LAW.

Chicagoan at Pontiac Convention Lauds Set's Ability.

Pontiac, Ill., Oct. 6.—[Special.]—Resolutions asking for state wide prohibition—for the statutory prohibitory law or for a constitutional prohibitory amendment — were passed at today's session of the convention of the Woman's Christian Temperance union.

Mrs. Mary E. Kuhl of Chicago president of the organization, was the principal speaker, bringing the suffraget question in connection with the temperance question by saying that the saloon would be abolished as soon as women were allowed to vote. She said:

"Closely linked with the liquor problem is the question of woman's ballot, and the liquor power stands with a dread and awe well nigh overpowering in the fear that woman will be given the ballot, for they too well know that the saloon depends on the home as its great feeder, that the prey is in the home, on which it seems to lay its poisonous fangs.

"Therefore, there is no greater fear for them than that the ballot in the hands of women will drive them out of business. The ballot for women is no longer a question, as every argument has been met. It is only a matter of expediency, which will soon be settled."

CORSET MAKER DROPS HER SUIT.

Mrs. C. A. Hawley Explains Details of Her Action Against Miss Peak, Now Settled.

The breach of contract suit of Mrs. C. A. Hawley against Miss Maud Peak has been settled out of court. The plaintiff declared yesterday at her offices in the Willoughby building that she was afraid the attorneys really hadn't understood the case.

"I don't know that I blame them; they were men," she said. "One of them had an idea that Miss Peak was complaining that I had made a $10 corset out of 60 cents' worth of material. Of course the material for such a corset would have cost four or five times that much. But that had nothing to do with the case.

"I couldn't afford to let Miss Peak learn for nothing a system of designing that other women pay me $100 for learning, and that's how the suit came about. But it's all right now."

STUDENTS STRIKE OVER MUD; RIOT CALL, "WALKOUT" ENDS.

Oak Park Pupils Protest Against Ban on School Paper and Demand Better Lunch.

"Friends, Romans, countrymen, fellow mudslingers and long suffering patrons of the absent treatment lunch club operated by the Oak Park high school, lend me your ears, also your voices. The faculty has refused to allow the publication of Mud. We must have Mud and we object to that variety served with all meals in the lunchroom. To prove our principle we must go on strike. Let every man do his duty."

In a lusty voice Leslie Rowland, managing editor of Mud, the proposed publication recently ordered suppressed by Principal John Calvin Hanna, sounded the foregoing declaration of independence before a crowd of 200 students yesterday morning.

The strikers marched to the Lowell grammar school. The grammar school boys were invited to join the strike. The strikers then visited the Emerson and Hawthorne primary schools in search of recruits.

From there they headed for the Austin High school. Here Principal Rockwell sent in a riot call to the police. James Yates and Clarence "Bad" Terrell were arrested, but later released. The Austin students refused to join the strike.

Many of the recruits then deserted the strikers and went to make peace with Principal Hanna. All finally decided to return to school Monday.

Indict Voliva for Perjury?

A No. 3-22 IDEAL Boiler and 600 ft. of 38-in. AMERICAN Radiators, costing the owner $295, were used to heat this cottage. At this price the goods can be bought of any reputable, competent Fitter. This did not include costs of labor, pipe, valves, freight, etc., which are extra and vary according to climatic and other conditions.

IDEAL Boilers and AMERICAN Radiators are a substantial paying investment, as they will outlast the building. Their purchase will increase the sales and rental value of the building, and they will soon repay their cost in savings of fuel, labor, repairs, and in the lessened house-cleaning and wear on carpets and furnishings. Arnold Bennett's "Hilda Lessways."

BY ELIA W. PEATTIE.

PROBABLY no novel of the season has been awaited with so much expectation by a certain scrupulous group of readers as "HILDA LESSWAYS," the sequel to Arnold Bennett's "Clayhanger." For the time being, Arnold Bennett dominates the literary world. He has strange and new ways of looking at life and of relating his stories. He is at once literal and idealistic; at once simple and complex; at once frank and reticent. Sometimes, as in "Hilda Lessways," which E. P. Dutton & Co. have recently published, he seems to be telling all he knows, but to be inadequately informed concerning his characters. He is actually diffident with Hilda, and it is easy to imagine that if his impelling imagination could materialize her and cause her to stand before him, as the worship of Pygmalion caused Galatea to do, Hilda would abash Arnold Bennett, and that he would tremble, as George Cannon and Edward Clayhanger did, before the mystery of her passionate frown, and the deep feminine reserves of her nature.

There are over 500 pages of "Hilda Lessways," yet Bennett has carried the story only a little way. Another novel is to be written which will at last bring Edward Clayhanger and Hilda Lessways together after they have long followed their lonely roads. The reader is kept in the middle ground, as the artists would put it, and is never permitted to become really neighborly with this strange heroine.

Hilda is a silent soul, and, as has been said before, Mr. Bennett is not acquainted with her. He sees her moving against the mottled background of life, a tense, concentrated creature, wonderful with youth and femininity, and dominated by her instincts. She looks at the world with the eyes of impotent genius—sees the sunset, hears the wind, submits to the kisses of men, beholds death, bears a child with terrible yet beautiful awareness of the splendor and the mystery of life. She is not reflective, but she has a deep intelligence—the sort of intelligence that causes her to appreciate great moments when they arrive.

It is Bennett's peculiar talent that he can insist upon the overwhelming predominance of the commonplace, and that he can depict the commonplace till the tedium of it saturates the very soul of the reader, and yet that he can all of the time keep the star of beauty faithfully before the gaze. It is as if he compelled us to travel the weary miles of an old mine, and kept for our hope only the one guarded flame at the shaft.

Certainly Hilda, moving from one uninteresting place to another, surrounded by the old, the ill, the dull, with the mess of a boarding house about her, and a heavy lover (Cannon) to stand for a more or less offensive romance, ought not, logically speaking, to absorb our attention. But it is her very submergence in the sea of the commonplace that identifies her with the rest of us. She, like the readers of the book, must snatch at joy, at charm and loveliness as a man in the bread line snatches at his meager ration, if she is to have any of it at all.

She, like the rest of us, is wrapped and swathed in reticence. Not only is it her instinct to refrain from relating her emotions but she could not do so if she would. She can only draw her dark, heavy brows together and look out wistfully at the pageant of life; or now and then, if she swings dizzily into it for a moment, and marches to the beat of the victorious drums, she must drop out presently, broken and saddened, and pay a great price for her hour of ecstasy.

Bennett is unusual in that he has the power to portray men and women equally well. Stevenson and Kipling in their best days were unable to offer anything satisfactory in the way of feminine psychology. Mr. Henry James has not yet learned the measure of a man. But Mr. Bennett is not robustious at any time, either with men or women, and depicts both with serene power. He takes the products of civilization, the creatures of old world conditions, admits their attenuations, confesses to their inherited fatigues or their congenital defects, recognizes the limitations of their spirits, and contrives somehow to set them before us, palpitating with life, all of them eager to defend their defective personalities, avid for the prolongation of their modified existence. Bennett is, par excellence, the novelist of civilization. He studies the species and the individual. He has, perhaps, a preference, even as Darwin had in his latter days, for grubs, but he imbues the reader with his intense scientific interest, till it seems the finest thing in the world to sit with the microscope glued to the eye, watching the habits of human beings. Their similarities are so amazing; their differences so diverting; their limitations so pathetic; their possibilities so grand! The study of them is the pursuit of paradox and of psychologic paradox Bennett is the master.

It becomes the duty of conscientious readers of the best fiction to read "Hilda Lessways." I would not go so far as to say that it will at all times prove an unmitigated pleasure. But when you have finished with it you find yourself possessed of fresh insights. You see how many forms compassion ought to take. You are aware of new varieties of heroism. And you realize afresh that youth is, in itself, an immeasurably valuable asset. Indeed, you can learn many things—it depends upon your capacity for appreciating life. For that is what Hilda Lessways is—Life!

"The Dangerous Age" Translated.

The translation into English of that remarkable book "The Dangerous Age," by Karin Michaelis, comes at a timely moment from the publishing house of John Lane. The moment is timely, because the interest in this book, resulting from the fervor of European comments, is keen. True, Americans may not take quite the same view of it as the Scandinavians and the French. They may not find it so true to their experience—not so much in accord with their national temperament.

Marcel Prevost, who translated it from the original Danish into French, has denominated it "the most sincere, the most complete, the most humble, and the most disquieting feminine confession ever made," and it undeniably is disquieting, though not quite for the reason which M. Prevost believes. It is disquieting because it reveals not a universal condition of the feminine mind during that period known as the grand climacteric but because it shows the harsh futility of the life of the woman whose only occupation has been coquetry and who has seen to it that she did not perform her woman's part in the world. In other words, it is the book of a woman deliberately childless, who groans because her cup of life is all but empty and her meager draft of joy is acrid on her tongue.

The book cannot be complete, therefore, because it is the record of an incomplete woman. This does not mean that a childless woman is necessarily incomplete. It means that a woman without the maternal instinct is so. Having that instinct, she is feminine in the nobler sense of the word, and she may employ her powers as she pleases. There is plenty of room for impersonal maternity in the world. A woman does not need to have born a child of her body to be a mother, but she does need to have the mother feeling to be a complete woman.

The perfervid autobiographer of "The Dangerous Age" was abnormal, self-centered, remarkably intelligent, yet never wise—an exaggerated and overemphasized woman who lifts out of their obscurity those furtive thoughts which haunt the nether chambers of the imagination and sets them up in the place of honor. Elsie Lindther is, as Mr. Wallace Rice put it delightfully the other day, "Mary McLain twenty-five years after." She is a woman who, having lived a life of self-indulgence, meets the great physical change with mental anguish and morbidity. She retires to a lonely country house in order to live alone, and she separates from her husband that she may feel to the full that liberty which she imagines is her desire. She is divorced without animosity, and she means to become philosophic. She becomes instead gluttonous and dismal. Finally her distressed imagination turns to a lover younger than herself. She sends for him. He finds himself disillusioned and leaves her. Then with an excess of loneliness which she half mistakes for loyalty she lets her husband know of her willingness to return to him, and is aghast to find that he, too, is uninterested. She turns to travel, to books, to good eating and good dressing to mitigate the terrors of a lonely old age.

The book is done in a masterly manner and will interest those who have been astute enough to observe for themselves that the greatest number of divorces occur after the woman has turned the 40 year mile post. It explains much, and a perusal of its pages may well awaken compassion in the minds of those who have hitherto been severe in their judgments concerning such a disarrangement of life at a period which should be associated with dignity and peace. But it needed a moral, and since it failed to supply it perhaps the reviewers may be pardoned for doing so. The lesson of self-control is the one that Elsie Lindther failed to learn. She was irresponsible; she carried no burdens; she served no one. Her vanity and self-indulgence exceeded her character as the great seeded head of the tumble weed exceeds it roots. The first autumnal wind blew her from her moorings and sent her scuttering down the desolate roads of the world.

BY JEANNETTE L. GILDER.

I HAVE been much interested in a "LIFE OF BRET HARTE," by Henry Childs Merwin, which Houghton-Mifflin company will publish immediately. The firm is the publisher of Bret Harte's books, and the Osgood firm, which was his original publishers, was absorbed by it. This is not the first life of Bret Harte to be published. There was one by T. Edgar Pemberton brought out in England shortly after his death. I knew Bret Harte from the day that he arrived in New York from California to the day of his death. I knew his faults and I knew his virtues, and he had plenty of both. He gave up the editorship of the Overland Monthly and came east to edit Every Saturday for Osgood, which was to be run on the lines of Harper's Weekly. Every Saturday originally was a small periodical, a little larger than the Outlook, unillustrated, and made up of selections from foreign periodicals. It was exceedingly popular, and, I imagine, made money in its original form, but when it turned into an illustrated weekly it had but a short career. As it was at first it was without a rival; as it was at least, it had many and powerful ones, and Bret Harte was not the man to edit that sort of a periodical.

Bret Harte first attracted attention with the ballad "The Heathen Chinee." Then people began to read his stories, and I doubt if any American author ever took a quicker or a firmer hold upon the American people than did Bret Harte in the days when he was writing his first California tales. Those stories have never been equaled, not even by himself. He either lost his grip on California life, or something. I don't know what, but his latest stories were not comparable to his earlier ones. His books did not have a wide sale as sales go today, and yet every one seemed to have known his stories and to have read them.

Mr. Merwin writes freely of Bret Harte's shortcomings, of his laxness in money matters, for he could not well write a life of Harte without mentioning this peculiarity of his. If he had come into his own today instead of nearly half a century ago perhaps he would not have been so lax in money matters, because he would have made so much more money that it would not have been necessary for him to borrow right and left as he did. I say "borrow," for that was what he called it. And yet with all his failings Bret Harte was one of the most attractive men that I ever met. He tried to make money, poor man, as a lecturer, but was not a success on the platform; he hated it, perhaps that was the reason why he was not more successful; he disliked to put himself forward in any way. Where he shone best was among his friends, not in the crowd.

Before Bret Harte left California it had been proposed to him by some persons in Chicago to become the editor and part proprietor of a magazine called the Lakeside Monthly. To quote from Mr. Merwin:

> A dinner was arranged to take place soon after his arrival in Chicago, at which Mr. Harte might meet the men who were to furnish the capital for this purpose. But the guest of the evening did not appear. Many stories were told in explanation of his absence, and Bret Harte's own account is thus stated by Mr. Noah Brooks: "When I met Harte in New York I asked him about the incident, and he said: 'In Chicago I stayed with relations of my wife's, who lived on the north side, or the east side, or the northeast side, or the Lord knows where, and when I accepted an invitation to dinner in a hotel in the center of the city I expected that a guide would be sent me. I was a stranger in a strange city; a carriage was not easily to be obtained in the neighborhood where I was, and, in utter ignorance of the way I should take to reach the hotel, I waited for a guide until the hour for dinner had passed, and then sat down, as your friend, S. P. D., said to you in California, "en famille, with my family."' That's all there was to it.'"
>
> Mr. Pemberton, commenting of this explanation, says: "I can readily picture Bret Harte, as the unwelcome dinner hour approached, making excuses to himself for himself and conjuring up that hitherto unsuggested 'guide.'"
>
> That Mr. Pemberton was right as to the "guide" being an afterthought, is proved by the following account, for which the author of this book is indebted to Mr. Francis F. Browne, at that time editor of the Lakeside Monthly:
>
> "I remember quite clearly Mr. Harte's visit to my office—a small, rather youthful looking but alert young man of pleasing manners and conversation. We talked of the literary situation, and he seemed impressed with the opportunity offered by Chicago for a high class literary enterprise. A day or two after his arrival here Mr. Harte was invited to a dinner at the house of a prominent citizen, to meet the gentlemen who were expected to become interested in the magazine project with him. Mr. Harte accepted the invitation. There is no doubt that he intended going, for he was in my office the afternoon of the dinner, and left about 5 o'clock, saying he was going home to dress for the occasion. But he did not appear at the dinner; nor did he send any explanation whatever. There being then no telephone, no explanation was given until the next day, and it was then to the effect that he had supposed a carriage would be sent for him, and had waited for it until too late to start. A friend of the author tells me that he previously had asked Mr. Harte whether he should call for him and take him to dinner; but Mr. Harte assured him that this was not at all necessary, that he knew perfectly well how to find the place. The other members of the party, however, were on hand, and, after waiting, with no little surprise, for the chief guest to appear, they proceeded to eat their dinner and disperse; but Mr. Harte and the project of a literary connection with him in Chicago no longer interested them.
>
> "It is evident that for some reason, unknown outside of his own family, Bret Harte could not or would not attend the dinner, and simply remained away. The result was thus stated by the author himself in a letter to a friend in California: 'I presume you have heard through the public press how nearly I became editor and part owner of The Lakeside, and how the childishness and provincial character of a few of the principal citizens of Chicago spoiled the project.'"

So Bret Harte turned his back upon Chicago and came on to New York, and from New York went to Boston. He got into all kinds of trouble in the east and I don't believe he had a happy time, but he felt he had got to the end of things in California and there was nothing for him to do but change his hunting ground. He tried writing a play with Mark Twain called "Ah Sin." I remember seeing it, but it was not much of a play, though it gave an opportunity to Mr. Charles Parsloe as the Heathen Chinee. Then he wrote a play called "Two Men of Sandy Bar" for the late Stuart Robson to appear as Col. Starbottle, which was played at the old Union Square theater. It had some good things in it, but not enough to keep it long on the boards. It is not without its pathetic note, that the only real success made by a Bret Hart play was done by some one else after his death. I refer to "Salomy Jane."

After living in the east for a while, Bret Harte burned his bridges behind him and went to London; there he made his home for a large part of the time in the family of M. and Mme. Van de Velde. M. Van de Velde was a Belgian diplomatist and was councilor of legation in London. His wife was an Italian. These two seemed to understand Harte and were devoted to him and took him into their family. He lived with them until the death of M. Van de Velde, then he took rooms at 74 Lancaster Gate, not far from the Van de Velde home.

Harte was not a man of bad habits aside from money matters; he smoked, but drank very little and was fond of golf. He enjoyed the theater, but did not care for music, as this letter to his wife from Dusseldorf will prove:

> I have been several times to the opera at Dusseldorf, and I have been hesitating whether I should slowly prepare you for a great shock or tell you at once that musical Germany is a humbug. My first operatic experience was "Tannhäuser." I can see your superior smile, Anna, at this; and I know how you will take my criticism of Wagner, so I don't mind saying plainly that it was the most diabolically hideous and stupidly monotonous performance I ever heard. I shall say nothing about the orchestral harmonies, for there wasn't anything going on of that kind, unless you call something that seemed like a boiler factory at work in the next street, and the wind whistling through the rigging of a channel steamer, harmony. But what I wanted to say was that even my poor uneducated ear detected bad instrumentation and worse singing in the choruses. I confided this much to a friend, and he said frankly that I was probably right, that the best musicians and choruses went to America. . . .
>
> Then I was awfully disappointed in "Faust," or, as it is known here in the playbills, "Marguerite." You know how I love that delicious idyl of Gounod's, and I was in my seat that night long before the curtain went up. Before the first act was over I felt like leaving, and yet I was glad I stayed. For, although the chorus of villagers was frightful and Faust and Mephistopheles spouted and declaimed blank verse at each other—whole pages of Goethe—yet the acting was superb. I have never seen such a Marguerite. But think of my coming to Germany to hear opera badly sung, and magnificently acted!"

Speaking of Bret Harte making his home in London, what Mr. Merwin says about it is exactly what Mr. Harte said to me the last time I dined with him in his lodgings at Lancaster Gate. "In England," said Mr. Harte, "it is the author who counts, not the publisher; in America because the publisher is the richer man he is the one whom people care for, the author is poor and therefore amounts to nothing." These were virtually Mr. Harte's words; I am quoting from memory. This is the way that Mr. Merwin puts it:

> Strange as it may seem, the position of author, per se, is, no doubt, higher in London (though, perhaps, not elsewhere in England) than it is in the United States. With us the well to do publisher has a better standing in what is called "society" than the impecunious author. In London the reverse would be the case. New York and Boston looked askance upon Bret Harte, doubting if he were quite respectable; but London welcomed him. Bret Harte was often asked to lecture in England, and especially to speak or write upon English customs or English society; but he always refused, being unwilling, as Thackeray was in regard to the United States, either to censure a people from whom he had received great hospitality or to praise them at the expense of truth.

Bret Harte died at the home of Mme. Van de Velde, in Camberly, away from his family but not away from his friends, for Mme. Van de Velde smoothed his dying pillow and administered to his dying needs. She was a good friend and a sincere admirer of Bret Harte, and yet it is sad to think of a man who had a family dying so far way from wife and children. As Mr. Merwin says:

> There is something sad in the death of any man far from home and country, with no kith or kin about him, though ministered to by devoted friends. Even Bret Harte's tombstone bears the name of one who was a stranger to his blood and race. We cannot help recalling what Tennessee's Partner said: "When a man has been running free all day, what's the natural thing for him to do? Why, to come home." Alas! there was no home coming for Bret Harte; and if, as may have been the case, he felt little or no regret at his situation, the sadness of it would only be intensified by that circumstance. Some deterioration is inevitable when a husband and father foregoes, even unwillingly, those feelings of responsibility and affection which center in the family—feelings so natural that to a considerable degree we share them even with the lower animals.

Mr. Merwin has accomplished a delicate task exceedingly well; he has written frankly of Bret Harte's faults, but he has not dwelt at too great length upon them, and he has written of his virtues, which were many. He also gives a graphic picture of the California of the Argonauts.

A GARDEN OF PARIS

By ELIZABETH WALLACE

THE intimate home life of a typical French family is set forth in Miss Wallace's little book in the most charming way imaginable. It is like a series of pictures from Thackeray. Madame, the Hostess, la petite Grand'mere, Philippe, the sister Placide, all become living personalities and the reader is taken into their circle as one of them. And the Garden! Where are there such gardens as in Paris? Miss Wallace is known to a wide circle through her connection with the University of Chicago, and her little book cannot but add to her reputation.

QUIT TARKINGTON FOR QUIETER LIFE

WRITER SILENT ON CASE.

Talk of "Professional Jealousy," However, Makes Him Laugh.

Indianapolis, Ind., Oct. 6.—[Special.]—Booth Tarkington, the author, and his wife are living apart. Neither has made any statement concerning the separation, but Mrs. Tarkington has told friends they will not live together again, and has taken a house in another section of the city for herself and child.

During the summer the old Tarkington homestead at Pennsylvania and Eleventh streets was redecorated and many improvements made upon it, and it was given out that it would be the future home of Mr. and Mrs. Tarkington. To this house many of the belongings of Mrs. Tarkington were taken and are still there.

Wife Likes Permanent Home.

The announcement that they will not again live together has caused surprise among their friends, but it is now known that for several weeks members of the family have been cognizant of the lack of harmony between the author and his wife and have been hoping that the trouble would be amicably settled.

It is understood among their friends that disagreements arose over the wandering life that Tarkington desires to lead, while his wife wishes to enjoy the quiet of a permanent home and cares nothing for the life of Paris, London, and New York, which is so attractive to him.

What settlement, if any, has been reached in respect to the custody of the little daughter, is not known. There are no property interests at stake, as Mrs. Tarkington, who was the daughter of the late Stoughton J. Fletcher, from whom she inherited $1,000,000, has this property all in her own name.

"Professional Jealousy" Amuses Him.

New York, Oct. 6.—[Special.]—Booth Tarkington motored today to Princeton. Tonight over the telephone a reporter read to him a dispatch from Indianapolis which said the author and his wife had separated. Mr. Tarkington laughed at one part of the message.

"I shouldn't like to discuss the matter at all," he said. "If, however, you will kindly say that the 'professional jealousy' part of the dispatch is absurd I shall appreciate it. That makes me laugh.

"I speak not only for myself, but I believe I may speak for Mrs. Tarkington when I say that 'professional jealousy' between Mrs. Tarkington and me is so absurd that even to take the trouble to deny it seems silly."

"DRYS" TO OFFER FULL TICKET.

First Step in State Campaign Will Be to Get Pledges for "One Hundred Thousand Club."

Springfield, Ill., Oct. 6.—[Special.]—The prohibition state committee met today and determined to place in the primary field a full state ticket. No names were considered for the governorship, but it was agreed that a "100,000 club" shall be organized, the purpose of which will be to get that number of pledges from voters to vote the national and state tickets in 1912. It is a part of the national prohibition "three million" movement.

ROYALISTS BEATEN IN FIGHT

Band Defeated in Portugal; Another Reported Surrounded.

SEVERAL TOWNS OCCUPIED.

Monarchists in Various Clashes Lose to Republicans.

LISBON, Oct. 6.—A band of royalists has been defeated in a fight with republican troops near Braganca, in Tras-Os-Montes, the northeasternmost province of Portugal.

A column of seven hundred monarchists, commanded by Senhor Camacho Canavarro, principal lieutenant of the royalist leader, Capt. Couciero, entered Portugal Thursday morning from Zamora, Spain, and occupied Franca, Carregesa, Espinhozello, Paco, Soutello and Paraimo, all near Braganca.

Two thousand royalists, gathered from various places, have joined the column which is now at Vinhaes.

Several fights, in addition to that near Braganca, have taken place, but, according to official reports, there were few casualties.

Telegraph wires in several localities have been cut by Royalists, but in each instance the Royalists have been routed and the wires repaired.

Plan to Seat Pretender.

[BY CABLE TO THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE.]

LONDON, Oct. 6.—The Duke of Vizeu, formerly Prince Miguel de Braganza, son of Dom Miguel, the Portuguese pretender, today hurried away to attend what is believed to be an important family conference as to the royalists situation in Portugal.

The Duke of Vizeu is the husband of the former Miss Anita Stewart of New York and Newport, daughter of Mrs. James Henry Smith, who inherited "Silent" Smith's millions.

It is an open secret among the duke's friends that Mrs. "Silent" Smith has been persistently pressed to provide funds for the monarchist plotters in Portugal. She has steadily refused to contribute a single cent, although told the movement might result in making her daughter a queen.

REPORT 10,000 PERSONS SLAIN IN RECENT CHENG-TU SIEGE.

Methodist Missionaries Appeal for Funds to Aid Natives Made Homeless by the Uprising.

PEKING, Oct. 6.—American Methodist missionaries at Cheng-Tu, the recently besieged capital of Sze-Chuen province, telegraphed today that they estimate that 10,000 persons were killed during the fighting between the insurgents and the government troops. Of the dead 2,000 were soldiers and the others rebels.

Ten thousands rebels are in possession of several cities southwest of Cheng-Tu. Soldiers are marching against them today.

The Methodists state that as a result of the uprising thousands of natives are homeless and many, becoming desperate, committed suicide. The Methodists appeal for funds from America to be distributed under their supervision in the work of relief.

MOB STONES PERU'S LEGATION.

BOGOTA, Colombia, Oct. 6.—On leaving the cathedral last night where it had attended a meeting presided over by the archbishop of Bogota, a mob stoned the Peruvian legation and tore down the coat of arms. This is the second attack on the legation and the situation is considered grave.

FLY FRENCH FLAG ON AGADIR FORT

OFFICIALS OPPOSE PLAN.

Government Asks Germans to Take Charge of Its Affairs There.

BERLIN, Oct. 6.—A group of Frenchmen today hoisted a French flag over the fort at Agadir, Morocco, and for a time threatened grave international complications. It was announced that France had proclaimed a protectorate and that a French cruiser was en route for Agadir.

The French government immediately disavowed the action, and, as it is not represented at Agadir, instructed the French consul at Mogador to ask the Moroccan authorities to take measures to remove the flag and end the incident.

Defy the Local Caliph.

According to the latest advices the Frenchmen were defying the local caliph of Agadir, who, on his own responsibility, had ordered the French colors lowered, but it is expected that the Frenchmen will yield when they learn that their government has disavowed their act.

The caliph appealed to the commander of a German warship in the harbor, but he refused to interfere. The French flag was planted on an ancient bastion dominating the town, and which the overzealous French patriots had occupied in the absence of the garrison.

Warn Germans to Leave.

They fired a salute and sent word to the Germans to leave Agadir, which they declared had become a French possession.

The incident, according to the dispatches received here, created excitement in southern Morocco, but the German foreign office is satisfied with the counter measures adopted by the French government.

LAURIER CABINET GIVES UP

Premier Elect Borden Invited to Form New Ministry.

ASKS FOR FEW DAYS' TIME.

Personnel of Body Will Be Made Know by Next Monday.

Ottawa, Ont., Oct. 6.—The Laurier ministry has resigned and Premier Elect R. L. Borden has accepted the call of his excellency to form a cabinet.

The resignation of the Liberal government, which came into power in 1896, took place at Government house at 3 o'clock this afternoon, following a cabinet sitting which lasted until 1:30 p. m.

Sir Wilfrid Laurier conferred with Earl Grey for only a short period, after which the governor general sent a messenger to the residence of the incoming premier and asked him to undertake the task of forming a new government.

Mr. Borden of course accepted and requested a few days in which to complete selection of the new ministry.

It is now announced semi-officially that the personnel of the Borden cabinet will be published on Monday, though there is a possibility of its coming before that.

This is a bright, wholesome picture of life in a woman's college. I feel certain that the story would be of inestimable help in bettering conditions if it has the largest and broadest circulation. THE HOUSE OF BONDAGE may crystallize public opinion against "White Slavery" as "Uncle Tom's Cabin" did against black.

"Its people and its scenes seems to have life. They hold the reader firm in a grasp of absorbing interest. Stories of New Guinea, of its coast settlements and its interior native lairs, are so rare that this narrative of the adventures of Hugo Lynch and Stephanie Hammond has a novelty peculiarly its own. In its writing Miss Grimshaw has devised something out of the way in modern fiction . . . New Novel

Rebellion

BY

Joseph Medill Patterson

FIRST EDITION 50,000

Author of "A Little Brother of the Rich"—the book that amazed the country with the doings of the idle rich. REBELLION is big and strong. It is a story of everyday people in everyday life—honest in its purpose—dealing impartially with the heart-breaking subject of divorce. Despite its many stormy scenes and dramatic climaxes it is not a book of woe and grief. Joy, sunshine and humor mingle with the pathos of the story. It holds you tight and makes you think.

In THE LIFE EVERLASTING Marie Corelli returns to the inspiration which first brought her fame, for it was the psychic qualities of THE ROMANCE OF TWO WORLDS and ARDATH: THE STORY OF A DEAD SELF that gave to this gifted woman her commanding position among contemporary writers.

MARIE CORELLI

Jeanette Gilder says: "There are thousands of people, I might say millions, who feel and believe as does Miss Corelli, and to them THE LIFE EVERLASTING will be a revelation, and they will read it and devour it as some people read and devour the Bible or as others read and devour the Rubaiyat of old Omar."

News of the Theaters.

Mr. Hopper Makes a Box Speech.

There was a professional matinée yesterday at the Chicago Opera house, and at the end of the third act of "The Littlest Rebel" William Farnum made a speech, then he caused the spotlight to be turned on De Wolf Hopper, who sat in a box, and demanded a response. Mr. Hopper, with embarrassment, replied in part as follows:

"This is awful, with heart palpitating and lachrymal glands working overtime, as mine are. I have made quite a number of speeches in my time, some of them impromptu, some of them thoroughly prepared; but to be called upon to address an audience when I am a part of it, why, everything is reversed and I shall have to talk backwards. Let's you and I tell them what we think of them.

"Messrs. Farnum and your company, we are enormously indebted to you for giving us this rich treat this afternoon. It has been more than a treat to members of the profession and to those of the public who have sneaked in. We feel quite sure that the reward will be yours, because the actor is temperamental, and our sincere responses must have proved to you that it was well worth your while to go to the trouble that you have for us. We thank you with all our hearts. The battle we have just seen was wonderful. We trust that the gooseflesh will subside on the part of yours truly so that we can get our makeup on tonight. I have heard quite a few squabbles myself between the prima donna and the stage manager, but nothing has ever conveyed to me the force that this mimic battle of yours has.

"I should like in all sincerity, and I think I am voicing the sentiments of all here in the profession, though some of them I have never met personally—I should like to thank these Farnum boys and their company for giving us this splendid performance of Edward Peple's effort. I have known them for a long time and loved them, as we all do. I am speaking impulsively, but I know the boys; and the nicest thing you can say to either is to tell Dustin what a bully actor William is and to tell William what a fine actor Dustin is."

"Never Homes" Makes a Hit.

New York, Oct. 6.—[Special.]—There was much more definite purpose about "The Never Homes," which Lew Fields presented last night at the Broadway theater, than his musical extravaganzas usually possess. Some of them have been more brilliant from a pictorial point of view, and have offered a much larger and more varied canvas to the observation of the audience. Yet none of them ever started out with such a comic subject to exploit and stuck to it so consistently.

"The Never Homes," which is described on the program as a "musical kinemacolor in six scenes," shows what happened in Lilydale when the women got the vote in that hitherto happy hamlet.

Bishop Opposes Church Union.

BY THE REV. DR. W. B. NORTON.

TORONTO, Ont., Oct. 6.—[Special.]—The Methodist Ecumenical conference discussed foreign missions today. The subject of the union among the various branches of the Methodist body as well as the union among different denominations appeared in some form in nearly every address and the spirit which favored union seemed to be the dominant one.

Bishop E. E. Hoss of the Methodist Episcopal Church South made the only protest against union.

"I am amazed," he exclaimed, "at the demand that all people should come into one church."

"History points out that such a church becomes first proud, then arrogant, and then corrupt."

Again the cries of "No, no, no!" were raised. "I know," the bishop said as he took his seat, "that I would not get unanimous consent, but if the day of universal organic union comes in Protestantism I will be a broken hearted mourner."

The protest fell upon unwilling ears and the demand for union continued to be made by other speakers.

The Rev. W. J. Moulton, Leeds, England, expressed the hope that the time was not far when Presbyterians and Methodists would be one.

The Rev. James Lewis, Cambridge, England, gave a detailed statement of the resources in men and money possessed by the Methodist church in all its branches.

"There are," he said, "in the mission field 2,528 missionaries and 20,849 native helpers, 1,149 of the natives being ordained ministers. The baptized converts number 708,605 and the number definitely counted as adherents is 1,448,494. Native Christians contributed for their own support last year $796,039. The number of ordained Methodist ministers in all branches is 52,978.

"The church," he added, "ought not to have a missionary society; it ought to be a missionary society."

Mrs. George O. Robinson, Detroit, was the first woman to get the floor.

"Women," she said, "do not have a bishop to represent them, but they constitute a large part of the church and they ought to be heard. It was Miss Ida Tarbell, a Methodist woman, who started the present fight against the privileged classes. In our woman's work we are having tremendous success. In our home missionary society, which will hold its national gathering in Wichita, Kas., soon, we will report a gain of 20,000 members. The secret of our success is that we do not deal with people in the mass, but we deal with them as individuals."

The Rev. Thomas Hocart, Paris, and the Rev. Theophile Roux, St. Brieux, Cotes du Nord, delegates from the French Methodist church, reported remarkable progress of the work in France.

N. W. Rowell, K. C., of Toronto said the church in Canada had for two or three years past been raising $50,000 as an emergency fund in addition to the regular missionary budget and this year a committee of laymen had secured a subscription of more than $600,000 towards a fund of $1,500,000 in order to carry on missionary work.

Christian Endeavor Rally Held.

The fall rally of the west division of the Christian Endeavor union was held in the Central Park Presbyterian church, Sacramento boulevard and Warren avenue, last evening. About 300 persons were present. A banquet was served in the church dining room.

The principal address of the evening was delivered by Prof. Herbert E. Willett of the University of Chicago. Prof. Willett spoke on "The Call to Arms." He pointed out the duties of young people to their church and society. E. P. Gates, state superintendent of the society, addressed the meeting on "Efficiency Plus Power."

The banner for the largest percentage of attendance was awarded to the Monroe Street Christian church. The emblem had been held by the Central Park Presbyterian church. Second prize went to Bethany Congregational church. Twenty west side churches of half a dozen denominations were represented at the rally.

Mrs. Carter Harrison Writes New Fairy Book.

ONE OF THE ILLUSTRATIONS.

A fourth book of fairy stories, "The Glittering Festival," by Mrs. Edith Ogden Harrison, wife of Chicago's mayor, has just been published by A. C. McClurg & Co.

With her usual imaginative touches Mrs. Harrison tells a story of Enola, the Earth Queen, who decided to hold a glittering festival to which everything growing or living was to be invited. Then she decided to give a prize to the guest who had been the most useful to the world.

Everything came—the corn maidens, the horses and dogs, the lion and the tiger, the flowers, and there came, too, Nerida, a wood nymph, to sing the praises of cotton.

Who do you suppose the Earth Queen acknowledged as the most useful being in the world? Her sweetheart, Aja, the Sun King. And what do you suppose the prize was? The Moon Queen asked that very same question, and Enola responded quickly and blushingly:

"He may have whatever he most wishes."

So they were married. "And they will travel together for eternity. And every day as the dawn comes it will seem more beautiful because of their wonderful affection."

Some soft hued pictures by Clara Powers Wilson are in the book. It has close to 200 pages.

Cook and Sew at "Science School"

IF the present rate of increase in ambitious society cooks and seamstresses continues Chicago society women will have solved the servant problem—at least for their own families. Yesterday was registration day over at the School of Domestic Arts and Sciences and at the close of the afternoon the books showed that there had been registered the names of the greatest number of well known maids and matrons who wish to learn cooking, sewing and general house management in the history of the school.

The school invited the public to come in and inspect its work yesterday and many responded. Back in the kitchens a group of young women presided over the paper bag cookery exhibit, wherein it was proven that odorless cooking and many other conveniences are possible, if the cook will enclose her onions, potatoes, tomatoes, or leg of lamb within a paper bag. Likewise the edible comes out of the oven nicely cooked, but unbrowned, because the bag has taken the first of the intense heat from it.

Of the "cooks" who assisted as pupils there were Miss Eleanor Babcock, Miss Margaret Herrick, Miss Dorothy Harvey, Miss Margaret Conover, Miss Bertrande Spalding, Miss Marion Butler, Miss Mildred and Miss Cecile Murphy, Miss May Peabody, Miss Marjorie Dyrenforth, Miss Marion Hester, Miss Helen Viles, Miss Mary Chapin, Miss Louise Waller, Miss Catherine Cushing, Miss Cecil Vail, Miss Catherine Farwell, Miss Catherine and Miss Louise Delano.

Girl Athletes Show Independence.

Co-eds of Northwestern university, under the leadership of Miss Bird Arnold, assistant instructor in gymnastics, declared their independence of the male students—athetically—and have "cut loose" from the regular university athletic association and have formed an association of their own. A massmeeting for girl students was held at Willard hall last night, where Miss Arnold explained her plan.

Books of tickets admitting the bearer to all athletic contests are to be sold to the girl students for $4. Eighty per cent of the proceeds will go to the regular university athletic fund, while the other 20 per cent will go to athletics for women students. Although the regular association had offered to provide for a woman's athletic fund, the young women declined the offer and declared they would raise more money than the regular university association.

Nine Greek letter fraternities have completed plans for chapter homes on the campus and will probably commence building in the spring. The university authorities last year offered to provide space free if the societies would build their homes on the university campus north of the gymnasium. The fraternity houses now are scattered. President Harris has promised that their liberty would not be interfered with.

Laura Jean Libbey's Comment and Advice.

Bosom Friends as Rivals.

BY LAURA JEAN LIBBEY.

[Copyright: 1911: By Laura Jean Libbey.]

NO foe like the foe who was once a friend is a bit of truth with the gold of romance tarnished on it.

It is natural for young girls to confide to each other their love stories, for who can be in more tender sympathy with a girl than her bosom friend. Edith tells Rose the secrets she would be too bashful to confide to the mother who loves her so dearly, or to the elder married sister, who would be so pleased to be her confidante.

Ah! Was there ever a girl like Rose! What a lively interest she took in the wealthy young man Edith had met and learned to love.

When he said he would send his photo Rose was as much at a fever heat of expectancy as she was. Ah! What a love of a girl friend was Rose. Edith did not think it was quite time to suggest a visit, but Rose persuaded her that it was expected of her and furthermore that procrastination was the thief of time.

And wasn't Rose a veritable angel to insist upon doing the corresponding for her, while she was ill for three weeks with a severe cold? Rose did not read the letters she sent—she wrote them at home—and the answers sounded just a little as if Rose were making sentences up as she went along, though she blamed herself straightway for harboring such a thought even for an instant against her bosom friend, dear, loyal Rose.

At length the time came for the young man to call. Rose assured her that nothing in the world looked so sweet on her as her yellow mull, although her mother and sister urged her to wear her pretty blue tulle with its soft, clinging ribbons. Rose announced her aunt had sent her a new dress which she had received only that morning, a veritable dream of shimmering pearl gray silk, hand embroidered in pink rosebuds.

It was Rose who reached his side first, holding out both of her hands in greeting; Rose who took off a pink rosebud from her breast and gayly pinned it to the lapel of his coat. It was Rose who led the conversation, talking so glibly, so merrily, and entertainingly that Edith found it almost impossible to get in a word edgewise.

The scales fell from Edith's eyes when Rose announced at barely the edge of the evening that she really must go home; and she saw the young man whom she supposed was her lover rise quickly, declaring that he could not think of permitting her to go unattended, and beg permission to accompany her. Edith saw them enter her bosom friend's house, and, sitting in her parlor, watching and weeping behind the curtains, she noted that his call across the street lasted for an hour or more. Then and there the faithfulness of her bosom friend received a sudden shock. Edith was wiser then than she had been yesterday.

The mother and sister were too sorry for Edith to tell her that it was all her own fault when Rose, who had ceased to call, married the young man who had come with the express purpose of proposing marriage to Edith. A girl may love her girl friend dearly, but there should be no side partners in a love affair, which interests vitally only the principals. A girl's friendship is sweet and attractive to girls, but even the flowers of such a friendship may abound in hidden thorns.

Possibly His Eye Is Affected.

"Dear Miss Libbey: Can you tell me what the meaning of a wink is? I was told there was a special meaning to it, but have been unable to find out. CLARA."

Who knows? It probably means he has a cinder in his eye.

He Is Swedish.

"Dear Miss Libbey: I am a student at a state university and am considered handsome by the co-eds. So I usually get bids to all the dances. I am of Swedish ancestry and my name reveals it. I am in love with a girl. Up to last week I thought she cared for me, but at a dance I overheard her say that she didn't like Swedish people and I am afraid she meant me. I should like to give her an engagement ring and call her mine, but now I am afraid to speak. How can I be sure that my Swedish blood will not lessen her love for me? "TROUBLED JAKE."

If it does, Jake, you don't want her. Be proud of your nationality.

"Best Man in the World."

"Dear Miss Libbey: For the last four months I have been engaged to the best man in the world. At an evening's entertainment a short time ago, for no other reason than mere caprice, I thought I would try to make him jealous, so I flirted with another man. My fiancé became angry and would not listen to any explanation, and now he has left me. "HEARTBROKEN."

I wish I could make women understand that playing with jealousy is a great deal like attempting to start up a smoldering fire with gasoline—it's dangerous business. Sit down and write the man a sincere note. Don't cringe. Tell him you acted thoughtlessly and are sorry that he treats the matter so seriously.

Massage as an Aid to Beauty.

BY LILLIAN RUSSELL.

NOTE—Miss Russell will be glad to answer any question pertaining to womanly beauty. Miss Libbey will reply to queries on social problems. Mrs. Eddington will give advice on housekeeping. Personal replies will be given if a stamped and addressed envelope is inclosed.

THE blood is the life current. Whenever it stagnates or stops disorganization begins—and by some means or other the current must be set going again. This is one effect which the skillful masseur produces by friction.

Massage stimulates the lymphatics to greater activity, causing them to carry off the waste material which accumulates rapidly when they are sluggish. As this waste material is really dead organic matter, it acts as an irritant and poison in the system.

Still another important fact of massage is the reflex stimulation of the vaso motor centers. The vaso motor system is made up of a vast network of countless nerves and nervelets, reaching to every part of the body, and controlling all the processes of nutrition, secretion, and excretion. In health this system works perfectly and automatically, but in disease or as one grows older it begins to act irregularly. The circulation is enfeebled and the application of massage is needed to stimulate action. As soon as the stagnated blood begins to move, various excellent effects manifest themselves. The hot dry skin becomes moist, the internal heat which was burning up the body is radiated rapidly, and all the poisonous products and tissue waste are eliminated.

Scientific massage is not charlatanry. It does not promise the impossible, but it does promise great relief in diseased and weakened conditions of the face as well as the body. There is no guesswork about it, nor can it be practiced properly by an ignorant or inexperienced person. Long study and thorough training are the first requisites.

Many persons are under the false impression that massage means rubbing. The worst effect of this confusion of terms is that those who do not know the difference take for granted that every treatment labeled massage is therefore scientific, and that the operator possesses special knowledge and experience.

Massage is a science. The competent masseur must possess a thorough knowledge of the bodily organs and all other functions, and of the relation of each to all the others. Therefore he must be educated along the same lines as physicians before they will intrust their patients to his treatment.

Remember: If you would keep young and beautiful you must exercise every muscle in your body.

Lillian Russell's Answers.

E. G.: If you will send me the necessary self-addressed, stamped envelope I shall be glad to send you an excellent lotion to close the pores.

JULIA: The dark circles under your eyes are indication of a sluggish condition of the blood. Live in the fresh air as much as possible and take plenty of physical exercise. Sleep from eight to ten hours a day and eat well cooked, nourishing, and easily digested foods. I also suggest that you massage around the eyes with a bit of skin food for about five minutes a day. After massaging, dampen a cloth in cold water and lay it on the eyes for a few minutes. If you will send me a stamped envelope I shall be glad to send you the recipe for the skin food and [illegible]ssage.

L. M.: If the palms of your hands perspire it is often an expression of extreme nervousness or it may be purely local. Eau de cologne containing 5 per cent of diluted acetic acid, sprinkled on the palms and allowed to dry, may be all that is required, but, in addition, a dusting powder may be used. Powdered French chalk and lycopodium scented with a few drops of essential oil are excellent.

CONSTANT READER: If you will massage the spots left by the pimples every day for several weeks with a good skin food they will disappear. If you will send me a self-addressed, stamped envelope I shall send you an excellent skin food which I have used for twenty years. I shall also send you the blackhead treatment and astringent lotion for closing the pores.

MRS. C.: For sties on the eyelids bathe the eye with elder flower water, warmed. Avoid late hours and do not allow the eyes to get fatigued.

B. M.: If you want to get thin you must look well to your diet. No fried food should be eaten, no sweets, rich sauces, greasy meats, no bread, except toast, and no pastries. Water should never be taken with your meals. If you do not take a glass of water with your meals you will find that you will not want to eat so much. If you will send me a stamped, self-addressed envelope I shall send you the rolling exercise for reducing the hips and a dietary to reduce flesh.

Economical Housekeeping.

Recipes for Philippine Fourth Graders.

POOR little brains used to be stuffed full of Latin grammars, or the whole theory of something, before there was any practical work undertaken. Now all this is changed. Children begin with objects, something they can see and handle, and when they have learned the obvious thing they learn something that it is not so easy to see.

In the Philippine manual already referred to in this column the first recipes are for little girls of the fourth grade. They do not study about carbohydrates and proteids, but about rice, the egg, vegetables, and simple desserts. The thing not cooking which they learn is how to remove stains, how to make soap, vinegar, and perfumes and the uses of petroleum.

This is what they learn about vinegar before receiving the recipe: "The word 'vinegar' means sour wine. The best vinegar is made of fruit juices. In southern Europe it is made from the poorest wines; in America from apple juice, and in the Philippine islands from sugar cane, cocoanut, buri, or nipa sap, or from the juice of various fruits. It is clear, red, or brown, taking its color from the substance from which it is made."

The subject of cooking for this grade is thus introduced: "This year the pupils are to learn to prepare the common market vegetables and in a wholesome and appetizing manner. They will also learn to prepare rice and corn properly. During the year boiled rice should be served as a vegetable; it should also be served with slices of well ripened banana and sugar and milk. Use the following recipe for making a—

Rice Pudding.—Four cups milk, three tablespoonfuls cold boiled rice, four tablespoonfuls of sugar, one-half cup of raisins. Add the rice to the milk. Add the sugar and the raisins. Flavor with nutmeg, turn into a greased pudding dish, and bake one-half hour."

In studying eggs these little girls look at the shell through a microscope, if one is available. They notice that it is porous, they tell why the egg should be washed and how it can be kept in good condition the longest time. They make tests to see whether it is fresh, dropping it in cold water where it sinks if fresh; shaking it and if they hear no sound it is fresh; holding it to the light, if it is clear it is fresh. "A fresh egg has a thick, rough shell." Then they learn to boil the egg—soft and hard boil—scramble and poach. "Only strictly fresh eggs can be poached."

This is what they learn about beans: "There is a great variety of beans to be had in the native markets. As their flavor is strong, they are much improved by blanching; that is, changing the water in which they are cooking. Put the beans into a stewpan full of boiling water and boil for five minutes; then drain in a basket or colander and pour cold water over them. Put again into boiling water and proceed as usual. . . . The flavor of lima beans is much improved by cooking with them a handful of mint leaves.

The strange kinds of beans that they have in the Philippines are the shell beans sitao and patani, the bean pod calamismis, and the mongos. The calamismis is "a peculiar shaped fluted seed pod, the sections of which cut across look like little four pointed stars. The pods should be cut across, washed, blanched, and cooked as any of the string beans."

"The mongo is a small round seed sometimes green and sometimes black. It looks like a small pea and is rich in both nitrogenous and carbonaceous elements. The girls should be encouraged to use this legume as an article of diet in their homes, as it is one of the most valuable and at the same time inexpensive foods." The mongos are boiled with pork and eaten or then fried with rice and onion or made into soups and a gruel.

Another vegetable strange to us is the camote, which is scalloped with corn, creamed, roasted, fried, made into puddings, or carameled. The egg plant is also used, but was perhaps imported, as some other vegetables have been, from America.

The real native cooking in the Philippines is largely of Spanish admixture, as Spain controlled the islands for hundreds of years, and through the Catholic church influenced everything. For this reason one finds Spanish names in these recipes.

The armagoso, green papaya, the katuray, ubi, gabi, and patola are other strange names.

Illustrated lectures on the Philippines always show us the rice terraces, so one expects much use to be made of this grain in the islands.

Stuffed Peppers.—Cut off the stem end and seed the peppers; lay them for three minutes into boiling salted water. Afterwards put them into cold water and soak half an hour. Drain and wipe dry and fill with a mixture of boiled rice and chopped meat. Replace the end and cook twenty minutes in one-fourth inch of soup stock, then fry. Peppers may be filled with fish, beef, chicken, or any chopped meat. The stuffing should be one-half bread crumbs or boiled rice and should be well seasoned with tomato sauce.

Rice and Beans.—Soak over night a half liter of washed red ("cow" or field) beans. Drain, cover with fresh cold water, and cook slowly. In an hour add one-fourth kilo of bacon freed from rind, and simmer until the beans begin to soften. Season to taste with salt and plenty of red pepper, then add a half liter of washed rice and continue the slow cooking until the beans and rice are tender. During the latter half of the cooking keep just enough liquid to prevent burning. Serve on a platter, the bacon in the center.

Browned radishes.—Pare the radishes. Cut into slices crosswise and boil until tender. Put two tablespoonfuls of lard in a frying pan. When the lard is hot add the radishes and sprinkle over them one tablespoonful of white sugar. Stir and turn carefully until the slices are browned. Salt and pepper and serve.

MARKHAM DENIES REQUEST OF NOEL

MORE RIOTING IN SOUTH.

Great Mass of Strikers Attacks Quarters of Men Who Took Their Places.

President Markham of the Illinois Central replied yesterday to the telegram sent by Gov. Noel of Mississippi, suggesting arbitration of the differences between the railroad and its shop employes. Mr. Markham declined to make public his reply, but it is understood the railroad took the position that there is no way to arbitrate the question of recognition of the federation, for the reason that the separate shop unions failed to serve notices asking a change in their contracts before the federation asked for a new contract. At present this is the only question at issue.

Mr. Park issued the following statement regarding conditions on his lines:

"Conditions are improving in all localities. New men are being employed and assigned to their duties as fast as they can be handled. There is no violence attempted, except in one or two small towns south. At McComb, where rioting occurred, there is a good force of men at work this morning and no disturbances. Conditions on Chicago terminal still continue 90 to 100 per cent normal."

Strikebreakers Walk Out.

Memphis, Tenn., Oct. 6.—Dissatisfied with conditions at the Memphis shops, Illinois Central strikebreakers struck today and tonight railroad officials assert 100 were sent to Chicago. At strike headquarters, it is said, more than 400 men walked out; practically the entire force. The walkout was without disorder.

More Rioting in New Orleans.

New Orleans, La., Oct. 6.—As a result of the attack by Illinois Central railroad strikers and sympathizers on the old school building, where 118 strikebreakers were quartered, the latter this afternoon were escorted to a train by armed guards and rushed out of the city.

The onslaught of the mob agaist the strikebreakers came with such suddenness that the small police detail there had no opportunity to summon reinforcements. Corporal William Peterson, in charge of the squad however, displayed such fearlessness in the face of overwhelming numbers that the mob's spirit wilted and a bloody encounter was averted. Many arrests were made.

The mob then fell back two blocks from the railroad property and dispersed, not, however, until assurances had been given by the city authorities that the strikebreakers would be taken out of New Orleans before dark. This the railroad company had already arranged to do.

Injunction Against Strikers.

Pensacola, Fla., Oct. 6.—A temporary injunction restraining striking firemen and enginemen of the Georgia and Florida railroad from interfering with the road's affairs was issued here this afternoon by Judge William R. Sheppard of the United States Circuit court.

BARTZEN MEN HELP DENEEN

Demand Forest Preserve; Governor Would Appoint.

FORGET REPEAL OF LAW.

President's Friends Err in Filing Petition with Judge Owens.

A petition to the County judge, filed several days ago by west side politicians and calculated to bestow additional patronage on the president of the county board, in the opinion of Chicago lawyers has had a decidedly different effect.

They say the patronage intended for the Democratic county official, if it exists at all, will accrue to the Republican governor of Illinois. So far as known the petitioners were not eager to grant any patronage to Gov. Deneen.

They simply forgot a Supreme court decision might knock out a law, making operative an older law.

Forget Law Was Repealed.

Former Ald. Edward Novak, Representative John O. Hruby of the Fifteenth district, and others filed a petition to County Judge Owens asking that the whole of Cook county be included in a forest preserve. It was supposed that by the forestry act of June 16, 1909, this would place the appointment of a president and four members of the preserve in the hands of President Bartzen of the county board.

These members could vote salaries, employ a force, condemn property, and to almost as they pleased, thereby becoming an important adjunct to the president of the board.

The petitioners had forgotten that last June the Illinois Supreme court gave a decision knocking out the existing forestry district, and, many lawyers believe, making the law unconstitutional. If it disposed of the whole law, it disposed of the provision repealing the old forestry act of 1905. Hence, lawyers say, there is no reason why the law of 1905 is not now in force.

Governor Gets More Power.

Section 2 of the law says in part: "The affairs of such district shall be managed by a president and six commissioners, not more than four of whom shall be members of the same political party, who, together with their successors, shall be appointed by the governor."

The petition contains 1,000 signatures and asks that the creation of the preserve be voted on at the November election.

Judge Owens examined the petition and turned the matter over to the election commissioners, expressing doubt as to the validity of many of the signatures. Many are written in pencil and are illegible. If the petition should be approved, there will be a day set when citizens may present arguments.

I. C. STRIKE HELP TO BURGLARS.

Policemen Concentrated at Tracks—Thefts at Hyde Park and Woodlawn Houses Reported.

The night force of policemen has been greatly diminished, and robbers have taken advantage of the fact.

SAYS HE'S REAL "JOAN OF ARC"; SUES MISS BROOKS FOR PAY.

John F. Delaney Wants $2,472—Insists He Did All Reform Work, but Girl Employer Got All Credit.

Virginia Brooks was made defendant yesterday in a suit in the Circuit court to recover $2,472. John F. Delaney says she owes him this as back salary. He insists he is the real "uplifter" of West Hammond, but that Miss Brooks got all the credit.

Delaney asserts he not only edited, published, and mapped out the policy of Searchlight, Miss Brooks' reform paper, but carried on practically all the investigations which made Miss Brooks famous. In fact, he says he's the real "Joan of Arc" and that Virginia Brooks "is only a name."

The accounts sued on are principally for work done in connection with Searchlight since Feb. 15. Flora P. Brooks and the West Hammond Improvement association also are defendants. A part of the accounts are:

"Edited Searchlight under name of 'Virginia Brooks' at request of the defendants, eight weeks, at $25 a week—$200.

"Reading copy on Searchlight eight weeks, at $5 a week—$40.

"Writing graft exposé of West Hammond in five issues of Searchlight, at $25—$125."

MRS. PATTERSON, NEAR TRIAL, SCORES STROUSS AS SELFISH.

Woman Who Slew Husband in Denver Glad That Chicago Millionaire Is Being Humiliated by Notoriety.

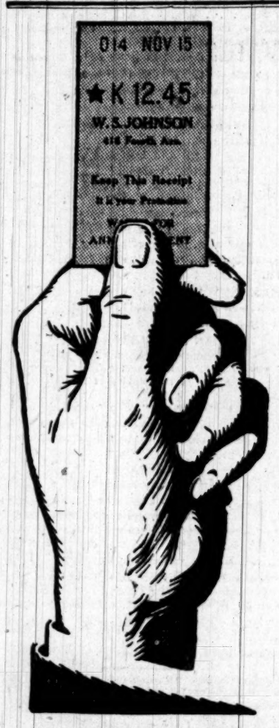

Denver, Colo., Oct. 6.—[Special.]—"Emil Strouss is now paying dearly for the part he played in the infamous deal in which I was the thing bargained for," said Mrs. Gertrude Patterson, upon being informed that the millionaire, who had been discovered and recognized dining with a beautiful young girl in Chicago, had quit his table in a hurry and fled to his room to avoid the humiliation of public gaze.

"I have no sympathy whatever for him. He deserves to suffer far more than I am suffering. He was probably so overjoyed because he will no longer have to appear as the defendant in an alienation suit that he could not refrain from celebrating a little.

"Strouss says he has no intention of coming to Denver. Why should he? I do not care to see him and I do not care for his aid in my trial. He is not the kind of a man who would make any sacrifice for any one. He would not admit anything that would place him in bad light before the public."

Dispute Over Gate Receipts.

Judge Adelor J. Petit was called upon yesterday to decide to whom $800 in baseball gate receipts belongs. Fisk Colts and the Roseland Eclipses claim the money. The dispute began when the Fisk Colts played a series with the Cubs last October. When the third game was called the Eclipses refused to play, claiming that the Fisk Colts had violated their contract.

This prevents unpleasant controversies between you and the merchant or his employes.

—"And you must take Sanatogen regularly for several weeks"

THIS urgent advice is given by physicians day by day in every civilized land—wherever sufferers from starved nerves and poor digestion seek relief. There is a reason for this. Physicians know that Sanatogen is a substance capable of supplying the real needs of a starved, overwrought nervous system—that it is a scientific combination of albumen and organic phosphorus—a compound eagerly absorbed by the hungry tissues and possessing unique tonic and reconstructive qualities. They also know from their own observation what Sanatogen has done for others. They have watched its revivifying action upon persons whose nervous strength had been undermined by overwork, worry or disease, they have observed how it has infused renewed energy, life and elasticity into starved nerves, how it has regenerated the appetite, digestion, in short, how wonderfully it has helped to make the human machinery fit to perform its functions in the most perfect manner.

There are on file with the owners of Sanatogen no less than 15,000 letters from practising physicians praising, endorsing Sanatogen. Truly, a magnificent monument to the value of this food-tonic.

But no less impressive is the enthusiastic testimony of patients themselves. Men and women in the forefront of human endeavor, statesmen, prelates, authors, lawyers, have written above their own signatures of the wonderful benefits received from Sanatogen.

Late King Edward's Physician

Dr. Ernest Ott, Marienbad: "I have been using Sanatogen for a number of years in my practice with excellent results. These results have been notably good in the case of elderly people when it was desirable to build up the strength, to stimulate the bodily functions, and to improve the circulation of the blood."

PROF. C. A. EWALD

of Berlin University, Doctor honoris causa Johns Hopkins Medical School, Baltimore, writes: "I am able to speak from my own observations made at the bedside of patients, and I can say that I have used Sanatogen in a great number of cases (that is, in those disturbances of metabolism which were mainly of a nervous or neurasthenic origin) and have obtained excellent results."

LADY HENRY SOMERSET,

the prominent social-reform advocate, writes: "Sanatogen undoubtedly restores sleep, invigorates the nerves and braces the patient to health. I have watched its effects on people whose nervous systems have been entirely undermined and I have proved Sanatogen to be most valuable."

DAVID BELASCO

The eminent dramatic author, writes: "It gives me pleasure to let you know the wonderfully beneficial results I have experienced from the use of your Sanatogen. It has a most invigorating effect upon the nerves, and I heartily recommend it to all who, like myself, are obliged to overwork. After my personal experience I can readily vouch for its recuperating qualities."

Write for a FREE copy of "Our Nerves of Tomorrow"

We ask you earnestly to get acquainted with Sanatogen. Investigate our claims first, if you like, and we are only too glad to have you do so. Ask your doctor about it, and in any case write at once for our book "Our Nerves of Tomorrow," the work of a physician-author, written in an absorbingly interesting style, beautifully illustrated and containing facts and information of vital interest to you. This book also contains evidence of the value of Sanatogen which is as remarkable as it is conclusive.

Sanatogen is sold in three sizes, $1.00, $1.90, $3.60

TO LESSEN FIRE HAZARDS.

The Boston chamber of commerce has recommended the adoption of certain measures to lessen fire hazards in that city. Those measures would be as effective here as there, and sooner or later some of them will be resorted to here.

One recommendation is that the construction of any but fireproof buildings within the congested business district should be forbidden and that old buildings within that district which are not fireproof should be equipped with sprinklers. Hotels and lodging houses, however, would be thus equipped only in the basement and first floor.

Under present conditions in Boston, and here also, pretty much any kind of a building can be insured for some price, no matter how flagrantly it may violate the building laws. The chamber of commerce would have a law passed prohibiting the insuring of new buildings which do not comply with the important requirements of the laws.

The chamber of commerce also recommends that nowhere within the city limits shall the erection of frame buildings be allowed. It says: "The business districts are constantly encroaching on the residential, and the most dangerous zones are in the fringe between the thickly built districts and the residential." That is true of Chicago. There are too many frame buildings in the city, and no more should be permitted.

Another recommendation is the substitution as rapidly as possible of self-propelled fire apparatus for the horse drawn engines. That substitution will have to come ultimately, and the Chicago fire marshal had better begin studying the question.

THE HOTCHKISS COMMITTEE.

It is not a committee with more powers that Peter Bartzen wishes, now that the Hotchkiss committee has refused to assist his wrecking plans. Bartzen wants a committee of puppets. In other words, now that the Hotchkiss committee has proved its sincerity, intelligence, and independence, and its determination to investigate the actual working of the juvenile probation system impartially, without reference to scare heads or Mr. Bartzen's personal ambitions, Mr. Bartzen turns to Judge Owens for assistance.

It is to be hoped Judge Owens will not pull Mr. Bartzen's chestnuts out of the fire. If more powers really are needed in the investigation they should be given to the present committee, which should be neither subtracted from nor added to as to personnel. The appointment of the Hotchkiss committee by Mr. Bartzen, in an unexplainable lucid moment, is about the only creditable act of his rampaging, destructive administration. The committee has saved the juvenile probation system from a destructive combination of unscrupulous sensationalism and personal politics, and if permitted to continue its work to the end will unquestionably correct actual defects and make genuinely constructive recommendation for amendments.

BEGIN IN CHICAGO.

It is said that the Illinois Central is to do something toward better sanitation and the protection of the public health by the appointment of a health officer. He will work for the improvement of conditions throughout the extensive territory traversed by the road.

This is an admirable idea. It is one other railroads should take up. It may not be out of place to suggest to the future Illinois Central health officer that he will find in Chicago the most important field of labor for the public health, while he may be able to point out here and there along the lines of the road a bad condition which can be remedied effectively only by municipal authorities. Here he will find insanitary conditions for which the road is partly responsible and which it can partly remove.

In other words, there is the smoke nuisance. It is more than a nuisance. It affects the public health. An atmosphere surcharged with smoke and poisonous gases is admittedly unhealthful. Hence we have a right to expect that the first thing a conscientious and fearless Illinois Central health officer will do will be to call the attention of his superiors to what they can do for the protection of the public health in the populous city of Chicago.

THE CUBAN NAVY.

The number of officers and men of the Cuban navy is to be doubled. This is not so important an item of news as it seems. If the United States were to go to war on behalf of Cuba or the Monroe doctrine the assistance of the Cuban navy would not help matters much. For even after its strength shall have been increased 100 per cent, there will be only fifty officers and 600 men.

This naval expansion has given the Cuban government an opportunity to show its friendly feeling for Americans. It generously offers them positions as coal passers, firemen, and carpenters on the new gunboats, with the prospect of working their way upward "in the service of a country which will not prove ungrateful." They can become petty officers, and then, perhaps, get commissions.

The meaning of which is probably that Cubans do not take kindly to the sea and that it is necessary to go outside the island to get capable men to do the hard work on the ships. But what need has Cuba of a navy? There may be a use for revenue cutters to prevent smuggling, but why gunboats? The American navy is at the service of Cuba whenever the island needs one.

THE PRESIDENT'S POSITION.

In his vigorous address at Pocatello the president reiterated the position taken in his Detroit and Waterloo speeches respecting the trust problem. That position is or ought to be perfectly clear. The president believes that the Sherman law is economically sound and legally enforceable, and he makes it plain that his administration will enforce the law. "But," he adds, "when that part of the business community which thought that the anti-trust statute did not mean anything understands that it is to be enforced, then we may reach a solution that will enable the business community to settle down on a proper and legitimate basis."

These words seem plainly addressed at that small class of Americans whose doctrine is "let us alone." These men believe that because of business depression and stock depreciation the American people will be frightened into an emasculation or repeal of the law against unlawful restraints and monopolies. Having relied upon the neglect of enforcement, they now hope for repeal, and a return to the era of unmitigated laissez faire.

Intelligent and patriotic business men indulge in no such hopes. They recognize the perils threatened by the inordinate centralization of financial control through unregulated and unchecked combinations of capital, and they welcome proper regulation by government in the public interest—an interest in which they themselves are vitally concerned.

The president still believes in the potentialities of competition, and he is opposed to those combinations, like the Standard Oil company and the Tobacco trust, which have crushed them ruthlessly by lawless methods, including unfair competition itself. The president believes that the Supreme court has pointed the way to the distinction between legitimate combination and lawful aggregation of capital, on the one hand, and vicious, oppressive, and unlawful concentration, on the other. He believes that while the inevitable tendency to larger units must be recognized, we need not, therefore, declare, as some hasty gentlemen have announced of late, that the day of competition is over. But he believes in the rule of reason and favors the conservative regulation of such great combinations as are within that rule.

There is nothing in these views which threatens the freedom of legitimate finance or the prosperity of law-abiding corporations. The stock ticker may have palpitation of the heart every time the president declares his simple duty to enforce the law, but it is to be observed that there are men high in the business world who whole-heartedly indorse the president's position, and invite, as to their own corporations, full investigation and supervision. This is strong evidence that clean business men are confident that clean business can proceed prosperously, even on the largest scale, under the Sherman law as interpreted in the light of reason.

The selfish reactionaries of the "let us alone" school would have us believe that the president and those who believe with him in both parties would tear down the great structure of business enterprise which the genius of American men for commerce and organization has built up. The charge is preposterous, and the sooner the common sense of the American people punctures that folly the quicker the cloud of uncertainty and distrust will clear away and the tremendous natural activities of the country reassert themselves.

Readjustments must come. Where there has been deep wrong they will and they ought to be drastic.

But mending the roof here and there will not bring down the house, for the house is a good house built on a splendid foundation.

The president's defense of courts is characteristic and timely. While our American judicial administration is not perfect, as the president himself frequently points out, and while certain tendencies of judicial decision, especially with respect to social reforms, have been very censurable, popular criticism often blunders into unjust condemnation of courts and legal processes. And it is well to emphasize the transcendent importance in our democratic republic of the office of the just, the fearless, the wise judge. The proudest boast we may make is that ours is a government of law and not of men. In that is the earnest of our liberty, our justice, and our progress in civilization. The president might do well to discuss the importance of courts in our history.

CHEER up; the rainy season will close soon. The state fair is nearly over.

ON a certain memorable occasion Mr. Merkle of the Giants failed to touch second. With as much cheerfulness as the nature of the case admits we concede that he has atoned for that oversight.

AMONG the words added to the language by the Saturday Evening Post in its latest issue we note "nonetheless." Isn't it a beautiful word?

THE worst punster in America dropped in yesterday and unfeelingly remarked that there was "no mystery about Laurier's resignation—he refused to be a sub-Borden-ate any longer."

UNCLE IKE STEPHENSON is willing to acknowledge that he paid the freight, but he had nothing to do with making out the invoice.

BUT there is a fly in the ointment. In some portions of the country the turnip crop is a failure.

PROBABLY it will be admitted without argument that Turkish civilization has not done much to improve Africa.

IT isn't the office of lieutenant governor that Mr. Yates, Always the Friend, etc., is seeking. He is out for the governorship. Please get that right.

OCTOBER HEALTH.

OCTOBER is the healthiest month in the year. November pushes it closely.

The baby sickness rate of the summer has dropped, and the high pneumonia and cold rates of the winter have not begun. Nothing is at its maximum except typhoid fever, and by the middle of the month this has begun the decline, which drops sharply until January and then slowly until May.

The children have come in from their vacations, and their cheeks are rosy and their eyes are bright. The average man has recuperated from the heat of summer, and he walks with a little more vigor than at any other season.

The weather has not been cold enough to cause the houses to be shut up, so the ventilation in the workshops, offices, stores, and homes is far better than it will be from Christmas to April. There are no clerks working in hot rooms and drowsing, with minds unable to continue at full concentration.

Later this picture is changed. Resistance has been lowered by bad ventilation. Children contract contagion as the result of exposures which in October would not have done harm. Pneumonia climbs month by month, until its rate in February and March is ample to compensate for the low infant mortality, and thus brings the total rate to the highest point reached in the year.

So, you see, the October and November days fall in between, and man then is blessed with health as in no other months. If we could keep down colds and pneumonia there would be no winter rise.

Does it not suggest a remedy when you know that the pneumonia rate goes up as men house for the winter—that it mounts higher each month until they begin to unhouse in the spring?

HOW TO SPEND $3,000,000.

E. P. S. M. writes: "If Chicago should awaken to the possibilities of the prevention of disease and should vote $3,000,000 a year for that purpose, in what ways do you think the money could be expended, and how long would it take to show results appreciable to the people at large?"

REPLY.

Chicago deaths are divided as follows: One-third due to bad air diseases, one-third due to diarrheas and kindred diseases of babies, and one-third due to all other causes combined.

If the health department could get an appropriation of $3,000,000 a year it should first provide a municipal milk supply for babies. The cows should be kept in town, the milk should be very clean, kept below 50 degrees, and delivered before it is two hours old. The department should see that pregnant mothers and mothers nursing their babies should have plenty of food.

No baby should be kept in an unhygienic place. All babies should be registered within twenty-four hours of birth. Home nursing should be furnished. All cases of late tuberculosis should be hospitalized. There should be nursing, food, and dispensaries for early cases.

All pneumonia should be reported. Care of the nose and mouth during and subsequent to pneumonia should be required.

There should be a ventilation bureau in the health department. It should have several ventilating engineers, twenty place inspectors, and a large corps of ventilation inspectors.

There should be complete hospitalization of all diphtheria. The work of physical efficiency now begun with school children should be made much more effective with them and should be extended to adults. Housing should be controlled as to buildings and occupation. In addition, all of the present activities should be extended and amplified.

BUTTERMILK AS BEVERAGE.

Mrs. A. L. S. writes: "For how long a period will buttermilk remain in condition for drinking purposes, supposing of course it is kept in a chilled atmosphere?"

REPLY.

Under the proper conditions buttermilk will remain in a condition for drinking purposes about twenty-four hours longer than sweet milk.

TO PREVENT CANKER.

J. A. M. writes: "Will you please advise of the cause of canker in the mouth and on the tongue? I avoid eating food that contains spices and condiments as much as possible, yet I am troubled with cankers most of the time."

REPLY.

Cankers in the mouth are caused by slight local infection. Certain constitutional conditions which impoverish the blood are frequently at fault. Besides the precautions you are already taking, the mouth should be kept clean particularly by caring for the teeth.

GRAPE SEEDS NOT DANGEROUS.

E. W. S. writes: "Will you kindly inform me whether one in eating grapes should reject the seeds?"

REPLY.

Occasionally a grape seed gets into the appendix, but it is not of much consequence. It is not worth worrying over or going to any particular trouble to guard against.

TO WIPE OUT DAMPNESS.

H. T. M. writes: "Will you please indicate what is a suitable method for eliminating the dampness from a basement office room? Can the use of electric fans be made to serve this purpose to any degree, or is there any anhydrous substance which can be placed in such way as to readily and thoroughly take up the moisture?"

REPLY.

1. Make the walls and floors impervious to moisture.
2. Keep the temperature of the room well above the outside temperature.
3. Place some of the radiation along the outside walls so as to keep them warmer than the dew-point. This is not feasible unless the room is heated by steam or hot water.
4. Electric fans so placed that they will drive warm air against the cold walls, forcing the cold air away from them, will help a very great deal. This may be all that you need.
5. See that the yard is well drained and dry.
6. Unslaked lime, frequently changed, will help a little.

WOOLEN UNDERWEAR'S VALUE.

F. F. W. writes: "Will you suggest any advantages of woolen underwear over cotton or the opposite?"

REPLY.

Woolen underwear, because of it being a poor conductor of heat, offers greater protection against sudden chilling of the body to any one whose skin does not normally and quickly respond to changes in the weather.

On the other hand, it has a tendency to allow the gradual chilling of the body from perspiration, because it does not readily absorb moisture.

The advantages of woolen underwear may be secured and the disadvantages avoided by wearing thin cotton underwear next to the body and woolen garments outside of that.

LA MARQUISE DE FONTENOY.

[Copyright: 1911: By the Brentwood Company.]

SANTANDER is in future to be the seaside and summer home of King Alfonso, his wife, and his children, in lieu of San Sebastian. At the latter place King Alfonso has no residence of his own, and is the guest of his mother, Queen Christina, at her château of Miramar, which is not by any means a large or pretentious establishment. Christina built it when the king was in his childhood and his sisters quite young girls. Even then it was necessary to lodge most of the dignitaries of the royal household in hotels and private houses leased for the purpose in the town of San Sebastian.

Now that King Alfonso has several children of his own and that his surviving sister's family is constantly growing—she had another baby last week—Miramar has become much too small for the royal family, especially when the party is supplemented by the children of his eldest sister, the late Infanta Mercedes, with their father, the Infant Carlos of Bourbon, and his second wife, a sister of the Duke of Orleans.

Then, too, the opening of public gambling tables at San Sebastian by the unsavory M. Marquet of Ostend celebrity has the result of attracting to San Sebastian a class of people who have not precisely contributed to its vogue. In one word, the king has become rather tired of San Sebastian, and, taking advantage of this notorious fact, the city of Santander has built for him a beautiful and spacious seaside residence, known as the palace of Cortegada, which has lately been completed, and is now being furnished.

It is a gift of the city to the king and queen, and calculated to prove a profitable investment to Santander, since it cannot fail to have the effect of attracting thither during the summer not only the various members of the government and the dignitaries of the court but as well all those members of the aristocracy and society who love to bask in the sunshine of royalty.

The people of Santander first became imbued with the idea through the frequency of King Alfonso's visits, through his manifest liking for the city and its inhabitants, and, above all, by his delight in the regattas which are one of the most popular features of the place. Of late years the king has taken an active part in all these maritime sports, invariably sailing his own boat, carrying off many a prize, and incidentally rendering Santander as important as the headquarters of yachting in Spain as Cowes is in Great Britain and Kiel is in Germany.

Santander has been on many occasions the object of royal favor, since Emperor Charles V. landed there in 1522 to take possession of the throne of Spain and since the ill fated Charles I. of England embarked there on his return home with Duke "Steenie" of Buckingham after his fruitless and somewhat romantic trip to Madrid in search of a royal wife. And it has been the recipient of numerous queer privileges and prerogatives. About sixteen years ago the lower part of the city was almost entirely destroyed through the explosion of the steamer Cabo Mathichaco, laden with 1,700 cases of dynamite. The harbor, or rather bay, is much more spacious and finer than that of San Sebastian, and affords unrivaled conditions for yachting, without confronting the dangers of that stormswept open sea evilly known to mariners as the Bay of Biscay.

Formerly the lords lieutenant of English counties on the sea shore, who by reason of the latter bear the additional title of vice admiral, and, also the lord warden of the Cinque ports, who as such is a full admiral, were entitled to wreckage on the coasts subject to their jurisdiction. These prerogatives, or rather perquisites, they no longer enjoy. In fact, were they to attempt to exercise them in these modern times they would suffer not only fines but imprisonment.

It is the state in the person of the official known as the district receiver of wrecks, who steps in and takes charge in the name of the government board of trade of all property cast up by the sea. He is possessed of the most extraordinary powers and can exact absolute obedience from all present. In the event of a wreck taking place in his district he can call to his assistance the aid of the masters of all other vessels with their boats and men. He can in the name of the crown commandeer motors, horses, wagons, and carts, as well as the services of any man whom he may encounter. He can insist on all locked gates being opened and upon passing over fields of standing corn as well as through private roads and inclosures. Resistance to his authority in any of these matters entails a fine of $500 and in default thereof imprisonment. Should a vessel be wrecked and deserted by its crew he summons the coast guard to his aid, who, composed of veteran seamen of the royal navy, and armed with outlasses and rifles, prevent any marauding.

When any vessel breaks up and her "material" and cargo are cast ashore any one finding property of this kind must report his be it only so much as a single plank. The penalty for refraining from doing so is serious. For it is construed as concealment of wrecked property from the receiver and renders the offender liable to pay a sum equal to twice the value of the goods, plus a fine of $500, with imprisonment in the event of inability to pay.

Thanks to these measures, which are rigorously enforced, the former means of livelihood known as "wrecking," which has furnished the theme of so many novels, and that even until the middle of the last century led the sea coast population to sometimes maneuver with the lights on shore to bring about a wreck, has been virtually stamped out, and the coast population no longer consider all flotsam of the sea as the property of the finders, a gift to the latter on the part of a benevolent Providence.

The receiver of wrecks, in taking possession of all flotsam and jetsam, does not, as one might be tempted to believe, confiscate it for the benefit of the crown, although ancient statutes still in existence would warrant the idea. He seizes it for the benefit of the owners of the vessel or cargo concerned and turns the property over to them after their payment of certain government dues and the justifiable claims of salvage.

The Faubourg St. German in Paris, popularly known as "the Noble Faubourg," owing to its comprising the metropolitan residences of the old aristocracy, will soon become a thing of the past; at any rate, as far as the characteristics for which it has been celebrated for nearly two hundred years are concerned. The rich American residents in Paris—the colony of expatriates—having found it impossible, despite all that has been said to the contrary, to obtain access thereto in a social sense, are now simply buying up the whole quarter of the town by means of a heavy expenditure of dollars.

A few of the purchasers are retaining the palaces which they have bought, with the grand old gardens, designed in many instances by Le Notre, as residences, merely equipping the latter with up to date appliances and modern American comforts. But in far too many instances the superb old mansions are being torn down and are being converted, along with their beautiful gardens, into building sites for huge apartment houses of the skyscraper order, the profits already realized by American speculators in this manner being enormous.

But, weary of the streaming spout,
WE beg J. P. to cut it out.

FROM the Connoisseur, published in 1755, we extract the following lines, "written by a very ingenious gentleman, as a letter to a friend who was about to publish a volume of miscellanies."

"Since now, all scruples cast away,
Your works are rising unto day,
Forgive, though I presume to send
This honest counsel of a friend.
Let not your verse, as verse now goes,
Be a strange kind of measur'd prose;
Nor let your prose, which sure is worse,
Want nought but measure to be verse.
Write from your own imagination,
Nor curb your muse by imitation;
For copies shew, howe'er express,
A barren genius at the best."

FREQUENTLY we observe the reference to Mr. Cullom as the "Nestor" of the party in Illinois. But would not "Nest Egg" be nearer to it?

These and numerous other phrases that have come to be known as the exclusive property of "The Chicago Tribune" will have a chance tomorrow evening at the Steel Works club by John V. Twas early October in Nineteen Six
When all Cub bettors were in a Helva Fix,
And hardly a man is now alive
Who would bet on the Cubs at eight to five,
Remembering that famous day and year
When "Izzy" Isbell clouted the sphere
For four two-sackers (business of cheers).
Twas then to the music of megaphone,
The Conquering Sox came into their own.
Now we must have it all over again,
And Chicago's nuts till the series ends.
Were all C2K if Bokoo Cub
Can put one over on the White Sox club.
But I'll bet five dollars and ten cents in absolutely (Jar 16) good Chinese currency to the hole in a hard boiled doughnut that the Cubs will get it where Turkey gets the Boot, and if they don't I'll have to break into the Cannery and eat everything indigestible that Angelina Argentina Arabella or what-do-you-call-your-goat hasn't devoured because I've staked every Lincoln Penny in my savings account on the White Hose from South Town hoping they'll darn their holeproof infield and slip it to 'em good and plenty. That's all.

CAR TRACKS PREVENT PAVING.

Chicago, Oct. 1.—[To the Friend of the People.]—Why is not Montrose boulevard paved? It has gotten to be a great thoroughfare and there is an immense amount of teaming over it, and no day without loaded teams in the mud or broken down with their loads because of the wretched condition of the street. The Ravenswood people have taxed themselves to have the streets paved with asphalt and the Improvement society has teams to flush them and try to keep them clean, but the Montrose mud and filth is constantly carted over there. M.

The assessment has been confirmed for the paving of Montrose avenue, from East Ravenswood park to North Clark street, but nothing can be done in the way of making this improvement until the street car company has rehabilitated its tracks. As soon as this has been done we will be in a position to proceed with the improvement.

EDWARD J. GLACKIN,
Secretary to the Board of Local Improvements.

IS HARRISON EXCHANGE AN EXCEPTION?

Chicago, Oct. 5.—[To the Friend of the People.]—If the Chicago Telephone company is trying to discourage patrons from using unlimited service, it surely is successful, if the "rotten" service given in the Harrison division is any criterion. Constant delays in getting the operators and wrong numbers given are much in evidence. I would be willing to make a wager that there is not one satisfied customer using the unlimited service in the Harrison district.

NOT RESULT OF STRIKE.

Chicago, Oct. 5.—[To the Friend of the People.]—"All Hail," I do not know how we ever did without you. I am a north sider, but had occasion to go to the Illinois Central a few weeks ago on my way to Dubuque. As "Hyde Park" says in Thursday's paper, the ladies' waiting room is insanitary and the washroom is more so, the bowls being filthy. I asked for a towel. They said under the new ordinance they could not have one. Why does not some enterprising slot machine put in paper towels, or the Illinois Central furnish at least a small paper one for a penny? Moving on to the toilet rooms from the washroom, it was most insanitary. I think it is a standing disgrace.

COAL WEIGHTS FROM MEASURES.

Chicago, Oct. 4.—[To the Friend of the People.]—Advising your readers how to compute the weight of ice by dividing the cubic contents in inches by thirty was a valuable suggestion. However, is it possible to compute the weight of chestnut coal if the cubic contents of the bin is known? This, I believe, would safeguard many people who are buying coal this fall.

W. B. BROOKS.

Cupola coal	53.52	37.02
Large egg coal	58.85	33.18
Small egg coal	57.74	34.65
Range coal	58.15	34.39
Chestnut coal	58.26	34.32
Pea coal	53.18	37.60

SHOULD BE PAVED.

Chicago, Sept. 20.—[To the Friend of the People.]—May I call upon you to bring before the proper parties the condition of Sunnyside avenue, between Clifton and Racine? It is only a short block, but is a mud hole from end to end. The water stands all the time and is from one to six inches deep. About ten days ago a gang of men scraped up the mud and piled it up in various heaps and left it. The rains have spread it out again, and with the teams driving over it we have an unsightly street.

The alley, between Racine and Clifton, passes this block, and it, too, is full of mud.

C. H. SMITH,
1139 Sunyside avenue.

The superintendent of the Twenty-fifth ward reports that this is an old worn out macadam pavement, with no crown, consequently the water does not drain off. The street, together with other streets in the district, is supposed to be cleaned by the Sheridan Park Improvement association in consideration of the free use of water for sprinkling purposes. The city, however, has cleaned this street three times this year, and as recently as last week, when eighteen loads of dirt were removed from this block.

The alley is an unimproved alley, and like all unimproved alleys is muddy after rains. The only remedy for this condition is to pave the alley.

F. W. SOLON,
Acting Superintendent of Streets.

THERE IS SUCH A LAW.

Chicago, Oct. 4.—[To the Friend of the People.]—Is there not a law prohibiting dogs from running around loose without either muzzle or license tag on?

People who are so fond of dogs should keep them in, but most of them care more for a dog than they do for a child. I really dread sending my boy to school for fear some dog will bite him.

There is not a night that the garbage can in my yard is not overturned by some stray dogs, and they fight over the refuse like wild animals.

I would be a happy woman and would enjoy my daily walks were there no dogs on the streets.

CARELESS CONDUCTORS.

Chicago, Oct. 5.—[To the Friend of the People.]—In the whole country there is not a city railway line in any other city where there is such danger to life and limb as in Chicago, because of the outrageous custom of the conductors of never stopping cars or of starting before passengers are on or off. And the conductors know it and laugh at remonstrants frequently. The city council ought to make it heavily finable for cars to start too soon, just as a man is fined for overspeeding or other dangerous acts to the community. The railroad companies do not seem to care except to make time. In this respect the conduct is criminal.

MORE FIRE ALARMS NEEDED.

Chicago, Oct. 4.—[Editor of The Tribune.]—Apropos of the recent west side fire, in which four persons lost their lives, I would suggest that the council pass an ordinance whereby a system of fire alarm bells should be installed, which could be set off by the first person discovering a trace of fire in all large tenement and apartment houses. Such a system would, especially in the night, lessen the frightful danger and resultant loss of lives in all large buildings where people make their homes.

STRONG NAVY NEEDED.

Washington, D. C., Oct. 1.—[Editor of The Tribune.]—The recent arbitration treaties with England and France may not fulfill their object in promoting world peace if they result in our country abandoning the policy of maintaining a strong navy.

The dearest navy we can have is a weak navy.

Italy, France, and Germany in Tripoli and Morocco remind us that there is but little self-government in Africa, yet Africa possesses less natural resources than the wonderful continent to the south of us. We may laugh at the South American republics for their frequent insurrections, but nevertheless they are steadily becoming peaceable, enlightened republics. But for the Monroe doctrine South America would be as thoroughly colonized by the European powers as is Africa. The Monroe doctrine proclaimed by a country without an adequate navy would have been a dead letter long ago.

The Monroe doctrine became effective when we had military force behind it. In other words, a strong navy means not only the defense of 20,000 miles of coast line, including island possessions, but it means that the American people will continue to use their world power for the benefit of humanity. World questions affecting the interests of many people are bound to arise from time to time, and our country will be in a position to exert its influence on behalf of righteousness and peace if we have an adequate navy.

ARTHUR H. DADMUN,
Corresponding Secretary of the Navy League of the United States.

NEEDED REFORMS.

Chicago, Oct. 4.—[Editor of The Tribune.]—Why do the park commissioners pay so little attention to the care of the toilet accommodations in the public parks? The odors which greet one are a menace to the public, and the germs of disease are there at any and all times. At Washington park at the present time large sums are being expended to beautify the grounds. This is all right and proper, but the health of the people to whom the parks belong should not be overlooked. The management of the elevated railways seem to give no care to their toilet conditions whatever. Such conditions as confront one there would not be tolerated for one moment by any mercantile establishment in Chicago.

BOUQUET FOR MARQUIS AND HEK.

Chicago, Oct. 5.—[Editor of The Tribune.]—In this morning's TRIBUNE you state that the Marquis of Queensberry has been invited to the University of Illinois, and I hope that he accepts. It should prove interesting reading, and I would like to have his opinion of Madison, Ann Arbor, Minnesota, etc. This gentleman, unlike many foreigners, has the faculty of seeing some of our good qualities, and when he criticises it does not carry a sting and resentment. It is a treat to read the clean stuff he is putting out, also that by Hek and the rest of the sporting writers.

ONE STANDARD OF MORALS.

Milwaukee, Wis., Oct. 4.—[Editor of The Tribune.]—In dealing with the white slave question we find it to be a matter of economics. Coercion and seduction are used to supply a demand. To stop coercion and seduction the demand must be eliminated. Here we meet with the sex standard. Those who argue for a double standard say that motherhood has its sacred obligations. But let us sincerely ask has not fatherhood its sacred obligations likewise? To one with any knowledge of hygiene there can be but one reply.

What is the general viewpoint on the sex standard? Masculinity boasts of its conquests, while even mere youths are encouraged with laughter and jests by elders who ought to know better. Women have only recently begun "to stretch forth their hand in aid of their fallen sisters." It is, indeed, high time to have learned that in a common fatherhood of God is exemplified a common sisterhood of woman as well as a common brotherhood of man.

The solution of the white slave evil lies in a single code of morals for both sexes. This must come through evolution of public opinion. Newspapers are the greatest molders of public opinion. Would it not be fitting for that newspaper which claims to be the world's greatest to lead in a crusade for awakening manhood to a serious obligation—a crusade waged systematically and incessantly?

THE SAFE SAFEBLOWING BUSINESS.

Avon, Ill., Oct. 2.—[Editor of The Tribune.]—Locking the stable after the horse is stolen describes the fool way country officers try to catch yeggmen and murderers. Last week the whole country turned out to watch a cornfield, while the criminals took a bee line for the railroad and went home.

In every one of the bank robberies where the work is done by professionals their first break is for Chicago. And they always get there, too. They never scatter out through the country after a job is done. But the sheriffs and chiefs of police throughout the country districts have not found this out—or don't want to. Then a yegg can almost always be sure of getting home if he gets on a freight train if he gives the brakeman a dollar. It's a mighty devoted brakeman to his company who will refuse money from a "bo," as they call any one who rides the bumpers. One brakeman on the Burlington told the writer not long ago that he made his meal tickets from hoboes and the other boys did the same. So its easy for the safe blowers to work the country towns and make their getaway—as far as officers are concerned. Besides, it's a well known fact that these same yegg gentlemen carry automatic pistols and are not afraid to use them.

As for getting them, have every train going towards the city held up and searched, then with the help of dogs the country could be looked over and by doing this way some few might be caught where none are now.

Why, Mr. Editor, safe blowing is the safest and surest business there is nowadays. The only danger to the yeggs might be an accidental discharge of their nitroglycerin, but I never read of it if it ever did occur.

BY I. E. SANBORN.

Silk O'Loughlin, the silver tongued arbitrator, will officiate as the American league half of the umpire staff in the city series between White Sox and Cubs next week. That announcement was made yesterday by President Johnson of the American league on his return from the meeting of the national commission in New York.

If that meeting had lasted a couple of hours longer all the details of the Chicago series could have been attended to immediately. It was the intent of the two local magnates to get together in time to notify the commissioners of the fact, but during the conference between Presidents Comiskey and Murphy they learned that the commissioners had adjourned and that President Johnson had left for Chicago. Consequently it was necessary to adopt slower methods and written notification of the Chicago series was sent to commission headquarters in Cincinnati, where it awaits the return of Chairman Herrmann from New York.

Locke May Take Charge Here.

It is likely that Billy Locke, secretary of the Pittsburgh club, will be appointed by the commission to represent it and to take charge of the Chicago series. President Johnson said the Pirate official would be wholly acceptable to the American league. President Comiskey said no choice would suit him better, and there can be no objection to Secretary Locke from the National league side. No selection could insure more capable handling of the city series than that of the Pittsburgh pilot, who has had plenty of experience in planning and supervising big events of the kind. Public and players alike could be assured their interests would be looked after as well as if they were doing it themselves, for Mr. Locke enjoys the confidence of every one in any way connected with baseball.

What umpire from the National league staff President L[illegible] will select for the series here has no[illegible] announced, but from his appointments [illegible]e world's series and the fact this is the most important local series in point of attendance and interest, it looks as if Hank O'Day would be named to work with O'Loughlin.

Tickets on Sale Next Week.

While there was nothing doing at White Sox park in the matter of beating Cleveland out of third place, it was a busy afternoon for Acting Secretary Grabiner. He spent it trying to explain to irate Sox rooters why he could not take their perfectly good money and hand out in exchange for it reserved seats for the Sox-Cub games to be played at Comiskey park. He had a valid excuse, as the tickets have not been printed and will not be ready until next Wednesday, although a rush order for them was placed at the earliest possible moment. Moreover, there can be no disposition of tickets until the national commission's representative is appointed and takes charge. But the ever faithful fans could not understand this delay, when they have known since last July, they said, that the Sox and Cubs would get together this fall. There will be no sale of seats for the series until Wednesday, according to President Comiskey.

The opening game of the final series with Cleveland was not called off until it was a cinch it could not be played. The grounds were in tough shape, but a game would have been possible if more rain had not fallen. To dispose of the scrap, if possible, a double header has been booked to start this afternoon at 1:30 o'clock, but the prospects were not bright for any improvement in the weather conditions. Joe Wray, the Wilmington weather wizard, who came in to see the game, made things worse by announcing that it would rain the rest of the week anyway.

Clarke Visits with Comiskey.

Manager Fred Clarke of the Pittsburgh team spent several hours of the morning visiting President Comiskey and looking over the big plant. The Pirate chief was particularly interested in the proposed new lid for the grounds, as he is the inventor of the one now in use at Pittsburgh park. Manager Clarke said he did not see why the local invention would not work all right. Neither does Comiskey nor the contractor in charge of it, but it hasn't yet, although something over $7,000 has been dumped into the hole in the ground.

Manager Clarke plans to go into Minnesota on a hunting trip as soon as the series with the Cubs is finished, and then will revert to Kansas for the better part of the winter.

Manager Jennings of the Detroit team called on President Johnson at headquarters and presumably discussed the deal which is reported to be on whereby Jennings may get a part interest in the Washington club and go there to succeed McAleer as manager. It is not believed possible that Detroit will part with Jennings for anything that Washington will give up, and it is guessed to be more likely the Detroit club will be willing to let Jennings use any spare change he may have in buying stock in the Jungle club. That may be Jennings' ultimate object, at that.

BY SAM WELLER.

Morning practice for the Cubs was ordered yesterday, but it didn't come off on account of the rain. It was an open date in the schedule, and as it's hardly possible Manager Chance is worrying over the outcome of the series with the Pirates which begins today, it seems he wished to do a bit of preparing for the coming games with the White Sox.

Nothing can be gained by beating the Pirates in all three of the games, but much is to be gained in beating Comiskey's team. There's not a player among Chance's ex-champions who thinks it's going to be an easy matter to down those fellows from the south side, and the one obstacle in the way seems to be Big Ed Walsh, the star spitball flinger of the Sox. From the way the Cubs are talking they seem to think this big fellow is going to pitch every game.

Chance is none too sure of his own twirlers, and of course is relying heavily on the work of Mordecai Brown and Lew Richie. King Cole, too, will surely have a game to pitch, and the balance of the staff is likely to be held in reserve for relief duty. Outside of the pitchers, the Cubs are in fine trim for the battles.

How Cubs Will Line Up.

The regular outfielders, Sheckard, Hofman, and Schulte, will be in the game. The infield probably will be made up as it was for the St. Louis series that ended Thursday, with Saier on first, Evers on second, Tinker on short, and Doyle on third. However, Chance wants to utilize the batting prowess of Heine Zimmerman in some way, and it's possible he'll play at one of the infield positions at least a part of the time. Jimmy Archer will be behind the bat in all the games.

Pittsburgh's team arrived yesterday morning to play three games, and if the weather man will not interfere the three will be finished by Monday night. Tuesday and Wednesday are open dates in the schedule and the last game of the year is booked at Cincinnati on Thursday. With the Sox series starting on Friday, Manager Chance will send only a few of his regulars down to Redville for that final game, for he wants the stars to have a good night's rest before taking part in the first battle with the south siders. If it were possible he would put some of his tall, rangy recruits, the bat boy, and three or four ushers against the Reds in that last game, but as all of these would not be eligible, he will have to send a few of the regular men down there to wind up the season.

List of Eligible Players.

During the day President Murphy made out a list of his players who are eligible to compete against the White Sox, naming only those who were under contract before Sept. 1. That is the rule determining eligible players for the world's series, and Murphy expects the same rule will be in force in the city series here. The men named by him follow:

Frank L. Chance, manager,	Shean,	Reulbach,
Sheckard,	Zimmerman,	Brown,
Good,	Tinker,	Cheney,
Schulte,	Doyle,	McIntire,
Hofman,	Archer,	Smith,
Bransfield,	Graham,	Cole,
Saier,	Needham,	Richter,
Evers,	Richie,	Toney.

St. Louis, 11; Detroit, 5.

St. Louis, Mo., Oct. 6.—St. Louis won from Detroit, 11 to 5. The visitors' team for the greater part was composed of recruits. Kutina of St. Louis got three hits, one being for three bases and another a home run. Score:

IN THE WAKE OF THE NEWS.

BY HEK.

IT'S A FAIR QUESTION.

"Did you ever notice how the word 'but' keeps butting into a comparison of ball players?"—Chooey.

Bless your soul ingenuous—how frank you are today!
You ask us have we noticed how the "but" gets in the way.
Do we notice while our fancy on these prophecies we glut
The most lucid, long and learned is composed of nothing but?

This disquieting conjunction is the butt of all we read,
The butter on the baseball bread on which we're asked to feed.
When we've assimilated something stated good and strong
And we're merging on conviction then that "but" will come along

To jerry us abruptly that the while we're thinking so
That the last part is the essence and the first part doesn't go.
We have noticed also, neighbor, that the erudite discourse
By that "but's" emasculated and made destitute of force;

That the best laid exigesis over which our heads we've scratched
Cannot safely be exploited with the alibi detached.
Yes, that part of it we've noticed, and the rest we haven't missed.

We have noticed the "howevers" and the "althoughs" and the "ifs,"
So profusely interwoven so's to qualify the biffs—
So's to sort of ease the impact if the fallacy is proved,

Keep the world's series broads out of the hands of the speculators—in New York? Who came in with that idea sticking to his boot heel? Might as well speak of keeping the water out of the East river. Ticket scalping is a dominant industry in New York. One can't get an invitation to one's own wedding in that territory except through an agent.

DORGAN'S DILEMMA.

Wid both av thim Irish and both av thim Macs
An' both wid an army of harps at their backs,
How can I tell on which side to align
Will I know which one's county is nearest to mine?

When the categorical comparison of the Giants and Athletics gets down to the department of mascots and supercargo we'll get the full force of the word "odious."

YOU AIN'T SORE, BE YOU?

There are oodles and stacks of young worries with which mere mankind must amble along.
We are told to view life with an optimist's eye and mingle our work with a song.
For the battle scarred suffraget movement we stood, reciprocity then from Bill Taft;
Frenzied finance, big smoke from the dear old I. C., the latest exposé of graft—
But the menace of all that stalks off with my goat after cutting me clear to the bone
Is the young* ed. who slashes his way through my verse to interpolate stuff of his own.

The Markiss is quite right when he assumes that gambling is not essential to sport. The trouble about it in this country is that the notion is fixed that certain kinds of sport are essential to gambling. Hence all this devastation. "If we can't get shut of the carp without poisoning the bass, well, then, poison the bass." That's the idea. Quite so.

Mr. Chalmers' plan to arrive at a flukeless conclusion as to which player in each league would be entitled to his gift of an automobile probably was the best that could have been devised, but the worst would have worked out the same way as far as the American league is concerned. The only way Ty Cobb could be beaten by any plan of figuring would be to declare him ineligible. With Cobb in the running the only way the other American league players could get a crack at that prize would be to make a lottery out of it.

Scores of New York Victory in Double Header, 10 to 5 and 5 to 4—Schultze Gets Good Start.

New York, Oct. 6.—Although the New York Nationals have already hauled the 1911 pennant out of reach of other aspirants, the flag winners continued their habit of winning today by taking a double header from Philadelphia, 10 to 5 and 5 to 4. In the first game "Toots" Schultze, the former Pennsylvania captain, allowed only one scratch bit in the first six innings, then went to pieces. In the seventh and eighth innings New York scored nine runs. Chalmers' wildness in the first inning of the second game proved his undoing, as New York scored four runs at the start. Scores:

ALEXANDER LEAVES IN A HUFF.

Philadelphia, Pa., Oct. 6.—[Special.]—Grover Alexander, pitching sensation of the 1911 season, departed for his home in St. Paul, Neb., today, declaring he was through with the Phillies and he wanted to be traded or sold to some other club. Before he was ready to depart Alexander talked over a three year contract with President Fogel. Fogel offered $3,200 a year for three years. The pitcher at first thought he was joking, but on being assured that this was all the club could offer he announced that he was through.

SCRAMBLE FOR SEATS BEGINS

EXTRA CLERKS EMPLOYED.

Thousands Already Seek Tickets; Speculators Will Be Combated.

New York, Oct. 6.—Within twenty-four hours after the announcement of the schedule of games for the 1911 world's baseball championship, applications for seats came in in such numbers that the offices of the New York baseball club were literally flooded with check laden missives. The demand was so overwhelming that extra clerks were engaged to attack the mountain of mail. The applications were too numerous to count tonight, but they ran up into many thousands.

In addition to the mail applications, hundreds of local fans, believing they could thus get in on the ground floor, went to the offices only to find that no tickets would be issued until the advance sale begins on Thursday.

On Watch for Scalpers.

The clerks bundled the letters in packages of a hundred, stamped according to the time of receipt, to be sure that the early applicants are taken care of first. They were instructed particularly to watch closely for "suspicious" applications that looked as if they might be from speculators. By strict enforcement of the rule of only four tickets to one purchaser and the rejection of suspicious applications, it is hoped to reduce speculation to a minimum.

At the Polo grounds, where the first game will be called a week from tomorrow, preparations are nearly complete to take care of a crowd of 60,000 persons. If this number can be squeezed into the stadium, now being completed by the erection of a new outfield bleacher section, the crowd will be the largest ever seen at a baseball game. The world's series record attendance at any one game has been less than 35,000. In 1910 the total number of admissions for the five game series between Chicago and Philadelphia was 124,222, an average of less than 25,000 to a battle.

Quaker Supply Exhausted.

Philadelphia, Pa., Oct. 6.—[Special.]—The first mail delivered today at Shibe park containing applications for tickets for the first two games to be played in Philadelphia was so enormous that it took a corps of letter carriers and special delivery boys to transport the mail from the several post-office stations. Out of town requests were laid aside and those applications that bore the postmark of Philadelphia and nearby places were given consideration. Allotments were made to the applications in the order that they were received. It took only a few hours to exhaust the 10,000 reserved seats for each day.

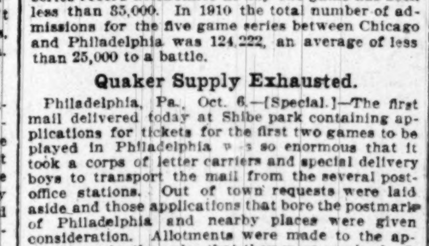

DUNCAN PLAYS MATCH TODAY.

The main attraction in local golf circles today will be the first appearance here of George Duncan, the Scotch professional, who will take part in a foursome at the Onwentsia club. Originally it was planned to have the visitor meet Tom Vardon, the home professional, in a thirty-six hole match, but this has been abandoned and a foursome substituted in which Vardon and Duncan will be paired with "Chick" Evans and another amateur. It was hoped Chandler Egan would be able to play, but he is out of the city.

"Chick" Evans announced last night he would leave shortly for Boston to take a position with the American Felt company and that from now on he would appear only occasionally in tournament play.

George Jones won the championship of the Chicago printers in the tournament held Thursday at Hinsdale. Carl Henderson won the second flight, J. I. Oswald the third, Forest Hopkins the fourth, and H. C. Metcalf the fifth. Oswald Law had low net with 93—24—69, Dana Slade being second with 98—20—78. R. C. Wilson had low gross.

SHOWS CLEVER FOOTWORK.

Gary, Ind., Oct. 6.—[Special.]—Eddie Murphy, the Boston lightweight, outpointed George Memsic of Chicago by a big margin in their battle before the Shamrock Athletic club of Gary tonight. From the tap of the bell in the first round of the contest the Boston lad made his opponent look like a selling plater, although the Bohemian outweighed him by six pounds. Murphy weighed 134 pounds at 3 o'clock.

Murphy, by his clever footwork, kept Memsic guessing all the time. He jabbed the Bohemian with his left mitt at will and had the better of it in all of the rounds but two. Memsic rushed Murphy with wild swings, and all but a few fell short of their mark. If the contest had been at twenty rounds Memsic would have shown to better advantage.

Towards the finish both scrappers joked with each other, and those who know the fighting game were disgusted at the way it lagged.

In the first preliminary Jimmy Kelly of the U. S. A. stopped "Kid" Willis of Benton Harbor in the second round. Phil Harrison knocked out Pete Mettes of West Chicago in the first round of a scheduled eight round mill. Jimmy Walsh had a big shade over Will McGovern in the eight round semi-windup.

SAM LANGFORD STOPS CAPONI.

Negro Toys with Chicago Italian for Two Rounds, Then Ends It in Third.

New York, Oct. 6.—[Special.]—Tony Caponi, the Italian light heavyweight, was convinced that he had no business with Sam Langford, the Boston tar baby, at the Twentieth Century A. C. tonight. Langford after plyaing with the Italian for two rounds, cut loose in the third with the kind of punches that have beaten all comers. Caponi could have been stopped in the first round, but Langford with his usual solicitude for the crowd let him stay.

McCoy Scores a Knockout.

New York, Oct. 6.—"Kid" McCoy knocked out Jim Savage in the fourth round of a scheduled ten round bout tonight. McCoy showed much of his old time form and completely outclassed his opponent. He scored three knockdowns and was master of Savage from beginning to end. It was McCoy's third victory since he started "to come back."

Nelson to Battle Again.

Boston, Mass., Oct. 6.—[Special.]—Battling Nelson will get another opportunity to show whether or not he can "come back." The Battler will likely appear in the main bout of twelve rounds at the Armory Athletic club a week from Tuesday. Pal Moore, the Philadelphia boxer, probably will be his opponent.

INDIAN SEEKS MAHMOUT BOUT.

Karla, Through Manager, Issues Challenge to Bulgarian for Wrestling Match.

If Yussiff Mahmout, the Bulgarian wrestler, who has been seeking mat matches for a long time, is really eager to get into action he can have a match right way. R. B. Benjamin, manager of Karla, the British Indian, yesterday issued a statement that his man would meet Mahmout or Zbyszko for a side wager in private or for a public match anywhere in the country. Benjamin and Karla have been in Chicago since Labor day and thought this a good time to spring a challenge, as Champion Frank Gotch is expected in the city today. Gotch, as is known, has secured Mahmout as a side partner in the wrestling game. Benjamin says he is not anxious to work Karla up to a match with Gotch, as has been done when other foreign wrestlers invaded America, but wants to send the Indian against Mahmout or Zbyszko, and if he is beaten he will go back to India at once. If Mahmout or Zbyszko don't want Karla's game the challenge is open to any one.

AT THE BILLIARD ROOMS.

In the straight rail tournament at Bensinger's Monroe street rooms, Davison [115] defeated McGovney [75], 115 to 56. Ford and Atkins tonight.

Becker and Sayles [47] defeated Noble and Short [41], 47 to 37, in the three cushion team tournament at Weeghman's. Kandul and Klatcher vs. Struck and Johnson tonight.

RACING BALLOONS FORCED TO EARTH

Rough Weather Causes Seven of Nine in Trophy Contests to Descend.

TWO STILL IN THE AIR?

Belief Is Pair Either Cleared the Storm Range or Is Out of Communication.

Kansas City, Mo., Oct. 6.—Rough weather today drove to earth seven of the nine racing balloons that left here yesterday in contests for the James Gordon Bennett trophy, the Lahm cup, and the altitude record. Nothing has been heard from the other two. The missing bags are Condor of France and Berlin II. of Germany.

No records were broken by any of the balloons that are down. The estimated distances ranged from 290 to 460 miles. Two fell in Wisconsin, two in Minnesota, and two in Iowa.

Reports from the landed balloons bring stories of hard battles with a violent snow, rain, and wind storm that raged high over northern Iowa, Minnesota, and Wisconsin last night and today. The disturbance appears to have been traveling in a circle. Two balloonists stated in dispatches that they were carried south many miles by the storm after flying swiftly in a northerly direction.

No One Seriously Hurt.

None of the fliers was seriously injured, but J. C. Hulburt, aid in the America II., sustained severe bruises when that bag was forced to descend. In coming down the balloon encountered telephone wires and both occupants of the basket were hurled to the ground. William G. Assmann, the pilot, was not hurt.

Opinions vary as to the locations of the two balloons. Patrick Connor, government forecaster at the local weather station, says it is possible the bags rose high enough to clear the storm and are continuing their northward flight into Canada. All of the balloons reported down traveled at a high rate of speed, and if some of the air craft did clear the storm range they doubtless are now out of the United States.

Another theory is that some of the missing balloonists have landed in remote sections and have been unable to get in communication with the outside world.

Seven Balloons Come to Earth.

America II., William F. Assmann, pilot; J. C. Hulburt, aide, landed near Emmetsville, Ia., at 1:30 a. m. today; estimated distance 290 miles.

Pennsylvania I., A. T. Atherholt, pilot; E. R. Hunnewell, aid, landed near Buffalo Center, Ia., 6:20 a. m.; estimated distance 300 miles.

Topeka II., Frank M. Jacobs, pilot; W. W. Webb, aid, landed near Dunnell, Minn., 6:30 a. m.; estimated distance 325 miles.

Buckeye, Lieut. Frank C. Lahm, pilot; J. C. Wade Jr., aid, landed near La Crosse, Wis.; estimated distance 365 miles.

Kansas City II., J. C. Honeywell, pilot; John Watts, aid, landed near Kennan, Wis., at 9:20 a. m.; estimated distance 450 miles.

Million Population club, Capt. Berry, Lieut. P. J. McColloch, aide, landed Mason City, Ia., 5 p. m.

Topeka II. and Kansas City II. were flying only for the Lahm cup and they failed to lift it. The America II. and Buckeye were also eligible to this event. The Lahm cup record, 1,171.9 miles, held by Allan R. Hawley, was not even approached. Foreign balloons cannot compete for the Lahm cup.

FALL AUTO SHOW OPENS TODAY; COMMITTEE FINISHES PLANS.

Dealers Vie with Each Other in Efforts to Make Exhibition Success—Feature Day on Monday.

BY JOHN G. DE LONG.

The fall automobile show, preparations for which have been going on for several weeks, will officially open on the "row" today and will continue until next Saturday. All day yesterday the 123 dealers in motor cars, tires, and accessories were busily engaged in decorating their places of business, and from now until the close of the show they will offer various attractions and display their 1912 lines to prospective buyers attracted to Michigan avenue by the big affair.

A dress rehearsal was held last night when the electric light strung along the avenue from Twelfth to Twenty-eighth streets were switched on for the first time. The special electrical display consists of festoons of incandescent lights stretched across the street, with decorative columns bearing varicolored lanterns placed at intervals along the sidewalks. Each dealer, apparently, has attempted to outdo the others in the line of interior decorating, with the result that the showrooms have been transformed into attractive arbors, with autumnal woodland effects predominating.

At a meeting of the show committee held yesterday noon in the rooms of the Chicago Automobile Trade association at the Lexington hotel final plans for the week were announced. The meeting was preceded by a luncheon at which Chief Seyferlich and First Assistant Chief O'Connor of the Chicago fire department and other officials were guests of honor. Today's opening will not be marked by any special features aside from the illumination of the row at night, but on Monday an attractive program of events will be given.

ON THE BOWLING ALLEYS.

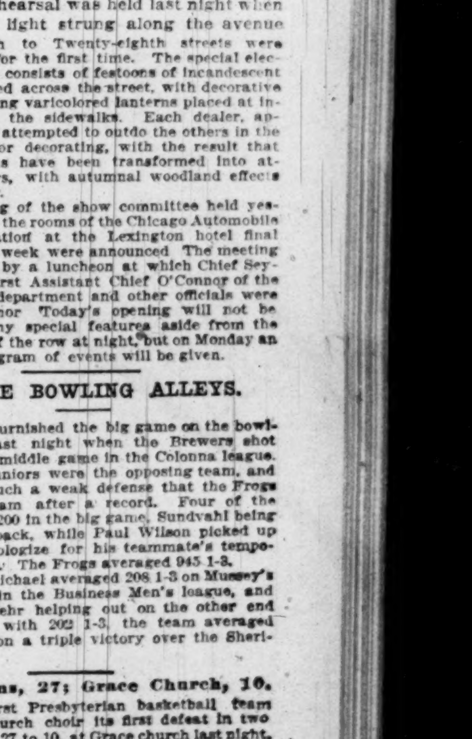

Bull Frogs furnished the big game on the bowling circuit last night when the Brewers shot 1,051 in their middle game in the Colonna league. The Rubini Juniors were the opposing team, and they put up such a weak defense that the Frogs decided to slam after a record. Four of the five men beat 200 in the big game, Sundvahl being the only holdback, while Paul Wilson picked up enough to apologize for his teammate's temporary weakness. The Frogs averaged 945 1-3.

Oswald Carmichael averaged 208 1-3 on Mussey's Cosmos team in the Business Men's league, and with Frank Hehr helping out on the other end of the lineup with 202 1-3, the team averaged 984 2-3 and won a triple victory over the Sheridans.

Presbyterians, 27; Grace Church, 10.

The Forty-first Presbyterian basketball team gave Grace church choir its first defeat in two years, winning 27 to 10, at Grace church last night.

IMPORTANT PLAY FOR BIG ELEVENS

Strength of Teams May Be Determined by Games East and West Today.

MAROONS MEET INDIANA.

BY WALTER H. ECKERSALL.

Football games of importance will be played today in east and west and the results will go a long way toward determining the 1911 strength of the big teams in both sections of the country, as elevens representing the larger colleges will get into action against teams which are sure to test the strength of their supposedly stronger rivals.

In the west local interest will center around the Chicago-Indiana game to be played on Marshall field. As this is the first clash of conference elevens, the defeated team probably will be eliminated from the conference race. Both teams have been developed carefully and conscientiously for the conflict, and as neither institution can boast of the strong teams of previous years, today's battle should be close and evenly fought.

For the first time in its football history Indiana won from Chicago last year by a single touchdown and Coach Sheldon, a former pupil of Stagg, who is in charge of the football situation at Bloomington, has the utmost confidence in the ability of his warriors to again take a Maroon scalp back to Bloomington. Both elevens have been weakened by the loss of veterans, some of whom were considered to be the best in the west last year in their relative positions.

Close Game Expected.

As a result the rival coaches have had to make the most of the situation by filling the gaps with men who have displayed the best ability in scrimmages and practice games. Neither team can be expected to reach the height of football perfection today which they will later in the season, and as both are mediocre today's contest gives every indication of being close and stubbornly fought.

In all probability, Indiana's chances of victory will depend on Capt. Gill, a player of known ability. Although he will play quarter back today, a position he is not fully familiar with, his thorough knowledge of the game, combined with his natural ability to kick goals from the field and punt the ball distances, ranging from forty to sixty yards, should make him the most important factor in the contest.

The exact strength of Chicago cannot in any way be determined. Coach Stagg is facing one of his hardest propositions in years and the result of today's contest will go a long way toward determining whether the Maroons are going to have a successful or disastrous season. There are some players on this year's Midway eleven whose ability is known. Capt. Rademacher, Sauer, Kassulker, and Paine are the players whom Stagg will have to depend upon in today's contest, although Scruby and Norgren have done good work in the scrimmage practice. Because of the apparent equality of the elevens, the game should be one of the best played on Marshall field this year.

Illinois Plays Millikin.

Coaches of the Illinois eleven will have their first opportunity of getting a true line on the prospective members of this year's eleven when the downstaters meet James Millikin at Urbana. The Orange and Blue institution should have another strong team this year, one that should give Minnesota, the eleven which vied with Illinois last season for conference honors, one of the hardest fought contests of the Gophers' schedule. To the average follower of western football Illinois' showing last season was a source of satisfaction and every true follower of the college sport is anxious to see the downstate institution represented by another formidable aggregation.

Purdue is sure to receive one of its hardest tests of the year today, when Wabash journeys to Lafayette to play the Boilermakers in the annual game. The Little Giants pride themselves on being the hardest and deadliest tackling team in the Hoosier state and it is because of this fact that they are able to hold or defeat supposedly stronger elevens. If Purdue is beaten it means the eleven which represents the institution on the banks of the Wabash is in for another disastrous season, while a victory for Wabash will place it in line for the western championship of the smaller colleges.

Minnesota will play South Dakota at Minneapolis, but if the Gophers are to be considered a strong aggregation this season they will have to win from South Dakota by a much larger count than they did from Ames a week ago. The loss of Van Strum, half back, and Walker, All-American tackle last year, is certain to weaken the northwest eleven and the places of these valuable players will be hard to fill.

A game which will vie with the Chicago-Indiana contest in local interest will be the Northwestern-Monmouth contest at Evanston. The Purple, with good prospects, should be developed to a point today where it should experience little difficulty in winning from the smaller Illinois college by a large margin. A decisive victory for the Purple will be welcome news to followers of western football, who want Northwestern to assume the place it held years ago.

The result of the Wisconsin-Lawrence conflict at Madison will be watched with a lot of interest because the Badger institution is said to have its best prospects in years. Under the able tutelage of Coach John Richards, a former Wisconsin player, the Badgers should have one of their best teams of recent years.

May Gain Little on Michigan.

Because of the number of games which Michigan has with eastern elevens the Wolverines' game today with Case at Ann Arbor should result in a good line being determined on the strength of Yost's eleven. In former years Case always has been a stumbling block in the development of Michigan's elevens and as Yost's squad this season has not yet reached the point of perfection which it will later, the Buckeye eleven is liable to give the Wolverines a stiff struggle. The contest should afford Yost a good line on the strength of a number of his candidates who are trying for the team which will play Pennsylvania, Cornell, Syracuse, Vanderbilt, and Nebraska in its big games.

In the east Yale will meet Syracuse in a contest which always has been one of the hardest on the Eli schedule. The New Yorkers always start their training season with the Yale game in view and when Old Eli is met Syracuse generally has reached the height of its football perfection.

'NINE RAHS FOR QUEENSBERRY.'

Illinois Rooters Greet Scotchman with College Welcome at Urbana Massmeeting.

Urbana, Ill., Oct. 6.—[Special.]—"Nine rahs for Queensberry," greeted "The Tribune" sporting critic when he was introduced to a huge mass meeting of Illinois rooters in the auditorium tonight. He spoke on sporting subjects. Tomorrow he will attend the Millikin game and see his first American football. Other speakers were Director Huff, Dean Thomas Arkle Clark, Ray Warnock, Prof. H. B. Ward, and Prof. G. A. Goodenough. Illini rooters cheered predictions that the orange and blue would again wave triumphantly over the Maroon at Marshall field in two weeks. The make-up of the Illinois eleven against Millikin tomorrow is unsettled. Several regulars are more or less crippled and much will depend upon how they feel tomorrow. Capt. Roberts is among the doubtful. Millikin is said to have a fast team, which is confident of holding Illinois.

LAKE FOREST READY FOR GAME.

Opens Football Season with Milwaukee Today—Many Candidates Seek Positions.

The Lake Forest academy football team, which will face Milwaukee today, has not been definitely picked on account of the large number of candidates. However, it is expected that Funk, an all-Western academy end last year, will play quarter back; McClory of last year's team, full back; Stiles and Kuebler, the latter formerly of Wendell Phillips, will play the halves; Capt. Gardiner will play one end and three of last year's linemen, Burch, McMenemy, and Bancker, will probably start. Harry J. Powers Jr. of Chicago is one of the most prominent candidates for guard position. The schedule as now arranged is: Oct. 7, Milwaukee High; Oct. 14, Oak Park High; Oct. 28, West Aurora; Nov. 4, Evanston High; Nov. 18, Grand Prairie seminary; Nov. 25, Culver Military academy.

TWO GAMES IN PREP LEAGUE

Forfeiture and Postponement Cut Into High School Card.

LAKE WILL PLAY AT LANE.

St. Phillips to Meet Crane, Bowen Contest Delayed by Mixup.

Prep Football Games Today.

Lake at Lane [minor].
St. Philipi's at Crane [minor].
Wendell Phillips at Evanston academy.
Oak Park vs. Elgin academy, Elgin.
Morgan Park H. S. at University High.
Englewood at Longwood.
Stinger A. C. at Morgan Park academy.
Milwaukee at Lake Forest academy.
St. Ignatius at Loyola academy.

BY PREP.

Cook county high school teams will open the league football season today with two games. Four were scheduled to be played, but one of these will go by forfeiture, while the other one has been postponed to Nov. 25. Both contests are in the minor section, Lake playing at Lane, while St. Philipi's, the recent acquisition to the league, will meet Crane in its first contest.

Bowen and Lake View were scheduled, but as the game was listed for the latter's grounds Lake View demanded that the contest be played in the morning. Bowen, title holder in the minor section last season, objected on the ground that the distance was too far to permit the Bowen team to get there in time. The faculty football committee then took the matter in hand and postponed the game.

"U" High Forfeits Game.

Failure to secure available players in time for the opening contest caused University High's second team to forfeit to Oak Park. Only eleven candidates reported owing to the late opening at the Maroon prep institution. It is possible Oak Park will not claim a forfeit, but will permit the game to be played on Nov. 25.

The principal contest outside of the league games is that between Wendell Phillips and Evanston academy, scheduled for Northwestern field this morning. The result will show the relative strength of the suburbanite school and the County league teams. Although Wendell Phillips met with defeat last week, Coach Reilly has bolstered up the team and it is expected that the south siders will give a creditable account of themselves.

Oak Park to Play Elgin.

Oak Park, winner of the county honors, will journey to Elgin, where the strong Elgin academy eleven will be met. This is the fourth practice game for Coach Zuppke's pupils, the result of the other three being victories with a total of sixty points for Oak Park and none for the opponents.

Morgan Park High school, which gave Morgan Park academy a hard fight last week, will meet University High in the opening clash for Montlaw's eleven this morning. Englewood will go to Longwood, where the former champions will tackle the Athletic club eleven in a practice game this afternoon. The other prep contests of interest are between the Stinger A. C. and Morgan Park academy at the latter's grounds, and Milwaukee High school vs. Lake Forest academy on the north shore gridiron.

PURPLE ELEVEN AVERAGES 161.

The Purple team held its final practice for today's game in the rain yesterday afternoon, and is ready to meet Monmouth with every man in first class condition. Light signal work and punting and kicking was the program. The team averages only 161 pounds. The weights and positions of the men who will play are: Scanlon, left end, 153; McPherrin, left tackle, 161; Wandrack, left guard, 175; Robins, center, 175; Fletcher, right guard, 163; Johnson, right tackle, 167; Kraft, right end, 165; Burkhart, quarter, 148; Reese, left half back, 144; Lanike, right half back, 150; Wells, full back, 171. The students held a rally last night. "The work and progress of the team so far this season has been most encouraging," said Mr. Hammett. "If the other side thinks that it is going to pile up a big score tomorrow afternoon, it is much mistaken. We have a good team and are going to fight. All the men know the game and are all in fine shape."

MAROONS SET FOR INDIANA CONTEST

OPEN PLAYS TO GOVERN.

Gill Counted On to Repeat Hoosier Victory; No Stars Stand Out for Chicago.

BY MAROON.

With both sides refusing to predict the outcome, but promising flashes of spectacular play, the Maroon football team will battle with the warriors of Indiana university for the first honors of the local conference season this afternoon at Marshall field. The game will take precedence over the other "big eight" contests and coaches of the rival elevens declare that the initial event will be up to standard as an exhibition of hard fought early football.

The victory of Indiana over Chicago, 6 to 0, last October at Marshall field for the first time in "big eight" history gives today's affair added interest, while the silence of the gridiron teachers as to the prospective score leaves the game an "even proposition" in the minds of the students of the two institutions. The element of chance in the new game complicates the advance figuring, according to both Coaches Stagg and Sheldon.

Forward Pass to Be Factor.

Maroon fans believe Stagg will try to win with an assortment of fancy forward pass tricks at critical stages. Without a star who stands out above the rest of the squad, the Midway leader will have to depend upon teamwork and sensational tactics, including forward passes and attempts at field goals. Capt. Andy Gill, the Hoosier drop kicker, punter, and general, is the chief reliance of Indiana.

Stagg ran the Maroons through a light polishing drill yesterday at Marshall field and announced a tentative lineup after making a last effort to juggle his candidates into their proper places. Coach Sheldon arrived last night with twenty-two players, and the two teams dined at Hutchinson café as the guests of Coach Stagg.

Makeup of Maroon Game.

The makeup of the eleven from tackle to tackle will consist of Whiting, center; Freeman and Canning, guards; and Capt. Rademacher and Carpenter, tackles. Stagg reserved the right to shift his guard candidates and play Goddard or Sellers at one of the positions. Kassulker at left end is a certainty, and Goettler probably will play right end.

Coach Sheldon brought a well conditioned squad to the Maroon camp. With the exception of minor bumps all of the twenty-two warriors are in fine trim and ready to give the Maroons the best quality of Bloomington football. The only lament of the Indiana forces is the fact that M. Davis, the veteran half back, who has been out of the running with an injury for the last two weeks, will be out of the game.

Only three of the Hoosiers played on last year's team. Messick and Gill are the strongest of the veterans, and Sholty, left tackle, played only in the Illinois game, while King was a substitute. Cy. Davis, the right end, was a member of the team two years ago. Capt. Rademacher and Kassulker are Coach Stagg's only three year players, while Freeman, Whiting, Carpenter, Paine, and Sauer have had experience.

The Maroons will have a slight advantage over their opponents in weight. Chicago averages 177 6-11 and Indiana 174 4-11. The game is scheduled for 2:30 o'clock.

PERCHERON CLUB IN TROUBLE.

Minnesota Man Makes Charges That Certain Entrants in Contest Were "Black Sheep."

A special report of the pedigree committee of the Percheron Society of America to the society's board of directors just issued makes answer to the charges filed in the Circuit court in the suit of G. W. Patterson, Worthington, Minn., against the committee.

Patterson charged that the society had registered scrub or grade Percherons as pure bloods. The pedigree committee presents copies of affidavits charging that Patterson exhibited as his own at the Iowa state fair two Percheron colts which did not belong to him and whose names were represented to be those of two colts which did belong to him.

Charles A. Finch and J. P. Finch swear that they loaned two fillies to Patterson and saw him win a second prize with one of them, although the filly whose name the animal bore was not shown, but remained in the barn.

Judge Slusser issued an injunction in the Circuit court Sept. 16 against the directors of the society forbidding them to try Patterson on these charges. The pedigree committee claims to have jurisdiction over the case because Patterson was at the time a member of the Percheron society.

THRILLS IN HARNESS RACES

PETER DORSEY DESTROYED.

BY HENRY TEN EYCK WHITE.

Lexington, Ky., Oct. 6.—[Special.]—There was plenty of excitement at the racetrack today. The 3 year old pacers reduced the record for their age and gait to 2:05¼. The stallion Ess H. Kay tore the dope sheet into tatters when he won the free for all from a good field in 2:03¼, 2:02, and the trotter Peter Dorsey, a contestant in the 2:07 purse, broke a foreleg just after he had passed the quarter pole in the second heat after finishing a bangup second to Grace in the initial mile. He hopped on three legs to the outside fence and five minutes later was shot to put him out of his misery, the crowd having a long range view of the execution.

Peter Dorsey was driven by Lon McDonald and his tragic death is the second event of the kind in which McDonald has figured, the other gruesome episode being the impalement of the pacer Kruger, 2:04, on a projecting board at the Terre Haute track while the horse was racing in 1907.

Thelma Meets Untimely End.

At Columbus the trotter Thelma, which in the preceding heat had made a record of 2:09¾, and was winning her race, struck a foreleg against the track fence as she neared the wire and a pistol ball ended her suffering. Thelma was buried back of the judges' stand, but the corpse of Peter Dorsey was hauled on a stone boat across the infield by two dejected looking mules and given to the soap fat man. Peter had a record of 2:07¾, made in a winning race at Lexington last fall and was owned in Syracuse, N. Y.

The 3 year old pacing futurity, three heats of which were paced yesterday, two of which were won by King Daphne and one by Miss Deforest, furnished a number of surprises today, among which was the lowering of the world's record of 2:05¼, set years ago. The other shock came in the defeat of both the heat winners of yesterday, Braden Direct grabbing everything in sight after Miss Deforest had paced the opening mile in 2:05¼, and put herself at the head of all 3 year old pacers. It took seven heats, all told, to decide first money in this event, and after the Marathon was over the wobbly wigglers looked ready for bed.

The record breaking heat was fought out from start to finish by Miss Deforest and Braden Direct, which went away from the wire together, and never were apart until they finished the journey, it being a case of driving a finish from the time "Go" was said. They passed the quarter in :31¼, the half in 1:03, and then tore home in 1:02¼, the three-quarter time being 1:33¾.

Owner to Drive Uhlan.

Tomorrow Mr. Billings will drive Uhlan to wagon to beat 2:01, his present record to that hitch. The horse was full of play in his jogging this morning, the 1:59½ mile of Wednesday not showing in his actions. Tanner thinks the soft track that day was what slowed up Uhlan a little, and prophesies that if the day is good tomorrow the wagon record will be lowered. There was a high wind today, which retarded most of the nags that went for cup records early in the afternoon, the only notable performance being the 2:08½ mile of Sue D., by Todd. Summaries:

The property at the southwest corner of Pine Grove and Graceland avenues, 280x221 feet, has been quitclaimed by Thomas A. Collins to William H. Morris, consideration nominal. Mr. Morris will at once improve a part of the holding with a high grade eighteen apartment building to cost about $110,000.

Collins & Morris have sold to William H. Bush the premises 285 Indiana street, being 50 feet west of Cass street, lot 50x100 feet, south front, with two three story brick residences, for $18,000.

An undivided half interest in the apartment house property on Everett avenue, 170 feet north of Fifty-fifth street, with 50x142 feet of ground, east front, has been sold by Mrs. Elizabeth Kirkpatrick to Emma Bunnell for $18,505.

Another Deal in Flats.

The store and flat property in South State street, 225 feet south of Thirty-first street, with 75 feet, west front, to the South Side Elevated Railway company has been sold by Hattie R. Salmon and others to Aron Ostrowski for nominal consideration, subject to an incumbrance of $13,000.

The Massachusetts Mutual Life Insurance company bid in the property on the east side of Madison avenue, 144 feet north of Fifty-sixth street, at judicial sale yesterday, for $28,500. The proceedings were in the case of the company vs. Frederick K. Root and others. The property has ground dimensions of 150x150 feet.

Barney Coffey and William C. Krauter have sold to Theodore Jacobs and Isadore Cowen the 50x112 feet of vacant on the east side of Halsted street, fifty feet north of Sixty-fifth street, for $10,000, which is at the rate of $200 a foot. Chief of Police McWeeny has sold his residence at 2948 Vernon avenue to Thomas Kelly for $3,750. It is a two story brick dwelling on a lot 26x115 feet, on the west side of the street. It was stated yesterday that his reason for selling is that he does not like the neighborhood. He will continue to make his residence there for some time, however.

JUDGES CALL SPECIAL ELECTION

Vote in Lake County Nov. 7 on Proposition to Drain Lake Shore Into Chicago Drainage Canal.

The Circuit and County judges yesterday in Waukegan called a special election for Nov. 7 to vote on organizing the north shore drainage district to drain the lake shore into the Chicago drainage canal at a cost of half a million. The drainage district as proposed will take in that section of Lake county lying between the south county line and Zion City.

Voliva's counsel objected to taking in Zion City. The district will be organized for the purpose of erecting, maintaining, and operating pumping plants for sewerage on the north shore levee districts.

It also is planned to legalize and validate proceedings, bond issues, indebtedness, and expenditures with a view of bettering conditions and changing the drainage from Lake, Michigan.

Stabbed in Resisting Footpad.

Daniel W. Shea, 721 South State street, a newspaper circulator, resisted a highwayman, who stabbed Mr. Shea thrice and fled early yesterday morning at South State street and Hubbard place. James Maloney, who gave no address, was arrested on suspicion.

SYNDICATE TAKES 'L' MERGER STOCK

Edison Company and Other Backers Will Purchase $20,000,000 Common.

DECIDE TO USE OPTION.

Will Gain Control of Elevated Properties; Copper Consolidation Abandoned.

It was announced yesterday that the syndicate of which the Commonwealth Edison company is understood to be the head, has decided to exercise its option and purchase $20,000,000 of the common stock of the Chicago Elevated Railways at 30. The authorized issue is $25,000,000. The large part of the excess over $20,000,000 of common has gone to stockholders in the elevated railroads, who accepted part cash and part security for their stock.

The Commonwealth Edison syndicate will pay into the Elevated Railways $6,000,000. The three interests in the syndicate are the Chicago Railways company, the Commonwealth Edison company, and the Chicago City Railway company. Purchase of the $20,000,000 common stock will carry control of the elevated properties. The $6,000,000 to be paid for the property will be advanced as follows:

Chicago Railways company	$2,400,000
Commonwealth Edison company	2,000,000
Chicago City railway company	1,600,000
Total	$6,000,000

Holds Largest Proportion of Stock.

Of the three factors in the purchase it will be seen that the Chicago Railways company has the largest proportion. This, in a measure, indicates the relative importance in control of the proposed merger of all the surface and elevated railroads in Chicago. In any distribution of securities the Chicago Railways' interests stand to get 60 per cent, as against 40 per cent by the Chicago City Railway interests.

The syndicate just mentioned has also an option on the entire preferred issue of the Chicago Elevated Railways excepting such shares as may be in the hands of former elevated stockholders. It has not yet been determined to exercise this option, but the syndicate may purchase the $16,000,000 of preferred at a price of 125, but on this purchase price is to be credited with $6,000,000 paid in for the common shares.

Copper Consolidation Abandoned.

The following was wired from Boston:

"The directors of the Calumet and Hecla company say that the proposed consolidation has been abandoned. In a statement issued this afternoon to the stockholders of the Calumet and Hecla Mining company the directors discuss the consolidation of the company with its subsidiaries and say:

"'Your directors are advised by counsel that they cannot state when final decisions either for or against the proposed consolidation may be had. The consolidation was proposed to the stockholders of the several companies because through a consolidation and only through a consolidation could certain large economies in operation and the greatest conservation of mineral resources be effected. Because of the great advantage that would result from a consolidation your directors have felt it their duty to the stockholders of all the companies to go on with the plan until it became entirely clear that it should be abandoned. This time, in the opinion of your directors has now arrived and they have therefore instructed Messrs. Sawagassiz & Flagg, as proxies of this company, to vote against the consolidation.'

"The officers of the company have been instructed to take such steps as may be necessary to wind up the present litigation."

Beet Sugar Common.

At the monthly meeting of directors of the American Beet Sugar company yesterday no action was taken on the question of a dividend on the common stock because, it was announced, of the absence in Europe of President Duval.

STOCKS LOWEST AT DAY'S CLOSE

Heaviest Selling on the New York Market Converges on Steel.

SOME GAINS RECORDED.

Net Losses, Save in Three Stocks, Are Confined to Fractions.

[NEW YORK TIMES FINANCIAL LEADER.]

New York, Oct. 6.—[Special.]—The lowest prices in most stocks in today's session of the stock exchange were reached at the close of trading.

The selling movement which followed a fairly firm first hour's business brought net declines in excess of a point in the three stocks upon which professional operations usually center, United States Steel, Reading, and Union Pacific. Elsewhere in the list, thanks to the betterment which succeeded the afternoon's declines, the net losses were confined to fractions, and among the less active stocks, including the shares of some of the prominent railroads, substantial net gains were recorded.

The heaviest selling of the day converged upon United States Steel, partly, no doubt, because of the interpretation Wall street put upon the further utterances of President Taft on the trust question in the speech he made today in Idaho. The president emphasized his view that the executive has no discretion with reference to the enforcement of the law, and he added that the prosecutions must go on.

Heavy Sales of Steel.

With the thought of the possibility of a government suit for the dissolution of the United States Steel corporation prominently before them, traders became heavy sellers of United States Steel, the decline of which was instrumental in affecting sentiment in respect to other parts of the list.

It is by no means in trading circles alone, however, that the president's recent utterances have strengthened the conviction that the financial markets, as a mere measure of precaution, if for no other reason, should hold themselves in readiness for announcements of still further prosecution under the Sherman law.

The London market has this week been making bids for money in New York which have been sufficiently attractive to lead some of our bankers to make loans in that market. Thus further additions have been made to New York's foreign credits over and above the $30,000,000 to $40,000,000 which international bankers estimate were recently placed at the disposal of the Berlin market by New York bankers.

The surplusage of money here, which is prompting the placing of these loans in Europe at a time when more commonly the New York market is making extensive use of foreign credits, is also responsible for some part of the increased interest which bankers have noticed this week in the bond market. Institutions have again been prompted to seek use in bond investments for the funds for which attractive rates are not offered by borrowers. This has improved the tone of the bond market, although the volume of trading has not yet reached any large volume.

Loss in Cash Holdings Seen.

The day's preliminary estimates of the currency movement suggested a loss of from $4,000,000 to more than $6,000,000 in the cash holdings of the banks, according to the average method of computation of the bank reserves. The gold exports at the beginning of this bank week offer the explanation of a portion of this expected loss in New York's cash holdings, while an increase in the shipments to the interior contributed to the same result.

One of the large national banks made its first shipment this season to Chicago yesterday and other similar incidents point to an expansion of the demand for cash by interior banks. At the same time the crop growing sections and the interior commercial centers are not calling as much as usual upon the banks here. This is indicated by the experience of New York banks which handle the New York accounts of a large number of interior institutions.

One of these banks is now lending to interior institutions practically the same amount which it was lending a year ago, although its deposits from country banks are today more than $15,000,000 greater than they were at this time last year. This suggests at once the strength of the general banking situation throughout the country and the fact that business is not this fall making its usual large demands on banking facilities.

Money on call steady, 2@2½ per cent; ruling rate, 2; closing bid, 2¼; offered at 2⅜. Time loans easier; sixty days, 3@3¼ per cent; ninety days, 3½@3¾ per cent; six months, 3¾@4. Close: Prime mercantile paper, 4¾ per cent. Sterling exchange firm, with actual business in bankers' bills at 4.8290 for sixty day bills and at 4.8620 for demand. Commercial bills, 4.82¼. Bar silver, 52⅛c. Mexican dollars, 45c. Government bonds firm. Railroad bonds firm.

IN FOREIGN STOCK MARKETS.

LONDON, Oct. 6.—Money was plentiful and discount rates were steady today. The stock market was generally quiet owing to the uncertain continental political situation and the approach of the settlement. The reinvestment of dividends steadied giltedged securities. Kaffirs closed harder on dividend rumors. American securities were quiet and featureless during the forenoon. Good Wall street support improved prices in the afternoon, and the market closed steady.

NEW YORK CITY OVERBUILT; MONEY LENDERS GROW WARY.

Some Refuse to Advance Funds for Putting Up New Apartment, Hotel, and Office Structures.

New York, Oct. 6.—[Special.]—"New York does not want any more new apartments. In this respect the city is decidedly overbuilt and it is time to call a halt on future operations of that character," declared Walter Stabler, controller of the Metropolitan Life Insurance company today, in answer to a question why his company had stopped making building loans.

"We have shut down tight in giving loans for new apartments," he said. "We have a few loans still pending for which arrangements were made some time ago, but we are taking up absolutely nothing new in that line."

That New York is overbuilt also in several other classes of buildings was admitted by the heads of several large financial institutions which loan money more or less freely for building operations.

The three types of building in which the lenders of money consider New York overbuilt at the present time are apartmetnts, hotels, and office buildings. The officers of the title guarantee companies and nearly every large operator admit that office building, in the lower part of the city especially, has been overdone.

TRIANGLE HARBOR PLAN HEARD.

Alfred E. Roewade Tells His Ideas on Pier Construction to Mayor—For Temporary Needs.

Alfred E. Roewade, a civil engineer, submitted to Mayor Harrison yesterday the outlines of a plan for a pier construction at the mouth of the river which Mr. Roewade believes will satisfy Chicago's needs in the way of a temporary harbor.

His design shows two large piers which, with a breakwater, form a basin at the river mouth in a broken triangular form. The northern pier extends from a base line stretching approximately from Michigan street to Indiana street, and slanting at a slight angle toward the south. Its length is 1,500 feet.

The southern pier, in Mr. Roewade's plan, projects directly from the south side of the river to a point approximately one-half the length of the northern pier. The triangle is completed by the breakwater.

The engineer's contention is that this plan takes advantage of the city's present railroad connections with the lake front and can be used until the permanent harbor gives greater facilities.

CARTER COMING TO CHICAGO.

Washington, D. C., Oct. 7.—[Special.]—Maj. Gen. William H. Carter, now assistant chief of staff, will within a few weeks be ordered to go to Chicago and assume command of the central division of the army, according to information at the war department today.

He was picked to command the maneuver division in Texas when the troops were mobilized along the Mexican frontier. If it had been necessary to intervene in the Mexican revolution he would have led the troops across the border.

MONEY FLOW AIDS BUSINESS

Dun's Review Sees Encouragement in Financial Factors.

WEATHER CURBS ACTIVITY.

Staples Get Satisfactory Demand; Crop Damage Overestimated.

Dun's Review, published today by R. G. Dun & Co., will say:

"Heavy October settlements are reflected in increased payments through the banks, and more encouraging factors developed in a slightly better demand for money, steadier security markets, and reduced trading defaults.

"Weather conditions were not favorable to seasonable activity in construction and distribution, but there was some stimulus in general merchandise, and leading retail lines here and at the interior note wider absorption, although the volume barely equals expectations in the costly articles of wear.

"Current demands continue satisfactory for the principal staples, shipments of fall and winter goods comparing favorably with this time last year in textiles, knit goods, footwear, clothing, millinery, furs, jewelry, notions, men's furnishings, and food products.

Holiday Trade Begins.

"Larger bookings were made in toys, fancy goods, and holiday wares, and mail and road orders show fairly well for spring deliveries, despite tendency of merchants to minimize early selections of distant needs. Agricultural reports indicate less damage than was feared from the rainstorms and, while plowing was hindered, the soil condition improved for winter wheat seeding.

"The corn crop in Illinois and Iowa has passed the danger of frost. Prospects are good for prompt marketing and high prices obtainable should result in increased circulation of money and buying power. Farmers and range owners have become good buyers of necessaries, and large shipments are made of tools and materials for improvements throughout western sections.

Manufacturing Unimproved.

"Manufacturing does not yet exhibit any specific recovery from curtailment in outputs. New business in the leading industries shows continued retrenchment on the part of important consuming interests, and the renewed labor troubles in building branches here and the railroad strike are disturbing features. Easier prices have resulted in more numerous small contracts for iron and steel, but commitments are disappointing in rails, motive power, cars, and other equipment.

"Heavy construction plans for track, bridges, and terminals are considered and may soon lead to substantial work for mills and factories. The markets for raw materials remain amply supplied, but much buying is confined to absolute needs. Permits for business structures in September were 67 in number and $1,220,840 in value, and compare with 64 and $1,488,560 respectively, for September, 1910.

Grain Movement Heavy.

"Total movement of grain at this port, 8,955,500 bu, compares with 8,462,500 bu last week and 9,188,700 bu a year ago. Compared with 1910, receipts increased 13.3 per cent, and shipments decreased 19.2 per cent. Flour receipts were 130,819 brls, against 126,756 brls last week, and 194,104 brls a year ago, while shipments were only 143,839 brls, against 161,288 brls last week and 217,674 brls in 1910.

"Aggregate arrivals of cattle, hogs, and sheep, 359,166 head, compare with 352,128 head last week and 363,189 head last year. Receipts of hides were 8,257,300 lbs, against 2,983,900 lbs last week and 4,169,700 lbs in 1910. Wool receipts, 729,700 lbs, compare with 927,500 lbs last week and 761,300 lbs last year. Lumber receipts rose to 54,328,000 feet, against 41,535,000 feet last week and 49,692,000 feet in 1910."

Bradstreet's Review of Trade.

NEW YORK, Oct. 6.—Bradstreet's tomorrow will say:

"Though a relatively liberal volume of road sales came out this week the probabilities are that trade, as a whole, has receded a little from last week. Buyers seem to prefer to let demand catch up with their stocks before again entering the markets.

"Satisfactory orders are noted for most lines of dry goods, shoes, clothing, hardware, groceries, and kindred lines, though purchases of cotton goods are being made along conservative lines, primarily because of the recessions in raw cotton prices. Leather is firmer, while hides are higher and eastern shoe manufacturers report encouraging orders from western buyers.

"Wheat, including flour, exports from the United States and Canada for the week ending Oct. 5, aggregating 4,120,348 bu, against 3,165,392 last week and 2,392,630 this week last year. Corn exports for the week are 1,127,002 bushels, against 1,037,394 last week and 435,321 in 1910."

MUST BE REAL COMPETITION, SAY TOBACCO INDEPENDENTS.

New York, Oct. 6.—[Special.]—Louis D. Brandeis, the Boston lawyer who is representing various independent tobacco interests in a possible protest, unless it is shown that real competition is to result, against the dissolution plan of the American Tobacco company as agreed upon by attorneys for that corporation and government attorneys, refused today to outline the case the independents may bring into court.

He said that as the American Tobacco company's lawyers had not yet filed their plan he could not presume to criticise any of its features.

He spent the day in New York in conference with Felix H. Levy, who will be associated with him in his representation of the case for the independents and returned tonight to Boston.

One man in the counsels of the leaders of the independents did disclose in part the plan of the independents.

"Our purpose," he said, "is altogether a trade purpose. The organizations which have engaged Mr. Brandeis and Mr. Levy to represent them embrace individuals in all lines of the tobacco trade, from planters to retailers.

"Those individuals for many years have suffered under the very abuses as a penalty for which the American Tobacco company was dissolved. The Supreme court has said that it is the law that competition must be restored in the tobacco trade.

"In a few days the attorneys for the trust will present to the court their idea of what the Supreme court ordered. It is our determination first to study that plan well and then to object to it in case it does not signify on its face that it will result in a real return to competition."

OFFICIALS ACCUSED OF FRAUD.

Philadelphia, Pa., Oct. 6.—Warrants for the arrest of Director of Public Safety Henry Clay, City Architect Carl B. Zilenziger, John R. Wiggins, a contractor, and builder, and Treasurer Vall of the latter's firm, were issued today on the affidavit of Logan M. Bullitt, chairman of the taxpayers' committee. The charges are conspiracy to defraud the city and are an outcome of the investigation conducted by the Catlin senatorial commission. The men will appear for a hearing.

Mrs. Kate Alberta, 404 West North avenue, and Mrs. Theresa Weihl, 809 West North avenue, arrested on Sept. 6 for fortune telling, were discharged yesterday. They had been ordered to quit their practice by Oct. 6. Judge Caverly was informed they had complied.

PREPARE DECREE FOR GROSSCUP

DUE IN COURT TODAY.

Syndicated Interests Said to Have Agreed on Plan to Present to Judge.

Twenty-one attorneys representing upwards of seventy-five syndicated interests in the affairs of the Chicago and Milwaukee Electric railroad held an all day session yesterday in the offices of Jacob Newman, who represents a majority of the bondholders, and tried to reach an agreement in the framing of a foreclosure decree.

Judge Peter S. Grosscup, before whom the receivership proceedings have been held, announced Thursday that all differences must be settled by today if the decree was to be handed down by him. He announced his intention to resign this afternoon and said if the lawyers were not agreed by that time they must go to another judge. Late last evening it was believed the decree would be ready for him to sign at 10 o'clock this morning.

Sale Expected This Month.

If the decree is made it will allow the foreclosure sale late this month. The property will be bought in by a committee of the bondholders and the reorganization which has taken nearly four years to work out will be in effect.

Control of the new company by the Chicago Elevated railways interests, it is believed, will be through some operating management or division of the stock by which an equitable division of earnings will be assured.

Interests in the road say the arrangement probably will involve the sale of $4,000,000 first mortgage bonds, retiring the receivers' certificates and floating debt and leaving nearly $2,000,000, if the entire block is sold, for working capital.

How "L" Will Get Control.

A majority of the Wisconsin division bonds is held by the Canadian and English investors represented by Attorney Newman. By control of the stock of the new company they will control its management. It is by an agreement with them that the Chicago "L" will acquire control.

No announcement was made by the Chicago Elevated Railways yesterday. None is expected until the decree is entered, the foreclosure sale consummated, and preliminary arrangements for the consolidated operations completed.

PIT TRADE SLOW; FUTURES DECLINE

Efforts to Lift Wheat Out of Rut Are Futile; Outside Public Apathetic.

FOREIGN MARKETS FIRM.

Free Selling by Longs in Corn and Oats Causes Dip; Cash Sales Are Large.

Strong efforts were made to lift wheat out of the rut yesterday. The efforts did not avail much, however, as, after a period of strength early, trade died out and prices receded to below the previous closing level. Closing prices were ⅛@¼c lower. Firmer cables from Liverpool and the continent, expected light world's shipments, and the continued rains in the northwest were used as bull arguments without any marked success.

Outsiders appear to have no confidence in the market and are apathetic. The only phase of the situation indicating any real strength is the cash end. Premiums for cash wheat continue to harden relative to the futures here and at outside markets. With a visible supply of over 52,000,000 bu this is a little remarkable and suggests that the wheat in store at all points is strongly held.

Canadian Weather Is Fair.

Weather conditions in Canada were favorable, but there were further rains in the northwest, which will continue to delay thrashing. Predictions are for clearing weather. Minneapolis had fewer cars than a year ago, but the total at the two northwest points was 732 cars, against 554 cars a year ago. Minneapolis and Duluth stocks together increased 3,700,000 bu for the week, compared to gain of 1,800,000 bu a year ago. Winnipeg receipts were 469 cars; last year, 543 cars.

Cash prices were strong southwest, Kansas City No. 2 red making a new high mark for the crop at $1.01. Minneapolis cash prices were ½c higher relatively. Primary arrivals were large at 1,233,000 bu, compared to 1,136,000 bu a year ago. Clearances for the week were 4,120,000 bu from this country and Canada, or nearly double the amount a year ago. World's shipments were estimated at 9,600,000 bu.

Russian News Bullish.

Foreign news was more favorable to holders. Liverpool closed ½d higher, Paris 1c up, Antwerp unchanged, Berlin ¾c better, and Budapest ½c higher. Russian news was anything but flattering, and a report from Odessa estimated the exportable surplus at only 80,000,000 bu, claiming prices in the interior were much above an export basis and that no ukase would be necessary to prevent exports.

Private reports of frost in Argentina were received, but late advices said the weather had turned warmer. The demand for spot abroad was better, with the continent a good buyer of parcels. Argentine shipments for the week were 1,064,000 bu, Indian 592,000 bu, and Australian 986,000 bu. Flour trade was reported good in the northwest.

Corn Market Is Heavy.

The corn market was heavy after a firm start and final quotations were ¼@⅜c to ⅝c off. Local crowd sold freely and there was much less demand for futures from the outside. Rains were general over the belt, but more promising conditions are predicted. Country offerings were light and reports from many places indicate there is not much old corn available. Receipts were 107 cars, with 154 cars for today. Primary receipts were small at 313,000 bu, against 432,000 bu a year ago.

Cash prices were steady, and sales were 270,000 bu. Shipments from Chicago were 714,000 bu. Bartlett-Frazier, Wagner, and Nickells were sellers of corn. Buying was scattered. Cables were ⅝@¾d higher, the October corn at Liverpool being strong on the improved spot demand. Clearances for the week were 1,127,000 bu; last year, 435,000 bu.

Dull Session in Oats.

Oats were easier in tone, but there was not a great deal of selling pressure, local professionals being the chief sellers. Buying was fair on the break. Closing prices were 1-16@¼c off. Cash prices were unchanged with sales reported of 335,000 bu. Receipts here were 159,000 bu with 223 cars for today. Western arrivals were 580,000 bu, compared to 515,000 bu.

Exporters Buy Lard.

Provisions closed irregular. Price changes were small either way and there was not much feature to the trade, except there was good buying of lard early by export houses, which lifted prices at the start. Tietgens was credited with buying a big line of January lard. The poor quality of the hogs now being marketed was an influence in stimulating lard buying. Receipts here were 17,000; estimate for today, 10,000. Western points had a total of 49,000 against 39,400 a year ago. Hogs were firm at the yards, but pigs were lower. Receipts of product were 24 cars; shipments, 103 cars.

Rye Offerings Heavy.

Offerings of rye were heavy and market was easier in consequence. No. 2 sold at 97½c, No. 3 at 93@94c, No. 4 at 92½c, and sample grade at 85c. Receipts were estimated at 20 cars.

Barley was strong for the medium and good malting grades, but the poorer kinds moved slowly. Malting was quoted $1.00@1.25, feed 75@95c, and screenings 40@75c. Receipts were estimated at 82 cars.

Duluth flax closed 1@3c lower; cash on track, $2.39; October, $2.36; November, $2.33; December, $2.28. Receipts were 29 cars. Minneapolis 1c lower; cash on track, $2.39. Receipts were 27 cars.

NEWS AND GOSSIP OF BOARD OF TRADE.

Russian news on wheat was bullish. Mail advices received from Odessa said that wheat in the interior of Russia was considerably above an export basis, and the export surplus would not be more than 80,000,000 bu. It is expected the exports this year will be largely from the sections near the ports that have had a good crop, compared to the rest of the country. The rye crop is also short, which makes the wheat situation more serious. Liverpool reports confirmed the advices from Russia. One Liverpool letter said that if there were any unfavorable developments in the Argentine before the first of next year, there would be a stampede on the part of buyers. Spot offerings were in better demand at Liverpool and there was a better inquiry from the country.

Cash corn sales continue liberal, 270,000 bu yesterday, with charters for 200,000 bu to Buffalo at 1c. Shipments from Chicago for the day were 714,000 bu. It is claimed there is a shortage in No. 3 yellow corn and that shippers having corn of that grade sold are paying good prices in order to fulfill their contracts. Country offerings are light. Prices in the sample market here were unchanged. Kansas City quoted cash corn 1@2½c higher, with a good demand from Texas and the south.

It is understood the Milwaukee chamber of commerce is preparing to make a strong bid for speculative business in grains. It is claimed there is a good trade there in corn and oats, and orders for fair quantities of corn for future delivery have been executed promptly. One inducement that the Milwaukee exchange will offer is that commission rates are less than at Chicago, being on the old basis of $6.25 for each 5,000 lots of wheat, corn, or oats.

Elevator people who delivered out oats on September contracts with the expectation of either buying the oats back cheaper or replacing them with fresh receipts have been disappointed. It is understood that practically all of the oats which were paid for by commission houses have been sold at good prices. It is also stated that practically all of these oats have been shipped out of Chicago.

Minneapolis stocks increased 2,000,000 bu for the week and Duluth gained 1,700,000 bu, a total of 3,700,000 bu, against a gain last year at the two points of 1,800,000 bu. Many grain men in the northwest believe that receipts this week reached the maximum amount on the crop.

Bradstreet's reported the exports of breadstuffs and corn from both coasts for the week, with comparisons as follows:

COFFEE CONSUMPTION DROPS 20 PER CENT, SAYS ROASTER.

Visible Supply Shows Big Decrease—Ten Times as Much Chicory Used Now as Year Ago, It Is Said.

Opinions differ as to whether or not the maintenance of coffee prices on their present high basis is based on legitimate conditions; but the fact remains, according to those who take a negative view, that the visible supply shows an increase for the month of September of 904,340 bags fully 20,000 larger than was expected.

It is pointed out that on Oct. 1 the total was 12,367,884 bags, of which 5,100,000 is locked up by the bankers' committee having charge of the valorization of coffee, leaving over 7,200,000 free for consumption, estimated at five months' supply.

Much of this gain in visible is attributed to a falling off in consumption, but in part to heavy consignments of coffee afloat to Europe. Deliveries to the United States for September show this tendency toward curtailment in consumption, being about 200,000 bags less than a year ago.

"The big interests here, in Europe, and Brazil may temporarily control the available supply, thanks to their millions, but they do not have command over the demand. The consumer has been mulcted badly during the last fifteen months by the 6 cent advance in coffee, even though part of this was absorbed by the distributor. Today he has a weapon which may be employed effectively to thwart the bull clique—curtailment of consumption—and from all accounts this is already in full swing.

"The falling off in consumption has been fully 20 per cent, in my opinion, substitutes and compound coffee being drunk to a large extent. Ten times as much chicory is used as a year ago, and its sale is growing rapidly."

HOGS PRICES RISE ABOVE LAST WEEK

SHEEP AND LAMBS GAIN.

Latter Bring Best Figures Since Sept. 1; Cattle Trade Dull but Steady.

Further contraction of the spread in hog values at Chicago yesterday brought the price of strongweight animals to 30@40c higher than on the low spot last week, while leaving quotations on lightweight offerings on a basis scarcely 5c higher than at that time. Packing hogs that sold at $6.00@6.10 on Thursday of last week, made $6.40 and were easier to sell at the advance. Lightweight hogs, on the other hand, had to be prime to bring more than $6.60, and a top of $6.80, compared with an extreme price of $6.75 a week ago. Common, light hogs did not bring as good prices as desirable heavyweights.

Fat lambs and sheep made further price appreciations, the former topping at $6.40 for the first time since Sept. 1 and showing an advance of 10c for the day. Wethers reached $4.15, against $4.15 Thursday.

Native steer trade was at a standstill, with little stock offered and none offered. A supply of about 500 western range cattle was disposed of at Thursday's figures, the market closing nominally steady at a decline of 15@25c for the week.

EXPECT BUTTER AND EGG RISE

CONGESTION IN POULTRY.

Chickens, Fowls and Springs, Reduced Half Cent a Pound.

Butter and egg market at Chicago yesterday displayed decided firmness, and predictions were for higher prices in the near future, although no appreciations were made during the day. Limited receipts here, a higher market for butter at New York, and the satisfactory reduction made in cold storage holdings during September were the strengthening influences.

According to the report of the warehousemen's association, stocks of eggs in cold storage warehouses Oct. 1 were 2,520,000 cases, a decrease of 445,000 cases from holdings Sept. 1. Stocks of butter were 48,027,000 lbs, or 12,822,000 lbs less than a month ago. Last year stocks of butter increased 480,000 lbs during September.

Poultry market was in a congested condition and a reduction of ½c a lb was made in prices of chickens, fowls and springs being affected by the decline. Ducks were in urgent demand and good heavy weight offerings sold at a premium over the official quotation.

COURT OF APPEALS DECISION ATTACKED AT LAWYERS' DINNER

Prof. W. H. Chamberlin Scores Ruling in Patent Case Handed Down When Taft Was on Bench.

About one hundred Chicago lawyers, among them United States District Judge George A. Carpenter, last evening heard a decision of the United States Court of Appeals on patent rights criticised as "forming the basis for price maintenance monopolies that the framers of the constitution even in their wildest flights of imagination could not have dreamed when they authorized the promotion of science and the useful arts."

The criticism was presented by Walter H. Chamberlin following a dinner of the Law club of Chicago at the Midday club.

The decision was handed down by the court when William H. Taft and Horace H. Lurton were among its members. It has formed the precedent for hosts of patent cases involving the same point, the right of a patentee to fix the conditions under which a patented article may be used after it has been sold, and from this the price at which it may be sold.

"The practice of placarding patented articles and controlling by this means the future use and resale of these articles has become burdensome in the extreme," said Mr. Chamberlin.

RAILROAD TRAFFIC SHOWS GOOD GAIN

A further increase in railroad traffic is indicated by the fortnightly bulletin issued yesterday by the American Railway association and showing the amount of surplus equipment on the American roads. The bulletin shows a decrease in the number of idle freight cars from 70,722 on Sept. 13, to 58,382 on Sept. 27, a reduction of 36.29 per cent.

Much of the decrease is in the number of box cars, which are in demand to handle the grain crops. At the same time the bulletin shows an increase of 1905 in the shortages in various parts of the country.

Commerce Body Loses Cases.

The interstate commerce commission was overruled in two important decisions of the new Commerce court reported during the day from Washington. The western transcontinental railroads were granted a permanent injunction restraining the commission from reducing their lemon rates which apply from California to the eastern markets.

The contention of the Goodrich Transit company denying the power of the commission to enforce its regulations upon water lines doing business from port to port was also sustained.

Roads Prevent Ticket Scalping.

Efforts made by the railway ticket protective bureau for the suppression of ticket scalping are nearing a success in Denver and the state of Colorado, according to a report issued during the day by F. C. Donald of Chicago, chairman of the bureau. The bureau recently secured the adoption of an anti-scalping law which has practically put an end to the scalping business in the state, although legal measures were necessary to thwart an effort on the part of the scalpers to defeat the law by alleged padding of a referendum vote.

The Railroad club of Chicago has arranged a special excursion trip for this afternoon around the Chicago terminal district via the Indiana Harbor Belt railway.

WITTER DISPUTES BARTZEN'S RIGHT TO DISCHARGE HIM.

Chief Probation Officer Also Declares His Case Is Outside the Jurisdiction of Civil Service Body.

John H. Witter filed answer yesterday to the charges with which Peter Bartzen accompanied his order suspending him as chief probation officer. Witter replied to all charges except those in which he declared Bartzen's statements were "vague." He filed his answer with the civil service commission, but stated that the commission had no authority to hear the charges and that the president of the county board had no authority to suspend him.

Witter declares he is in nowise under the control of the president of the county board, but is acting under the direction of the judge of the Juvenile court, and that the preferring of charges by the president is without authority.

It was said yesterday at the office of the civil service commission that Witter's trial would be held next week. The Hotchkiss committee will go on with its work. Prof. Hotchkiss said, in answer to President Bartzen's statement that the committee had as yet done nothing, that the committee's report would speak for itself.

DRY GOODS MART REFLECTS PROSPERITY OF THE FARMER.

Marshall Field & Co. Report Where Heavy Crops Prevail Business Shows Increase Over Last Year.

"Current business in wholesale dry goods and notions continues to reflect a normal retail trade in almost every section of the country. Business is especially good in sections where there are heavy crops, as farmers are receiving high prices for their products, and are not holding back in supplying their wants. Low retail stocks have resulted in a considerable increase in buyers over the corresponding week a year ago. Mail orders and road sales also indicate that merchants feel the necessity of filling in their stocks extensively.

"Future sales of Valenciennes laces are large. On account of the cut of women's garments last season, the consumption of laces showed a decline along with other fabrics, but the prediction of a larger lace business this fall is being fulfilled even beyond expectations. The styles are calling for light, sheer, shadow effects, and, in contrast to this, gold and silver macramé. There has never been a season when the contrast was so extreme. It is not an unusual thing to see gold and silver macramé and other heavy effects edging sheer fabrics like chiffons and marquisettes.

"Among the most popular garments for fall wear are women's and misses' sweaters and slip on rain coats for men and women. Rain capes also are a leading feature this fall. There is a good demand for furs. Blacks and browns are the stylish colors, although there is a strong tendency toward blues and natural colors, as red fox, wolves, and opossum."

SOLVES THE HIGH COST OF LIVING

We're all concerned in the heavily increased cost of living. It's vital. It touches our tenderest spot—our pocketbook.

Maybe you are the head of a family. It's here that the burden of the increased cost of living is greatest. Probably you have children—want to bring them up right. Yet, the cost of living comfortably and happily is getting greater each day.

Or, perhaps it's just you and your wife—trying to lay away a little nest egg for a rainy day.

Or, maybe you are just contemplating getting married, but the present cost of living makes you hesitate.

Possibly you have felt the impulse that so many of us have—to get out of the city into the country—where fresh air, sunshine and happiness reign. So far it has been impossible because it would interfere with your daily work.

At last your opportunity has come. We are going to help you solve the question. We offer you all the advantages of the city—$10,000 school, church, walks, free mail delivery, electric light, water, telephones, etc.—plus the unrivaled advantage of country life. We're going to show you how you can live—and live far better—happier and healthier than you are now doing and at least one-half cheaper.

AND WE ARE ONLY GOING TO TAKE YOU 45 MINUTES FROM STATE-ST.

OUR MODEL ACRE PLAN.

BUSINESS CHANCES.

$500 CASH FOR NAMES FOR THE NEW CITY, the new port, about to be established on the Pacific Coast by the Canadian Pacific Railway. Use your head and win the first prize, $100, or part of the rest of the $500. It costs nothing to enter the contest and there are no strings to this offer; everybody has an equal chance; plain workingmen and their children are as likely to win as the highest honored college graduates. Now, here is information that will guide you in selecting a name: The Coquitlam Terminal Company, Ltd., capitalized at $750,000, sold to the Canadian Pacific Railway Company the land required for its Pacific Coast Freight and General Operating Terminus, reserving for townsite purposes 1,500 acres, enclosing the terminal properties. A name is required to distinguish this townsite from the remaining sixty-four square miles in the municipality of Coquitlam. It is planned to place the townsite on sale some time this fall, but it should be understood that no lots are offered for sale as yet. The C. P. R. will have a monthly pay roll here of $500,000; this will attract business men, tradesmen and professional men, who, together with the 6,000 employes of the railway company and their families will make at once a thriving city, about 17 miles from Vancouver, British Columbia, giving in the near future a population of 25,000 or more. This site was selected by the C. P. R. for the reason that in all Pacific America there is not another place so well situated for the purpose, as well as for the manufacturing plants that are sure to come. Write plainly the name you consider appropriate for the new city, together with your name and address, on a sheet of paper, or a post card, and mail to us today. Contest closes October 15th. If the committee of responsible and competent citizens decides that yours is the best [and it might be the best], we will immediately mail you our cheque for $100.00 and thank you for suggesting the name. If you come short of the best name you have 30 other chances for the rest of the $500. If you do not wish to enter the contest, but only want information about the new city, simply send your name and address and we will immediately forward the fullest details. COQUITLAM TERMINAL COMPANY, LTD., 951 Bower Building, Vancouver, Canada.

SOUTHWEST CORNER OF CLARK-ST. TEL. CENTRAL 3516.

I APPRECIATE ACCOUNTS OF HONORABLE people [men employed or in business, ladies with allowances from their husbands or income from other sources], who, while not in a position to borrow money from a bank, realize that exorbitant interest charged by professional money lenders is high and extortionate. I am connected with the Indiana Loan, Credit, and Trust Company of Chicago, co-partners, 4353 Grand-blvd., and, having private means of my own, I am willing to loan money with or without security and at a consideration but a trifle above bank rates, and never more than the interest legalized by the states of Massachusetts and Rhode Island, the precise rate being determined by the amount loaned and risk assumed. My location [15 minutes from loop district via South Side Elevated] assures a privacy not possible to those who deal with brokers in downtown office buildings, where lenders congregate. Always best to telephone Drexel 54 for private appointment. Ask for MR. S.

'NOTHING DUE US,' SAYS WERTZ HEIR

WOMAN THREATENS SUIT.

Mrs. Estelle Ryan Snyder Indignant at Insinuations of U. S. Treasury Employe.

The Dutch government rests easier. A Wertz "heir" says the claims of the extensive association of descendants are groundless, that they are not entitled to the $180,000,000 that represent the fortune, with interest, left by Gen. Paul Wertz, who died in Amsterdam in 1782.

Mrs. Estelle Ryan Snyder of Maywood, chairman of the convention of heirs that is in session in Rock Island, Ill., received a letter yesterday from M. A. Wertz, a direct heir, who is employed in the treasury department at Washington and was unable to get leave of absence.

Threatens Suit for Damages.

"I have evidence to show that you're all wrong," he wrote, but gave no hint as to his proofs. Mrs. Snyder, who introduced the letter at an afternoon session of the convention, became a trifle hoarse as she read Wertz's accusation that she organized the convention merely to complete the genealogy of the family.

Wertz wrote that he was preparing such a history for publication himself, and he felt that he was being cheated. In the letter he proposed that Mrs. Snyder join with him in the work.

Mrs. Snyder was indignant and told the convention that their kinsman's charges were ridiculous and that she felt her motives so impugned that she contemplates a damage suit against Wertz.

150 Wertzes Attend Meeting.

More than 150 Wertzes are at hotels in Rock Island, though all of them do not spell their name that way. It is said that every state in the Union is represented. A dozen men among the delegates are John Wertz. Just as many women have the name Mary Wertz. The Georges and Davids are popular, too. Among the variations in the spelling of the name are Worts, Werts, and the original Wirts.
